GARNER WILL VIE WITH PRESIDENT IN ILLINOIS POLL

Taft Will Stay Out, He Announces.

Dewey Invites Contest

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Thomas E. Dewey's campaign manager tonight challenged Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and all other aspirants for the Republican presidential nomination to a contest with Dewey in the Illinois preference primary April 9. Taft earlier in the day announced in Washington he would not enter the primary, declaring it was merely advisory and not binding on delegates. Dewey thus far is the only Republican entered in the Illinois primary. J. Russel Sprague, Dewey's campaign manager, said: "The American people have the right to determine whom they wish as a candidate at this critical moment in our national affairs. There is only one way they can do so and that is thru the primaries. Mr. Dewey believes this and that is why he has filed. There is no question of courtesy to a favorite son in Illinois." Dewey left tonight for a campaign trip to the west coast.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Illinois is looming large as a potentially decisive factor in the nomination of presidential candidates and possibly as a pivotal state in the national election next November.

John N. Garner.

It was learned that Vice President John N. Garner, accepting the White House challenge, will enter the Illinois presidential preference primary to be held on April 9. So, as matters now stand, the prospect is that President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner will be pitted against each other, each striving to win the indorsement of Illinois Democrats for the 1940 Democratic nomination for President.

According to Garner lieutenants, the Vice President will be entered in Illinois with his certificate of consent in writing. The Garner men will insist on such compliance with the Illinois law by all entrants and will appeal to the courts if the Illinois certifying board should exempt the President with a ruling that consent in writing is not required.

Taft Gives His Reasons.

On the Republican side of the fence Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio announced his decision not to enter the Illinois primary, in which New York District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey is the only Republican contestant up to date. Said Senator Taft:

"I shall not enter the Illinois presidential preferential primary, first, because it is merely advisory under the Illinois law; second, because I cannot possibly be away from the senate for the time necessary, in a large state like Illinois, to make the kind of campaign I should wish to make if my name were entered.

"The only decisive popular verdict on candidates results from a personal campaign in which the voters get a chance to see, hear, and meet them. This is the kind of campaign I conducted in Ohio, and the kind I would conduct in the nation if nominated, but I can't do it between now and April 9 in Illinois."

Vandenberg Avoids Illinois.

The other member of the trio of leading Republican presidential possibilities—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan—does not intend to enter the Illinois primary, either seeking the preference vote or canvassing for delegates. The Vandenberg organization is fighting shy of Illinois, from fear of getting tangled up in Republican factionalism in that state.

In the Wisconsin primary to be held on April 2 Vandenberg and Dewey are already fighting for delegates. Senator Taft said today that his decision to stay out of the Illinois contest does not necessarily mean that he will stay out of Wisconsin.

Senator Vandenberg will be in Chicago Friday night and will leave

RED TANK DRIVE ENDS IN JAM OF STEEL AND DEAD

Claim Soviet Losses 20,000 in Week.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Feb. 7 (AP).—The Red army, apparently determined to grind down Finland by sheer weight of manpower and reckless of the cost, pounded on tonight against this nation's snowy bastions with vast and mechanized forces despite a total list of soviet dead and wounded which Finnish military observers estimated reached 20,000 in the last week on all fronts.

Armored sleds jammed with infantrymen and pulled by tanks—in contrast with last week's technique of pushing the sled before the tank—piled up against the Mannerheim line in agonizing masses of twisted steel and dead and dying men. The Finns smashed 20 of these sleds on one day.

Fight on 20 Mile Front.

The seven day offensive in the Summa sector of the Karelian isthmus—directly against the Mannerheim positions—was reported to have cost the Red army 5,000 dead. Finnish and Russian soldiers tonight were fighting over a 20 mile front near Summa—strewn with frozen bodies.

In the Arctic, meanwhile, the main Russian forces were reported falling back from Markajarvi toward Salla, some 35 miles from the frontier.

Reliable sources said light detachments of soviet soldiers attacked the Finns at Markajarvi, on the cross-Finland highway 20 miles southwest of Salla, to cover the retreat. Heavy Russian field pieces already had been withdrawn from that front.

Disperse Ski Battalion.

A Finnish army communique also reported 1,500 Russians were killed at Kuhmo, east central Finland, during the last few days in repulsing repeated soviet attacks. A Russian ski battalion was dispersed northeast of Lake Ladoga in the Kitela sector with almost 300 dead left on the field.

Finnish casualties during the past week were not mentioned, but they were believed to be fairly heavy in the Summa sector.

Foreign observers were speculating on how long Finnish morale could stand up against the staggering blows being hurled by the Russians, particularly from the sky, where the Finns are badly in need of fighter planes.

Bombers Destroy Prison.

Russian bombers destroyed a prison at Kajaani, central Finland, today, but Russian prisoners of war kept there were not injured. The prisoners were saved by Finns, who herded them into bombproof shelters.

Two hospitals and a teachers' college were badly damaged and a number of Finns injured. Two Finns were killed. Three large houses were destroyed, and about 20 wooden buildings were set afire by incendiary bombs. Ten planes took part in the four hour raid.

There was another raid today on Turku [Abo], seaport on the south eastern coast, but no details of the bombing were learned here.

Launch Four Attacks.

"In the Summa sector the enemy launched four attacks during the day [yesterday] supported by tanks," the Finnish communique said, "but was beaten back each time with heavy losses.

"The attempt to convey infantry in armored sleds drawn by tanks failed. In the course of the day altogether 20 tanks were put out of action or destroyed."

Two more Russian tanks were destroyed when the Finns dispersed the ski battalion northeast of Lake Ladoga.

Detailed reports from the Karelian isthmus indicated the Finns were waiting until the attacking Russian troops almost closed in on them before opening fire. They made every shot count.

Shoot Down 6 Red Planes.

The Finns reported their aircraft had shot down six Russian planes and one barrage balloon.

The Helsingfors civil guard tonight in a special bulletin warned civilians to watch for spies and saboteurs dropping from Russian planes. The bulletin asked that the military be informed immediately of any such spies, along with the exact spot where they were found.

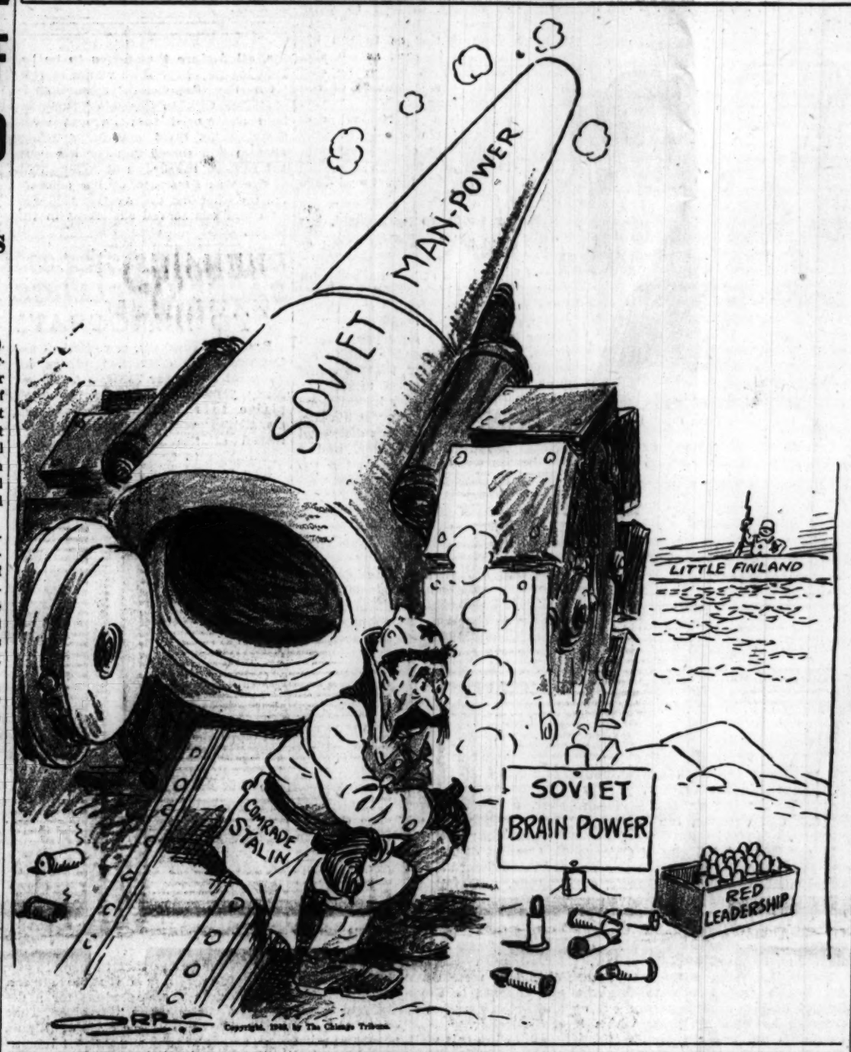
WRONG CALIBER



This Explains Why Chicago Air Is Smoky

If you have been wondering why the city seems so smoky, here is the answer:

More coal is being burned and some of it is being burned in the wrong kind of burners.

Some of the coal is of a grade inferior to that formerly used.

Breezes are blowing the wrong way and not even blowing hard enough that way.

Blankets of air are keeping the vapors nearer the ground.

The sun is as innocent as its beaming face looks. As a matter of fact it's shining overtime, altho some of the days are so dark you'd never guess it.

City Colder and Busier.

More coal has been burned in recent weeks because the weather has been unusually cold and industrial plants are busier than usual. Some homeowners have been substituting cheaper West Virginia coal for the so-called smokeless coal from the same region.

Families on relief, moreover, are required to use Illinois coal. While this produces little smoke when properly used, experts say it is not so well adapted to the stoves and heating plants of the less prosperous districts.

Oil burners add to the smoke problem.

It's Appalling Combination.

All of these factors combine to cause an unusual quantity of smoke in the densely populated central section of the city.

H. A. Downs of the weather bureau says that a wind velocity of at least 10 miles an hour is necessary to blow the smoke away. The normal average January wind velocity is 12.3 miles. But this January the velocity averaged only 10.6 miles an hour and February has brought little change.

And that isn't the half of it. The winds that do blow are generally westerly, blowing the smoke toward the loop instead of away from it.

Blame Two Aerial Blankets.

Worst of all, there is a blanket of cold air above the city. And there's a blanket of warm air above that. Those two blankets keep the smoke down.

The sun shone upon Chicago 54 per cent of the time that it possibly could in January. The normal January average is only 45 per cent.

The sun, nevertheless, can't accomplish much without coöperation.

The forecast for today is cloudy. But it should be clear now what makes the downtown area obscure.

HORNER COVERED UP BY SOFT DRINK ADS, BUT IT'S A MISTAKE

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7 [Special].—Two big signboards in the center of Springfield, which yesterday advertised Gov. Henry Horner's bid for a third term, today bore soft drink advertisments, and for a time sent rumors flying about the statehouse that Mr. Horner wasn't running after all.

Milburn P. Akers, the governor's press chief, immediately called the bill posting agency, meantime explaining to reporters that the contract for the Horner boards extended until Feb. 15, after which it was planned to replace it with the Democratic primary slate, due to be selected here Friday.

At the agency it developed that the contract had been misread, with the result that Feb. 15 had been read as Feb. 5, so the Horner sheets had been covered with soft drink signs. The error was admitted, apologies made, and orders given for the governor's advertisments to be replaced.

BRITISH ADMIT SEARCHING EIGHT AMERICAN SHIPS

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—The ministry of economic warfare today announced the cargoes of 114 vessels, including eight of the United States, were considered last week by the British contraband control.

Americans Hit Mail Delays.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 7 (AP).—Americans in southeastern Europe complained today that British interference with American mail was hurting their business and delaying correspondence with the United States.

Mail received in Budapest today was postmarked in New York Oct. 23. Apparently the letters had been held up at Gibraltar.

Here's Fare, Go to Moscow, Swedes Tell Red Boosters

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 7 (AP).—The metal workers union at Varberg tired of hearing Russia lauded by its communist members and decided to do something about it. They offered free one way tickets to Moscow on the condition that departure be made immediately for nothing less than a 10-year visit. There have been no takers.

Iowan Smokes Cigar Kept Since Wedding 50 Yrs. Ago

Oskaloosa, Ia., Feb. 7 (AP).—Cornelius Denhartog lit up his cigar again yesterday and smoked the last half of it—on his 50th wedding anniversary. He had saved it from the day of his wedding. He smoked the first half of it on his 25th wedding anniversary.

Rails to Offer Train and Auto Travel Service

Eleven western railroads, anxious to attract the patronage of persons who are now making long trips by automobile, have completed arrangements for a new rail-auto service which is to be in operation by May 1. Hugh W. Siddall, chairman of the Transcontinental and Western Passenger Associations, who made the announcement yesterday, said the plan would combine the advantages of the two forms of transportation.

"A traveler," he said, "before leaving his home town by train, may arrange with the rail ticket agent to have an automobile reserved for him at the key city where he wants it. Advance reservations will insure that the car is waiting for him.

Designed for Long Trips.

"This is the answer to the prayer of those who now drive long distances to be sure they will have auto transportation when they arrive."

He estimated that if the plan resulted in attracting 5 per cent of the persons who now drive when traveling 200 miles or more, the 11 railroads would gain $75,000,000 in passenger revenues annually, an increase of 60 per cent.

The service is to be handled thru Railway Extension, Inc., a private enterprise that will have headquarters in Chicago and branches in 30 states. The announcement says that this company will purchase 2,000 current model cars and have them available in 150 cities.

Rate Fixed at 8c a Mile.

The rate for the automobiles will be 8 cents a mile, subject to certain minimums. The minimum charge for one hour will be 80 cents, the equivalent of 10 miles' driving. If the car is driven more than 10 miles within the hour, the 8 cent a mile rate will apply on each mile beyond the 10th mile. The same principle applies on service for a 12 hour day, for which the minimum charge will be $6, the equivalent of 75 miles; for 24 hours, for which the minimum is $10.80, the equivalent of 135 miles, and for a week, for which the minimum is $28, the equivalent of 350 miles.

There will be a lower rate for the patron who drives 1,000 miles or more in a single week.

The railroads coöperating in the service are the Burlington, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Milwaukee, North Western, Omaha, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Rock Island, Santa Fe, and Union Pacific. Together they have 100,000 miles of track.

Slug Worker in Drive to Sell TVA's Power

Bessemer, Ala., Feb. 7 [Special].—Charges of goon tactics were made here tonight after a Bessemer policeman allegedly wielded a blackjack on an electric worker and arrested a newspaper photographer who took a picture of the incident. Two news reporters said they were threatened by policemen during the disturbance.

The flareup was the latest outgrowth of friction attending the efforts of the city of Bessemer to induce customers of the Birmingham Electric company, a private utility, to buy service from a new municipal distributing system which is selling electric power generated by the Tennessee Valley authority.

Competition Is Keen.

Competition between the two utilities has become so keen that teams of solicitors often meet while working in the same territory, the private company in an effort to retain its customers and the TVA affiliate in an attempt to win them for the municipal company, known as the Bessemer Electric service.

The private utility has objected to city policemen accompanying the municipal solicitors and knocking on the doors of householders. Officials of the private company contend these tactics put them at an unfair disadvantage, especially in the Negro district where a police uniform and badge carry more weight than the logic of a salesman's arguments.

Clyde Dyer Jr., the victim of today's slugging, paradoxically was an electrician working for the municipality. However, Mayor Jap Bryant, who has led Bessemer's campaign for municipally distributed electricity, said he had been told Dyer was supplying information to the private company.

Police Interrupt Work.

Under the eyes of a police guard, Dyer was installing meters for the city distributing system, when the scene was visited by Police Chief Ceph Ross and two policemen. In the midst of a dispute that developed, Dyer was placed under arrest and was struck by a blackjack as he was pushed into a police car. Dyer said later that the policeman who struck him accused him of being a sympathizer with the private company.

Pete Little, a photographer for the Birmingham News, at the scene with other newspaper men, took a picture of the attack on the electrician. He was promptly arrested, his camera was seized and damaged, and his plates were destroyed.

Little and Dyer were ordered to appear in Recorder's court tomorrow to answer charges of disorderly conduct. They will be tried in the same court where three employés of the private utility were fined $10 each a week ago on the contention they were disorderly in soliciting customers for their company while solicitors for the municipal utility were present.

ARMY BEDTIME STORY: OFFICERS TO RETIRE AT 12

SAN JUAN, P. R., Feb. 7.—Officers on duty in the army's newest department of Puerto Rico have been ordered to bed at midnight. The order was issued by Brig. Gen. E. L. Daley, commander.

And when he gets up, the order adds, each officer must take a 15 minute walk before breakfast. This will require the men to rise at 6 to 6:30.

A desire for maximum health was given as the reason for the order, which coincides with one permitting officers to bring their families, previously banned, to the island.

REVEAL GERMAN SHIP FLED RIO WITH BIG CARGO

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 7 (AP).—The German freighter La Coruna slipped out of Rio de Janeiro early Sunday, it was disclosed today. The 7,414 ton vessel sailed low in the water, altho her declared cargo of coffee, lard, mica, and nickel ore totaled only 1,600 tons. A reliable source said she was loaded with much coal. There was speculation that she might transfer some of it to other merchant ships at sea.

Four Brothers in Crew of Train for First Time

Brookfield, Mo., Feb. 7 (AP).—The train crew this week for westbound Burlington freight No. 75 consisted of Roy McKenzie, conductor; Claude McKenzie, engineer; Clarence McKenzie, fireman; Ralph McKenzie, brakeman. All four brothers have been in the service more than 20 years. They have met frequently on the road. But this is the first time all four, by coincidence, drew assignments on the same freight.

TWO TELL PLOT; UNION BUSINESS AGENTS ACCUSED

Indiana Blasts Set for $1,400.

Two men under arrest at South Bend, Ind.—one an ex-convict—were reported last night to have confessed bombing power lines of the Indiana and Michigan Electric company. A series of dynamitings last fall destroyed company property valued at $50,000.

John A. Marks.

The former convict, Parrish E. Freeman, implicated John A. Marks of Long Beach, Ind., a union business agent, as the author of the plot and the paymaster who handed over $1,400 as the price of nine acts of terrorism, eight of them bombings. Marks also was seized and held despite his plea of innocence.

He is connected with local 9-B of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, which has been making a vigorous campaign to get control of 1,000 Indiana and Michigan electrical workers, 800 of whom are said to be members of an independent union.

Plan to Blow Up Dam.

Freeman said that a continuation of the sabotage had been planned, and that the next target would have been the Twin Branch dam on the St. Joseph river at Mishawaka, Ind. The blasting of this barrier would flood Mishawaka and half of the city of South Bend, besides cutting the power supply of a large area.

The second man who confessed is Frank Lung, 25 years old, 108 South Niles avenue, South Bend. He told Detective Ernest O. Nelson, in charge of the investigation, that he and Freeman blasted two towers of the electric company near Ligonier and Benton, Ind., on Nov. 23. He added that he was paid $200 for his work.

"I was the man who tied on the fuses and lighted them," he said in a statement. "Freeman tamped dirt over the explosive. I wasn't much of a dynamite expert, but I studied up on it. I read books in the public library and learned that a fuse burns about one foot to the minute, and I made the fuses 13 feet long."

Fourth Man Under Arrest.

Lung said that he knew nothing of Marks being connected with the plot. He said his dealings were only with Freeman. A fourth prisoner is being held at St. Joseph, Mich. He is Lawrence Yak. It was indicated that extradition proceedings would be started to take him to South Bend and confront the others.

Eli F. Seebirt, attorney for the utility company, laid the bombings directly to the unionization attempt.

"It's as obvious as putting two and two together," he said. "The union hoped, thru these outrages, to require the company to coerce employés into joining its ranks. So far Marks' union has won only 15 members."

The company, which supplies electricity to all of northern Indiana, as far east as Fort Wayne and nearly as far south as Indianapolis, was seriously inconvenienced by the blasts. On Nov. 24, 1938, hundreds of homes in South Bend were deprived of service after a substation had been bombed.

Complain of Employé Union.

A few days later the Electrical Workers union filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations board, contending the company was fostering an organization of employés and discriminating against the A. F. of L. union. The complaint was reportedly filed at the instance of Michael J. Boyle, business agent of Chicago local No. 134, who is vice president of the international brotherhood.

Officials of the employes' organization, the Michiana Electric Workers association, denied it was company controled. After an extended hearing a labor board trial examiner submitted a report finding the Michiana association was dominated by the company and should be disbanded.

This finding was made in August, 1939. On Nov. 16 the case was argued before the labor board in Washington. The board has not announced its final ruling.

The bombings, police emphasized, were resumed soon after the labor board examiner made his report, at a time when Marks was renewing his organization campaign. On Sept. 5, 1939, three transmission line poles on Douglas road, a mile northeast of South Bend, were sawed down.

Other Attacks Follow.

Other attacks on company property followed. They were:

Sept. 8—Transmission tower dynamited a mile north of Sumnerville, Mich.

Oct. 19—Transmission line tower dynamited five miles east of Niles, Mich.

Oct. 28—Power line pole dynamited on Auten road, seven miles northwest of South Bend. Transmission line pole dynamited on an old interurban right of way 6½ miles north of South Bend.

Oct. 30—Tower dynamited near Arcola, Ind., 10 miles east of Elkhart.

Nov. 23—Tower dynamited two miles east of Ligonier, Ind., which is about 25 miles southeast of South Bend.

Nov. 23—Tower dynamited three miles east of Benton, Ind.

$5,000 Reward Offered.

The company on Nov. 30 offered a reward of $5,000 for the conviction of those responsible for the outrages. It valued the destroyed towers at $5,000 each.

Detective Nelson, who had suspected Freeman and Marks, was unable to get sufficient proof to make any arrests until Monday. Then he learned that Freeman, who had been a resident of Michigan City, had fled from Indiana after placing a $100 mortgage with a loan company on furniture he did not own.

The loan company communicated with Marks, who admitted he knew the fugitive, and disclosed that he was living in Joliet and working as an electrician for the Commonwealth Edison company. With Freeman, who was using the name Ralph Downey, the police found a young woman named Frieda Hilton.

Unexplained Night Errands.

From her Nelson learned that Freeman had had "some funny looking boxes" in his possession, and that he had been out on some unexplained errands of nights while he lived in Indiana. In Freeman's possession was a note warning him to stay out of that state; and the prisoner said it was written by Marks.

"I went to work as a chauffeur for Marks last summer," Freeman told Chief Nicholas Fornango of Joliet, "and he asked me where he could get a good dynamite man. I had heard convicts talk about blasting and decided to take it on."

[Freeman served a term in the Michigan prisons for burglary.]

He asserted that Marks went with him on several of the jobs, and always pointed out the places to be bombed. He also named Lung as one of his helpers.

Marks was later arrested in Joliet. He and Freeman willingly signed extradition waivers to Indiana.

Tells of Narrow Escape.

In his confession Lung said that he and Freeman were halted by Indiana state policemen near Elkhart a short time after they had bombed the Ligonier and Benton towers.

"I gave them my real name," he said. "Freeman called himself Downey. I told the policemen I had been visiting my sister near Cromwell, Ind., and they believed my story and let us go. That was a narrow escape."

Late last night Attorney Albert W. Ewbank of Fort Wayne, Ind., appeared in the South Bend police station as a representative of the Boyle union and tried to have Marks released. Police Chief W. K. Ingram refused to entertain any proposal of the kind and Ewbank indicated he would take legal action.

Doesn't Believe Charges.

Dennis A. Manning, chairman of the executive board of the 9-B, or Indiana branch of the Electrical Workers, said that he didn't believe a word of the allegations against Marks.

"I've known him for 20 years," Manning said. "His reputation is unsullied. He has never resorted to gangster tactics and I shall be greatly surprised and shocked if any wrongdoing is proved against him."

GARNER WILL VIE WITH PRESIDENT IN ILLINOIS POLL

Taft Decides Against Race in This State.

there Saturday morning for St. Paul, Minn., where he will deliver a Lincoln birthday address that night. En route a special carload of Wisconsin Republicans will join his train.

Governors to Be Guests.

On Sunday Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota will return with Senator Vandenberg to Grand Rapids, Mich., the senator's home, where they will be joined by Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania for a Lincoln's birthday celebration Monday.

Apparently Mr. Dewey is to win the Illinois preference vote for the nomination by default. Whether such a victory will possess great psychological value is a matter of conjecture. Opponents of the New York prosecutor will contend that no test of popularity was afforded, while the Dewey partisans will assert, as they already are doing, that his opponents were afraid to enter the contest, realizing that Dewey would win the popular vote in Illinois and that defeat in that important state would blight their chances for the nomination.

Cross Section of Nation.

These and other considerations have established the importance of the Illinois primary as a factor in both the Republican and Democratic battles for the presidential nomination. Illinois is the third state of the Union in population. It is not only a great agricultural but a great industrial state. Farmers, business men, and working men all lift potent voices in its electorate. It presents a typical cross section of the American people. Finally, Illinois is a traditionally Republican state that for the last 8 years has been controled by the Democrats.

In the Democratic contest for the presidential nomination the result of the Illinois primary is likely to be a factor of profound, possibly decisive, influence. The entry of the name of President Roosevelt in the Illinois plebiscite was a direct challenge to Vice President Garner, the only avowed aspirant who has said he would be a candidate for the nomination even if Mr. Roosevelt chooses to run.

Garner Accepts Challenge.

The Vice President could hardly fail to accept the challenge without showing the white feather, particularly after seeking a primary vote in Georgia and entering the Wisconsin primary.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Patrick A. Nash, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, entered the name of Mr. Roosevelt in the Illinois primary with the tacit consent of the President, but without the certificate in writing of the candidate, as required by Illinois law.

Some politicians suspect that the President's design was to frighten Garner or any other aspirant out of entering by Feb. 19, after which it would be too late. Then the President's name could be withdrawn by Feb. 24, when withdrawals close. The result would be no preference vote in Illinois on Democratic candidates.

If this is the scheme it will fall with the entry of Garner. If Mr. Roosevelt stays in, there will be a trial of strength in the typical Illinois electorate between the avatars of New Deal and anti-New Deal. A victory for Garner or defeat by a close margin would shake the foundations of the third term movement.

HORNER CHANGES MIND TWICE, BUT IS STILL IN RACE

Slate Makers to Meet in Capital Tomorrow.

BY PERCY WOOD.

News came last night that Gov. Henry Horner had changed his mind twice within the last few days on his announced intention of seeking a third term, but had decided—as of yesterday, at least—to make the try.

At the depth of a sick spell over the week-end, the governor was described as having decided to withdraw, for reasons of health, and even to have gone so far as to tell his closest followers to seek as his successor some man in whom he and the other Democratic leaders of the state had confidence.

But before this quest had proceeded far, Horner was said to have regained a measure of strength and sent a counter instruction, insisting he felt fine and intended to go thru with the campaign.

Mayor Going to Springfield.

This word began to filter about as Chicago leaders, led by Mayor Kelly, planned to leave this morning for Springfield, in advance of tomorrow's slate making meeting of the Democratic state central committee. The mayor has told the governor several times, and has also made public announcement of the fact, that he would support him for a third term.

While they were under instructions from the governor to suggest his successor the Horner followers discussed several potential candidates, and a few names emerged high on the list Especially strong sentiment seemed to favor Harry B. Hershey of Taylorville, chairman of the state committee, and John C. Martin of Salem, congressman-at-large and former state treasurer.

If the governor finally decides, today or tomorrow, that his condition makes it inadvisable for him to pursue his third term intentions, either Hershey or Martin might be chosen by the state committee to succeed him.

Other Possible Candidates.

Other possibilities are Lieut. Gov. John Stelle of McLeansboro, who has already announced, despite Horner's opposition, that he will either run for his present job or for governor; State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis of Christopher, a Horner favorite but by no means as friendly with the Chicago organization; Attorney General John E. Cassidy of Peoria, and Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes of Chicago.

Stelle, who fought Horner in the primary campaigns of 1936 and 1938, but who ran the state for five months during the governor's severe illness without "rocking the boat," conferred with the mayor yesterday. With him were United States Attorney Howard L. Doyle of Springfield, and Peter Rossiter, Springfield Democratic leader.

Following this visit, reporters asked the mayor his position toward Stelle's candidacy.

"I think," he said, "that Lieut. Gov. Stelle should be given consideration for a place on the ticket."

Leaders Hope for Harmony.

The Democratic leaders are striving for harmony this year, after having been torn by bitter primary fights in 1936 and 1938. While they realize that the election campaign next fall is bound to be a tough one, all declare themselves to be behind the governor if he wants to run.

On the Republican side, Representative Clinton Searle of Rock Island announced that he was withdrawing his candidacy for attorney general and would run for his present seat in the house at Springfield. Searle was chairman of the committee on elections during the 1939 session and has served six terms in the house.

DUNHAM'S $125,000 BACKS UP PLEDGE TO DEMOCRATS

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago Park district, tendered his personal check for $125,000 to Mayor Kelly yesterday to cover the city's pledge to the Democratic national committee which resulted in the award of the Democratic national convention to Chicago.

The mayor said the check merely would secure the pledge temporarily until such time as party leaders here raise a pool to meet the amount. He said he would not make a public appeal, but would call upon a few leaders of his acquaintance who could be expected to meet the sum required. An estimated $25,000 additional fund will be needed for rental on the convention hall. The combined amount will equal the bid of $150,000 offered by Philadelphia for the convention.

Oliver A. Quayle Jr., treasurer of the Democratic national committee, will arrive here today to arrange preliminary details of the convention. He will be met by Homer Mat Adams of Springfield, national president of the Young Democrats. Quayle will use that organization's offices in the Stevens hotel as his headquarters.

LUND RESERVES RADIO TIME; ASKS HORNER TO USE IT

Representative Arnold L. Lund of Riverside, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, advised Gov. Horner yesterday that time had been reserved for him on radio station WCFL next Monday night for a debate on the question "Resolved, That operating costs of the state of Illinois can be cut 20 per cent without impairing the efficiency of adminstration."

Lund said he would present the affirmative side of the debate between 8:45 and 9 p. m. and that the following 15 minutes would be available for Gov. Horner.

"I am confident Gov. Horner will be on hand," said Lund. "As chief executive of this state he owes it to the people to disclose these important facts. As a candidate for reëlection he surely should demonstrate that he is able to continue in office."

CLEAR PATHWAY FOR BILL TO CURB FEDERAL BOARDS

House Rules Committee Takes Action.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP)—The house rules committee today gave the green light to a sweeping bill which, its sponsors asserted, would curb the power of federal boards and agencies.

The measure, given right of way to the house floor for consideration there, would provide individuals with an increased opportunity to appeal from rules, regulations, orders and decisions of the agencies.

Introduced by Representative Francis E. Walter [D., Pa.], the bill is similar to one which the senate passed last session, but voted to reconsider at the request of Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind] and other administration supporters. Critics of the legislation contended last session that it would afford opportunities for endless delay and paralyze administrative authority.

Committee Urges Passage.

The house judiciary committee recommended passage of the bill, declaring:

"The law must provide that the governors shall be governed and the regulators shall be regulated, if our present form of government is to endure. Of course, any procedure for hearing affords an opportunity for delay. No one questions that an autocrat, if benevolent, may not be the most effective administrator, but the United States government is not founded on autocracy."

The judiciary committee expressed the opinion also that, unless a more efficient administration of the federal government could be obtained in accordance with law, it might become necessary to provide that all officers and employés of federal administrative agencies who receive more than a stated minimum salary should hold office for comparatively short terms and be passed upon by the senate before going on the pay roll.

Must Await Leaders' Pleasure.

Walter's bill must await a decision by the house leadership as to when it shall be taken up by the house.

The measure provides: That administrative rules must be issued within one year after enactment of the statute upon which they are based; that they may be issued only after public notice and hearings; that substantially interested persons may obtain hearings upon requests for reconsideration of any rule; and that the federal court of appeals for the District of Columbia shall have authority to determine whether any rule is in conflict with the constitution or the statute under which it was issued.

In addition, the measure provides uniform procedure for appealing decisions or orders of federal agencies to federal courts of appeals.

PELLEY REVEALS SECRET QUIZ BY FEDERAL AGENTS

Dies Committee Kept in Dark on 1939 Raid.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The Dies committee investigating un-American activities was astonished today to learn from William Dudley Pelley, head of the Silver Shirts, that the federal bureau of investigation conducted an extensive investigation last year of the Pelley organization, keeping the results of the inquiry a secret.

Pelley testified that three delegations of G-men visited him in Asheville, N. C., in May, 1939, and conducted an exhaustive inquiry into the activities of himself and his group.

Explanation Demanded.

The congressional resolution authorizing the Dies committee requires that all government departments render every assistance to the committee. The committee has made known to the justice department its desire to obtain information about the Silver Shirts. For these reasons, members were at a loss to understand why they had not been informed of the FBI investigation and its findings. They planned to demand an explanation of the attorney general.

"I can't understand why the department of justice has not told us of their inquiry," remarked Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.]. "I think we ought to have an explanation."

Under Orders from Murphy.

The government agents, Pelley told the committee, said their inquiry had been directed by the then attorney general, Frank Murphy. He gave the names of the agents who had queried him and asserted he showed them all his records, withholding only the names of members of his organization.

"Were there any arrests, any indictments following that investigation?" asked Acting Chairman Joe Starnes [Dem., Ala.].

"On the contrary," Pelley answered, "the FBI men seemed more or less to approve of my organization after investigation."

Pelley charged that a former congressional investigating committee had seized his files in Asheville in 1934 and that much of this matter appeared later in the New Masses, a communist publication.

His Office Ransacked.

That committee, headed by Representative Sam Dickstein [D., N. Y.], cleaned out his office, he said, and he was surprised later to see his papers printed in the communist publication.

"How they got there, I don't know," he remarked.

The 49 year old publisher, who makes a specialty of putting out anti-Semitic literature, protested that the aims of the Silver Legion, of which the members are known as Silver Shirts, were not to promote persecution of Jews. His group's objective is patriotic, he insisted, and the settlement of the Jewish problem is only incidental to the promotion of unity in the United States.

He founded the legion in 1933, he testified, and claimed that its membership is approximately 25,000 with field units in 22 states.

Claims 75,000 Sympathizers.

Another 75,000 persons, he said, have shown their sympathy for his group by contributions—financial or moral. Receipts of the organization, which are under his personal supervision, have not exceeded $80,000 during its life, he declared.

"I founded the legion contiguous with the appearance of the so-called New Deal, the Democratic administration, to propagandize exactly the same principles which Dies and his committee are prosecuting—in other words, antagonism to subversive activities in the United States," he said.

"It is a patriotic fraternity which attempts by dramatic methods to bring to light some of the abuses going on behind the scenes. I charged a yearly membership fee of $10 at first, but discovered this might be looked upon as a membership racket, so I charged members only $1 for material they received on enrollment, which consisted of booklets and so forth."

Praises Thomas' Speech.

"Who were the authors of these booklets?" a member asked.

"Mr. Thomas was the author of one of them," said Pelley, grinning at Representative Thomas. "It was a masterpiece."

He explained that he had ordered reprints of a congressional speech by Thomas demanding the impeachment of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

"I sent you a letter condemning you for an attempt to make money out of the sale of a public document," Thomas declared. "You may admire an act of mine, but I have yet to admire any act of yours."

"I'm very sorry, Mr. Thomas," responded Pelley easily, "because I think your work has been admirable."

In a similar ingratiating mood Pelley explained why he now professes an admiration for the Dies committee which he was assailing a few months ago.

Members Embarrassed.

"Why have you changed your mind about this committee?" asked Representative Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.].

"One of the things was meeting this committee face to face and finding you a group of fine gentlemen," responded Pelley, while the committee looked embarrassed and the audience broke into laughter. "In the last six weeks I have had a total change of heart and I now apologize to every one of you and to Mr. Dies for any unpleasant things I may have said."

"You'd better wait until we get thru with you before coming to that conclusion," warned Thomas.

Denies Link with Hitler.

Voorhis then referred to an autobiography written by Pelley, entitled "The Door to Revelation," in which he had stated that he founded the Silver Legion after reading about the coming to power of Hitler in Germany.

"There was and is no hook-up with Hitler nor any other group here or abroad," declared Pelley. "I was writing about this whole problem before Hitler was heard of."

"The driving force of the Silver Shirts is anti-Semitism, is it not?" he was asked. "In your magazine, Liberation, in October, 1938, didn't you suggest that all Jews be placed in one city in each state and that they be sterilized?"

Pelley admitted that his personal solution of the Jewish problem was the segregation of Jews in a city in each state, but denied that he advocated "the atrocious idea of sterilization."

Actress Married

Actress Edna Best and her agent, Nat Wolff, in Las Vegas, Nev., after marriage yesterday.

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 7 (AP).—Edna Best, English actress, obtained a divorce today from Actor Herbert Marshall and a few minutes later was married to her agent, Nat Wolff.

The closed hearing in the chambers of Judge Roger Foley required only about five minutes. The actress charged Marshall deserted her in January, 1934, after their marriage in Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 28, 1928.

After a few minutes' wait, while the actress strolled on the court house lawn and smoked a cigaret to regain her composure, Judge Foley performed the ceremony uniting her to Wolff.

KELLER'S RECORD AS SUPPORTER OF 'PINK SQUADRON'

He and Fries Cast Votes Against Dies.

[This is the last in a series of articles reviewing the records of the five Illinois congressmen who were among the 21 who recently opposed continuation of the Dies investigation. All are candidates for reëlection this year.]

Kent E. Keller of the 25th district and Frank W. Fries of the 21st were the two downstate Illinois congressmen who voted on Jan. 28, with a handful of other representatives, against continuation of the Dies committee's investigation of un-American activities.

Keller is known as one of the "pink squadron" of about 20 in congress. This group consistently supports all New Deal legislation but actually leans further to the left in social philosophy than the administration does. Keller, a frequent critic of the Dies committee, has been complimented more than once in the official communist organ, the Daily Worker.

Fries Elected in 1936.

Fries, first elected in 1936, is one of the more obscure members of congress. He rarely appears on the floor of the house, never engages in debate, and is distinguished chiefly for his regular support of New Deal measures. According to his friends, his vote was cast anti-Dies because administration leaders didn't care for any more revelations of communist influence in the government.

Three other Illinois representatives, all Chicagoans, also went against the Dies investigation. They are Adolph J. Sabath of the 5th district, Arthur W. Mitchell of the 1st, and Raymond S. McKeough of the 2d. The five Illinoisans had little company, the house voting 345 to 21 to continue the exposé of communist and other subversive groups in the United States.

Keller, whose home is at Ava, has been in congress since 1930.

Takes Credit for Crab Orchard.

In return for his subservient New Dealerism, Keller has been given much government money for his district. He takes credit for the building of the Crab Orchard lake project in Williamson county, which has dispossessed some 300 farm families by court order from their lands. This project alone cost the government more than 3 millions and no use for the lake has yet been found.

Keller campaigned for Woodrow Wilson in 1916 and for Herbert Hoover in 1928. He is about 73 years old [his age is left out of the Congressional Directory]. He was once owner of a newspaper in Ava. He was graduated from Southern Illinois Normal college in 1890 and later studied in Heidelberg, Germany. About 1896 he went to Mexico. Some years later he returned to Illinois and in 1912 was elected to the state senate, serving four years.

Despite his defection to Republicanism in 1928, he went to congress in 1930 as a Democrat pledged to "a permanent solution for unemployment." In 1933 he sponsored a bill to issue a billion dollars of fiat currency to finance public works.

Close cronies of Keller in the house are Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party member who was elected with communist support, and Jerry Voorhis, California radical. In 1939 he issued a statement, printed in the Congressional Record, attacking the work of the Dies committee.

Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] dug into his files and found an article written by Adam Lapin, Washington correspondent of the Daily Worker. The similarities were so marked that Dies drew the conclusion Keller had copied from Lapin or Lapin had copied from Keller. The congressman denied he had seen the Lapin article.

Represents Four Counties.

Congressman Fries' district is composed of Christian, Macoupin, Montgomery, and Sangamon counties. He was a coal miner and mine operator, insurance broker, and owner of a wholesale business before he entered politics.

From 1930 to 1934 he was sheriff of Macoupin county. He was a member of the Illinois house from 1934 to 1936. He made a slight break with bureaucracy in 1938, when he protested that the bituminous coal commission was unfair to Illinois mines and miners. He quickly subsided, however, and the Illinois coal industry still languishes. Fries also voted against the administration in the neutrality fight, supporting the arms embargo. Otherwise he has been consistently New Deal.

The counties in Keller's district are Alexander, Franklin, Jackson, Perry, Pulaski, Randolph, Williamson, and Union. They had a combined population in 1930 of 258,341. Fries' district has 233,252.

WEBER TO BEGIN SELECTING OPERA CHORUS FEB. 20

Registrations Now Being Taken for Auditions.

Henry Weber, artistic director of the Chicago Civic Opera company, announced his plans yesterday for selecting and training a new and larger chorus for the next season. For the first time, he said, the opera will open its doors to the young singers of Chicago and let them compete for places.

Auditions of prospective chorus members will be started on Feb. 20 and will continue until March 1, or longer, if necessary. To be eligible, candidates must have had a reasonable amount of vocal training and experience in public performances and be able to sing in Italian, French and German.

110 Singers to Be Chosen.

"We shall choose about 110 singers in the auditions," said Weber. "Their training will begin March 4 under Leo Kopp and Kurt Adler, conductors of the opera company. The conductors will alternate thru the training period. A final selection of about 85 for the principal chorus will be made at the end of March.

"Those not in this group may continue in a junior chorus which will sing occasionally to augment the first chorus in performances. From March until four weeks before the opera season opens the chorus will rehearse four times a week, with three hours to each rehearsal. In the last four weeks this time will be doubled.

"Such training amounts to a post-graduate course in opera, only available before at great expense. The chorus will get it free, and the members will even be paid a nominal amount for expenses during the training. They will be paid salaries during the season.

Promise Chance for Rôles.

"The opera company will endeavor to fill minor parts from the chorus ranks, broadening the opportunities presented. Stars have frequently been graduates from the chorus. Helen Jepson was one."

Applications for chorus membership are now being received. Applicants are required to appear in person at the office of the company on the fourth floor of the Civic Opera building, and fill out prepared blanks.

The office will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily each week day until Feb. 17, the deadline for filing applications. Singers will be given dates for auditions soon after filing. Weber said that preference would be given those who have some knowledge of opera.

ROOSEVELT NAMES EX-GOV. EARLE AS ENVOY TO BULGARIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—George H. Earle, who was voted out of the Pennsylvania governorship in the 1938 election, today was named minister to Bulgaria. The appointment will put in exile, as far as the 1940 campaign is concerned, the man who once entertained hopes that he would be President Roosevelt's candidate for President in 1940.

George H. Earle.

Earle was aiming at a more important diplomatic post than he got. He and his political sponsor, Senator Joseph Guffey, Democratic boss of Pennsylvania, had told Mr. Roosevelt that whenever a diplomatic post became open Earle was willing to take it.

Mr. Roosevelt sent two other diplomatic nominations to the senate. David Gray of Florida was named minister to Ireland and Louis G. Dreyfus of California, now minister to Iran, was given the additional post of minister to neighboring Afghanistan.

LINCOLN, ON FOOT, ENTERS ILLINOIS; A LONG, HARD TRIP

Now Motorists Follow It in a Few Hours.

[This is the third of a series of stories following the footsteps of Abraham Lincoln from his birthplace in Kentucky to the scenes of his life in Illinois. The articles are written as guide book to Lincoln pilgrims, particularly in Illinois, in commemoration of his birthday anniversary next Monday.]

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Decatur, Ill., Feb. 7 [Special].—In the spring of 1830 thirteen people made a memorable journey from Spencer county, Indiana, to Macon county, Illinois. At the head of the ox cart caravan was Thomas Lincoln, father of Abraham. At the side, carrying a long ox goad and wearing a coon skin hat, walked the tall, stalwart boy, just turned 21 years, who was to become the exponent and symbol of a new force in human affairs, the American democracy.

It was only a hundred mile journey, but in those March days, with the frost coming out of the ground, and no hard roads to follow, the way was long and hard. One may follow this trail today in a few hours by car, visioning the straining oxen pulling the women and children and family goods over the low ridges of the Wabash country, wading the creeks, ferrying the rivers. They camped out at night and pulled into the town square of the year old county seat of Decatur one day, asking the way to John Hanks' place.

First Home in Illinois.

The goal of their migration was the banks of the Sangamon river, "about 10 miles westerly from Decatur," as Lincoln afterward wrote. One mile west of Harristown, on route 36 from Decatur, which is the memorial highway in this section, there is a sign which reads:

"Abraham Lincoln's first Illinois home. On an eminence overlooking the Sangamon river, three miles south of here, stood the first home of Lincoln in Illinois. To this site came the Lincoln family in March, 1830. Here they lived until 1831, when the parents removed to Coles county and Abraham set out on his own career."

A wide, good road leads south to this site, which is marked only by a sign. Nothing has been done to improve this site or rebuild the cabin. The river bends darkly thru tangled undergrowth and the trees of Lincoln's time lean over it protectingly. The tough, tall prairie grass of Lincoln's day, which would hardly yield to the plow, has been broken into corn fields and pastures.

Decatur has taken the log courthouse in which Lincoln later came to practice law, according to tradition, and placed it in a park, and has marked the site of the old wigwam, back of a bank building, where Lincoln was first mentioned by the new Illinois Republican party for the presidential nomination. Otherwise the city has grown beyond all memory and semblance of the scene of this story.

Adventure for Young Abe.

The Lincolns up to this time had lived in a rolling hill country near big rivers. Now for the first time they faced the grand prairie. It was a great adventure for young Abraham, and he had stocked up at William Jones' store in Spencer county with a little store of household goods to sell on the way. He turned aside from the caravan to sell pins and needles and tinware to women in cabins along the way, doubling his money, he told Col. Jones afterward.

In the Lincoln party were Sarah, the stepmother; John D. Johnston, her son by her first husband; Dennis Hanks, a cousin; his wife, Elizabeth Johnston Hanks, and four children; John Hall, his wife Matilda and their infant son John.

They had come from Spencer county, according to the Lincoln route commission in which the claims of many other places had to be denied, by way of Gentryville toward Dale and Selvin, crossed into Pike county over the Patoka river, then to Petersburg and Vincennes.

That the Lincoln family entered Illinois in Lawrence county opposite Vincennes has been established. This fact makes Vincennes, which even at that time had historic traditions running back 100 years, one of the most interesting of all the scenes of the Lincoln trail.

Bridge Commemorates Crossing.

A Lincoln memorial bridge has been built to commemorate this crossing. It extends from the park which holds the magnificent George Rogers Clark memorial, on the site of old Fort Sackville and the battle which wrested the northwest territory from British dominion, to a little park on the Illinois side.

Here, facing the prairies, is an expressive bas-relief memorial of the Lincoln family migration, showing in stone the humble ox cart, the dim figure of the father ahead and the tall, eager youth, his face uplifted and shining with hope, marching alongside, standing out in bronze against the stone. The statuary is by Nellie V. Walker of Chicago.

The Lincoln migration was made possible, of course, by what had happened in Vincennes 51 years before, when Col. Clark, 26 year old Virginian, had marched here with his Kentucky and southern Illinois pioneer soldiers to take this British stronghold. To the west and south of the Lincoln trail one may see the old marsh land where the soldiers struggled thru icy waters and nearly perished before they heard the cannon of Fort Sackville. This was one of the most heroic and important battles in our history. The old cathedral, built four years before the Lincolns came this way, still houses the bell which rang to the victory of the Americans and the conquest of the northwest.

Beautiful Memorial to Clark.

The memorial to Clark and the frontiersmen of the American revolution, on which millions have been spent, is a circular Doric marble and granite temple, even more beautiful than the Lincoln birthplace memorial building. It holds simply a great bronze statue of Clark, standing triumphant in full uniform, and surrounded by seven great mural paintings illustrating the most important phases of the winning of the west.

In the first of these come the covered wagons behind the brave figure of Daniel Boone, the trail blazer. One may imagine the Lincolns and the Hanks somewhere in this background, for this was how they came west. Vincennes has many other historical memories, including Grouseland, the home of William Henry Harrison, built in 1804. Here Lincoln saw his first printing press in the Western Sun office. Lincoln visited here in later years and his friend, Cyrus M. Allen, whose house still stands, built a bed 8 feet long for him. He bought a rifle here, camped here on the way to Illinois.

That the Lincoln caravan crossed the Wabash here is shown in a letter printed in "Lincoln Lore," of which Dr. Louis A. Warren of Fort Wayne is editor. This was written by Peter Smith, who once lived in Lawrence county. He writes on July 17, 1860, of a conversation with Lincoln at the state convention and quotes Lincoln as follows:

"About 30 years ago I did drive my father's ox wagon and team moving my father's family thru your town of Lawrenceville and I was afoot, but not barefoot. In my young days I frequently went barefooted, but on that occasion I had on a substantial pair of shoes. It was a cold day in March and I never went barefooted in cold weather.

Recalls Rescue of Dog.

"I will remember that trip thru your country as long as I live. I crossed the Wabash at Vincennes and the river being high the road on the low prairie was covered with water a half mile at a stretch and the water covered with ice. When I came to the water I put a favorite dog I had along into the wagon and got in myself and whipped up my oxen and started into the water to pick my way across as well as I could. After breaking the ice and wading about a quarter of a mile my little dog jumped out of the wagon and, the ice being thin, he broke thru and was struggling for life. I could not bear to lose my dog and jumped out of the wagon and waded waist deep in the ice and water, and got hold of him and helped him out and saved him."

Despite this evidence the Illinois Lincoln Trail commission has marked the official memorial highway along route 181, the river road that turns north on the Illinois side from Vincennes. Lawrenceville, eight miles to the west, has no Lincoln marker, altho they point out a place near a hill where Clark's soldiers camped before attacking Fort Sackville.

Russellville, 10 miles to the north, is the first Illinois town that the Lincolns saw. They passed along mounds built by a prehistoric race over a little range to Heathsville. They remembered Palestine because it was the town with the "holy name." Lincoln saw a juggler's show in one town.

Confusion in the Trail.

From here on there is some confusion in the trail, which is not well marked. There are two routes to Hutsonville, where the trail picks up No. 1 highway. The route of the Lincoln trail is a sandy road with much of the gravel top worn off, bad to travel in wet weather. At Hutsonville the road becomes concrete. West York, which some surveys give on the original trail, is half a mile to the right. The route leads thru Walnut Prairie to Marshall and again becomes involved in poorly marked country cross roads.

How far north the Lincolns went here is a question. The official trail only claims to follow the route substantially. Some researchers give Grand View as the point where the Lincolns turned west again. Others take it thru Martinsville to the south. But the official trail as marked out at Springfield goes to Dolson, Westfield, and Charleston. The way is thru a rough farm country.

Charleston is authentically on all the routes and is the center of Lincoln tradition. The Coles county fair grounds at the edge of town has a marker showing the site of the fourth Lincoln-Douglas debate. Signs in town point the way to the Lincoln Log Cabin state park, eight miles to the south over a new wide road.

Original Cabin Rebuilt.

This park contains the farm on which Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln spent their last years. The original cabin has disappeared, but it has been reconstructed with the aid of men of the neighborhood who were familiar with it and now stands on its original foundations, unfurnished. The farm yard, too, has been reconstructed, even to the old ash hopper, the grindstone, and the ox yoke over the kitchen door, the deer antlers over the entrance, and the well. It is a more comfortable cabin than any the Lincolns had lived in before, a double room cabin with a fireplace in the center. Lincoln visited his stepmother here and it was at her daughter's house in the old Moore home in nearby Farmington that Lincoln visited just before going to Washington for his inauguration. The Moore home stands vacant today.

The old Shiloh cemetery where Thomas and Sarah Lincoln are buried is in this vicinity, 12½ miles southeast of Mattoon and on the road that has been constructed from Mattoon to the homestead park. From Mattoon the Lincoln highway goes thru Sullivan and Bethany to Decatur.

Move to Coles County.

Tom Lincoln was restless after moving to Illinois. The first farm near Decatur did not satisfy him and he moved to Coles county. Abraham had gone to New Salem to be on his own. In the spring of 1831 Thomas and Sarah moved to Buck Grove farm, eight miles northwest of the state park on the north side of the memorial highway. They lived here until 1834 and here Lincoln visited them and helped them, as he did thruout his career. The second Lincoln farm in Coles county is on the highway leading out of the state park, half a mile southeast of Lerna. In 1837 the move was made to the Goose Nest Prairie site, the present state park. In 1841 Lincoln helped his parents by paying them $200 for their east 40 acres, allowing them to retain a life estate. After Thomas Lincoln's death in 1851 Lincoln held this for the use of his stepmother. Mrs. Lincoln remained on the farm until her death in 1869.

Thomas Lincoln and his family crossed the Wabash river at Vincennes, Ind. (1), and entered Illinois in Lawrence county in 1830. A memorial bridge has been erected at Vincennes. On the trip, which started in Spencer county, Indiana, the 21 year old Abraham Lincoln sold household goods to housewives along the way. The goal of this ox cart migration (route traced by broken line) was the banks of the Sangamon river near Harristown, in Macon county (2). The old Shiloh cemetery (3) is where Thomas, Abraham's father, and Sarah, his stepmother, are buried. It is on the road from Mattoon to the homestead park. Thomas Lincoln moved to Coles county from the farm near Decatur in 1831. Abraham had gone to New Salem (4) to be on his own.

17 ARE INDICTED IN GOVERNMENT PLOTTING CASE

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—A Brooklyn federal grand jury today returned two count indictments against 17 men arrested last month on charges of conspiring to overthrow the federal government. The counts charge seditious conspiracy and conspiracy to commit offenses against the United States of America. If convicted on both counts, the men face a maximum of eight years in prison and a fine of $15,000. All 17 pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The specifications in the indictment follow the lines of the charges made by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, when the men were arrested. They were accused of stealing arms from National Guard armories, of constructing bombs and of conspiring to commit acts of terrorism, with the eventual object of overthrowing the government.

IRISH CRY OUT IN ANGER AND GRIEF AT 2 HANGINGS

Vow 'British Aggression' Must Be Ended.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—Twin scaffolds within the walls of Birmingham's Winton Green prison today cut short the lives of two young zealots of the outlawed Irish Republican army and brought this bitter cry from across the Irish sea:

Mrs. Tom Clarke.

"England has shown she cares nothing for the good will of Ireland! Irishmen, end English aggression!"

Tonight precautionary patrols of Britain's steel helmeted wartime police stood emergency guard thruout the nation against reprisal by bomb—the I. R. A.'s methods of attack against so-called oppression.

Every available officer of Scotland Yard's skilled special branch also was on duty; government buildings in London's Westminster were guarded closely; police on extra details roved districts where I. R. A. sympathizers were likely to congregate and sentries guarded bridges and railway stations.

A Somber Message.

But the hours that followed the hangings of James Richards, 29 years old, and Peter Barnes, 32, condemned for killing five persons in an "Irish freedom" bomb blast at Coventry last Aug. 25, were quiet.

The new strain which the executions put upon relations between Great Britain and Ireland was quickly reflected in a somber message "to all true Irishmen" from Dublin's Mansion house committee, calling upon them to work together to end "this aggression."

This group of prominent Dublin citizens, one of many which pleaded for reprieve for Barnes and Richards, is technically unofficial, yet it bears the sanction of the office of Dublin's lord mayoress, Mrs. Tom Clarke—whose own husband was executed for the Irish Easter rebellion of 1916.

Says Ireland Mourns.

After declaring that the executions of the two men showed that England cared nothing for Ireland's good will, the statement continued:

"Today Ireland mourns, but Ireland knows that their memory can best be served by working to achieve the ideals for which they died. Whatever may be said, the ultimate cause of their deaths is the aggression of England against Ireland. We call on all true Irishmen here in Ireland and all over the world to rally, to stand together, and to work until this aggression is ended."

A small protest procession carried black flags in Dublin; sports events there and in other Irish cities were canceled; the home of Sir John Massey, British representative in Ireland, was guarded and Tom Barry, Cork Irish Republican, led a protest meeting there tonight.

Silent men in Belfast, capital of Northern Ireland [Ulster], wore black armbands; girls tied black ribbons in their hair.

The main goal of the "army's" campaign is the union of the six Northern Ireland counties to Ireland. Northern Ireland still is part of the United Kingdom and her government is stanchly loyal to Britain.

Invade World's Fair Grounds.

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—Irish Republican army groups in New York City secretly invaded the grounds of the world's fair today, hung the orange, white, and green flag of Ireland at half staff on the Irish pavilion and denounced the execution of the two I. R. A. men who died on an English gallows this morning.

ASSAIL CHAMBERLAIN.

The Irish-American National alliance last night cabled from Chicago a protest to Prime Minister Chamberlain of England, condemning his government for the execution of the Irish bombers. The cable declared that "by this deed you have made enemies of lovers of liberty everywhere and have sent glimmering all hope of American aid in your struggle for existence." The only offense of the condemned men, stated the telegram, was that they waged war "against an aggressive power which, without moral right, maintains an army of occupation in Ireland." The alliance, consisting of eight Irish-American societies, was organized in October, 1938, to consolidate protests against the partition of Ireland.

Ships Sunk

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

The Irish mail steamer Munster sank after an explosion presumably due to a mine on run between Liverpool and Ireland (1) yesterday. The Estonian freighter Anu struck a mine off the east coast of England (2). The British freighter Armanistan was sunk by a German submarine off the coast of Portugal (3).

MINE SINKS IRISH STEAMER; SAVE ALL 200 ABOARD

Blast Injures Twenty; 2 Other Vessels Lost.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—The crack Irish Mail steamer Munster, 4,305 tons, sank after an explosion presumably due to a mine today on her run between Liverpool and Ireland.

The ship's 200 passengers and crew reached land safely, altho 20 were injured. The Evening News said a mine struck the forward part of the fast ship and the radio aerial was blown away, making it impossible to send an S O S. The captain was knocked off the bridge, but was uninjured.

Bow Hurled Into Air.

A member of the crew said the forepart of the ship was "hurled into the air. We were in a lifeboat about three hours before we got alongside a collier. As the last man jumped aboard our lifeboat sank."

One survivor said the explosion was accompanied by "a blue flash." He added that "women and children were among the passengers and every one behaved perfectly."

Explosions at sea rattled windows and doors of homes in several east coast towns late tonight. Vivid flashes lit the sky. Some observers thought mine explosions were responsible.

Freighter Sunk; Three Killed.

The 1,421 ton Estonian freighter Anu struck a mine last night off the east coast of England and three of the crew of 19, including the captain and his wife, were killed. Three others were reported missing.

Among the survivors, who reached shore on a raft, were two women.

The British freighter Armanistan, 6,805 tons, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off the coast of Portugal last Saturday, Reuters [British news agency] reported from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, today. The crew of 53 was landed at Las Palmas by the Spanish motorship Abril.

Find Bomb Clew In Wreckage.

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 7.—Completion of an examination of the wreckage of the British steamer Tintern Abbey today revealed a fragment of fuse and some clock mechanism, identified by authorities as belonging to a bomb.

The ship, of 2,417 tons, was damaged by an explosion Jan. 29 while docked in Limni harbor in Juboer. Because the explosion took place in the hold containing cargo which was loaded in the Bulgarian port of Burgas on the Black sea five days earlier, police conclude the bomb was placed at that time. Members of the Tintern Abbey's crew, who suspect the bomb was placed by German agents, said several German vessels were at Burgas at the same time as the Tintern Abbey.

2 Germans Taken Off Ship by French Mine Sweeper

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 7 (AP).—The French mine sweeper Cape Nord halted the Portuguese liner Carvalho Araujo 20 miles off Lisbon today and took into custody two German seamen who had embarked in the Azores. One of the men insisted he needed an immediate operation for appendicitis. The French commander assured the Portuguese commander that the man would be hospitalized immediately on French soil.

Italians Start Paying 2 Pct. Transaction Tax Today

ROME, Feb. 7 (AP).—Italians tomorrow will begin paying a new 2 per cent transaction tax covering virtually every type of business from tailoring to manicuring. In many cases, such as department stores, the tax will be paid annually, with the stores passing the tax on to their customers. Barbers, hairdressers, garage mechanics and similar artisans will give their customers a receipt for the tax, which will be added to regular prices.

FALLS FROM ROOF; DIES.

Arthur R. Clapp, 39 years old, a carpenter, died last night in the St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, a few hours after he fell to the ground while shingling a roof at Round Lake beach where he lived.

BACK TO SCHOOL! 400,000 BRITISH CHILDREN TOLD

Holiday in Danger Areas Nearing an End.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—The British government served notice on 400,000 British school children today that their wartime holiday must end to save them from a "growing demoralization."

Lord de La Warr, president of the board of education, announced in the house of lords that school attendance for children still living in the so-called danger areas will be made compulsory. A similar statement was made in the house of commons.

Out of nearly 1,250,000 children now in the danger areas—those from which children were removed early in the war to places safer from air raids—about 400,000 are getting no schooling, De La Warr said.

Enforced Attendance.

De La Warr said that whatever the risks of air raids—and he said he thought they still were great—"we must see that every child goes to school somewhere."

"If parents are not willing to send their children to the comparative safety of reception areas, then they must send them to school in town," he said. "The moment the children can be accommodated, attendance must be enforced."

Fulltime schooling is the objective, De La Warr said, but a halftime provision for all children by April will be an acceptable minimum.

May Share Buildings.

Efforts are to be made to have school buildings commandeered for war purposes returned, and in some cases the same buildings may be shared by schools and civil defense organization.

Kenneth Lindsay, parliamentary secretary for the board of education, made the announcement of the school plans in the house of commons.

SCOUTING IS LIVELY ON WESTERN FRONT, GERMANY REPORTS

BERLIN, Feb. 7 (AP).—Lively scouting activity developed between Mettlach and the Palatinate forest on the western front, the German official news agency, DNB, reported today.

[A Paris dispatch stated intensified French scouting is expected with a view to learning whether the Germans plan some move next month.]

Artillery fire was weak, DNB said, but a reconnaissance squad engaged an enemy force east of the Moselle river yesterday. One German soldier was killed.

SORE THROAT
Gargle Listerine

This prompt precaution may head off a cold of which sore throat is often a symptom. Listerine Antiseptic kills millions of surface germs associated with colds—gives Nature a helping hand at the time she needs it. Remember, colds are aggravated by germ infection. So why not treat them with germ-killing Listerine. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo.

They Thought . . .
It Couldn't Be Done
BUT . . . We've Done It!

For years I've dreamed of making fine, custom-tailored clothes and SELLING THEM FOR LESS than ordinary ready-mades. Every one I discussed it with said, "George, it can't be done." But when anyone says "can't" to me, I'm determined to find a means of doing it . . . AND I DID!

Hundreds and hundreds of men in the past few months have discovered to their surprise and pleasure that they can be better dressed, have all the fine-fitting qualities of custom-tailored clothes, plus a choice of fine imported and domestic woolens, at a price that costs no more than the ready-made clothes they have been wearing.

If you are satisfied with mass production clothes made for Mr. Anybody, you will not be interested in this modern new policy, but if you want to be better dressed in a suit of clothes made especially for you, to your exact specifications and likes, then I urge you to stop in.

SORTAVALA PICKS UP HUNDREDS OF REDS' DUD BOMBS

Cast on Town Like Burst of Roman Candles.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SORTAVALA, Finland, Feb. 5 [By Courier to Helsingfors; delayed in transmission].—In Finland today the weather reports are just as important news as the official general staff news from the many fighting fronts. The worse the weather, the better the Finns like it—then they feel safe from bombing raids.

Intense cold and fog followed the snow flurries at the start of this week. It was 27 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, as Sortavala's streets filled with men, women, girls, and boys. They were cleaning up the city and, where possible, repairing the enormous damage caused by two days of aerial bombardment. They were also looking for more victims who may have been burned to death or buried under the débris in cellars.

Two Schools Destroyed.

Arvo Jaaskelainen, Sortavala's inspector of schools, showed me the still smoking ruins of two school buildings completed only within the last two years. One was a girls' high school, the other a boys' technical high school. Both were destroyed by incendiary and explosive bombs.

Frozen tears showed on Jaaskelainen's cheeks as we inspected the few desks and other equipment which firemen and volunteers had saved.

All thru the town I saw small round holes in the snow and from them I picked up unexploded incendiary bombs. These small Russian bombs weighed about four pounds. Altho they had fallen from varying heights some of them had penetrated only six inches into the frozen snow. In the more solid snowdrifts, their tailfins were sticking out. There were hundreds of them everywhere in town.

Burning Radius Narrow.

Where the bombs had struck something hard like the pavement and exploded they had melted only small circles of ice not more than two feet in diameter. It did not seem that their charges could have caused such damage as they did when they hit buildings.

I watched home guards collecting pieces of the containers which the Russians had used for scattering these small bombs in large numbers. In the ARP [Air Raid Precaution] headquarters one of the containers had been reconstructed for study.

The nose of the container, shaped like a gelatine capsule that druggists use to make pills, had held a 200 pound explosive bomb. Back of it the fluted sides of sheet iron covered hollow tubes, open at the rear. When the container was falling 100 small incendiary bombs slid out to the rear. They struck a curved tail piece which twirled them to all points of the compass. The empty container then plummeted on to earth with its 200 pound explosive charge.

Sortavala an Open Town.

Jaaskelainen declared that the use of such a war instrument on a town like Sortavala, whose normal population is 8,000, which has no industries and is solely an educational and trade center, is an act of wanton destruction. Pointing to an entire block of 26 wooden buildings, whose chimneys showed that they had been two story structures, he said:

"This is the fourth time in the present war that the Russians have bombed Sortavala. The first time they destroyed our town was in the 17th century. But each time we have built a larger and more beautiful town. Altho we know the size of Russia, we do not believe that even Russia can destroy us. We are accustomed to war. But this war is not a war between two nations. It is a life and death struggle between two kinds of humanity."

Mourn Loss of Church.

The boys' high school, he told me, was the second oldest in Finland. A teachers' seminary also was burned; but what hurts the Sortavalans more than any other damage caused by the raid was the destruction of their old Lutheran church.

Pastor Yrjo Koaonen, now an army chaplain, was on leave in Sortavala during the air raids. For two days and nights he was on his feet helping to find quarters for those who were made homeless.

Tomorrow Pastor Koaonen and Archbishop Herman will conduct the public funeral for the 18 victims of the bombings.

There are three small coffins among the 18.

Alax Attamo, leader of the local home guards, told me he had lived for 26 years in Brooklyn, where he was in the parquet flooring business. The depression of the 1930s caused him to return to Sortavala. He said the destruction of Sortavala's water supply had been the cause of such large losses by the fire.

I saw where the fire department had laid a hose for almost half a mile to Lake Ladoga. In subzero weather the firemen had pumped water from a hole in the ice until the fire engines themselves froze after 36 hours' use.

Reds Retreat

Russian troops yesterday were retreating from Markijarvi to Salla (1). Red bombers destroyed a prison at Kajaani (2). Fifteen hundred soviet troops were killed at Kuhmo (3) during the last few days. A Russian ski battalion was dispersed on the Kitela sector (4) with almost 300 dead. The seven day offensive on the Summa sector (5) is reported to have cost the Red army 5,000 dead.

GERMANY SPIKES REPORT IT WILL HELP FIGHT FINNS

Denies Pledge of War Aid to Russia.

BERLIN, Feb. 7 (AP).—Authorized German sources today disclaimed the existence of any German-Russian military agreement and emphasized that the soviet government had neither asked for nor been given military or technical aid in its war against Finland.

Germany is disinterested in the Russian-Finnish conflict altho she has a full understanding of Moscow's position, these sources said. They added that Germany's attitude of aloofness meant no cooling in relations with Russia.

This statement, which followed one yesterday that Germany saw no basis for mediation in the northern hostilities, was made to counteract reports abroad that German military or technical aid has been given the Russians.

Blow at Finns Unpopular.

Germany's partnership with Russia is regarded by Germans as a political necessity for the duration of the main European war. Active participation against Finland on Russia's side, it is conceded, would be decidedly unpopular. In other words, Germany's neutrality toward Moscow is benevolent; toward Finland merely frigid.

In the German-Russian 10 year nonaggression pact of last Aug. 23 Germany agreed to give the soviet government a free hand in the Baltic. This was the price Berlin paid for Russian coöperation in supplying Germany with raw materials and spurning the British-French offer of a military alliance.

This coöperation was extended even to Germany's inauguration of the greatest migration movement in modern history, which took into the Nazi fold Germans in the Baltic countries whose families had lived there as long as seven centuries.

Sum Up Gains by Pact.

Diametrically opposed ideologies may prevent Russian-German relations ever becoming intimate, it is declared. All that Germany expects from her pact with the Russians may be summed up thus:

1. That she will have a friend rather than an enemy on the east while she directs her entire attention to the west against Britain and France.

2. That Russian oil, grain, timber, ores, and fodder will flow freely into Germany, thereby rendering the allied blockade "illusory."

German authorities declare themselves well satisfied with the present interchange of German industrial goods for Russian raw materials and predict a great increase in this direction.

tervention, to Finland in its war against Russia. The assurance was given in the house of commons.

Asked whether "every step is being taken to aid Finland quickly," Foreign Undersecretary R. A. Butler said: "Yes; the urgency of this matter is very much realized by the government."

Conceal Nature of Aid.

Measures have been taken to assist the Finnish government with war material, including aircraft, Butler said. He added that he understood that crews readily available in Finland are competent to fly any aircraft obtained.

The British were careful, however, to conceal the exact nature of aid to Finland.

"If we said we were sending so many tanks or that type of airplane or artillery weapon, it would give away Finnish strategy," a military source explained, "but you can be sure we are sending manufactured articles, not raw materials."

Britains' drive to expand munitions manufacture was viewed as holding possibilities of increased aid to the Finns.

The Finnish legation, apparently with Britain's blessing, is supervising an organization to facilitate the enlistment of volunteers for Finland and every day the personal columns of British newspapers are filled with appeals for gifts or medical and other supplies.

French Drive Gains.

The Finnish war was in the forefront also in Paris. A movement to speed full material assistance to Finland gained added strength in France as the authoritative newspaper Le Temps came out for "effective, complete, and total" aid.

At the beginning of the war with Germany, Britain seemed careful to avoid offending Russia, but her pledges of aid to Finland have changed that.

British assistance is not wholly altruistic, observers said, since Russian preoccupation in Finland diminishes the soviet bluff value in German diplomatic maneuvers, particularly in southeast Europe and the near east.

Britain and France have alert eyes in this region, as was demonstrated by the meeting in Cairo today of Gen. Maxime Weygand and Lieut. Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, French and British military chieftains in the near east, for an inspection of defenses and review of British Indian and Egyptian troops.

AMERICAN GIFT TO FINNS LASHED BY HITLER PAPER

BERLIN, Feb. 7 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's newspaper Volkischer Beobachter reports $100,000 has been collected for Finland in the United States, and then heaps sarcasm on the report.

"$100,000! What a sum!" says the paper. "Not even one single fighting airplane! Just the left wing of a bomber! But perhaps the hope exists that the plutocrats before long will donate the right wing, and then later perhaps a complete fighting plane can be pieced together."

Relief Fund Nears 2 Million.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—The Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., reported tonight that altho it had not completed tabulations the fund was well on its way toward collecting its second million dollars for civilian relief in Finland.

PERSECUTION OF SOCIALIST POLES LAID TO RUSSIA

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Socialists in Russian occupied Poland, including Poles, Ukrainians, and Jews, are being ruthlessly persecuted, states a Polish Socialist leader who recently escaped from eastern Galicia. After a short period of tolerance, he declared, the soviet authorities ordered a clean up of the Socialist labor federation leaders, accusing them of having Trotzkyist sympathies.

Members of the Jewish Socialist party are treated even worse than Poles, said the refugee. Hundreds were deported to Russia after their leaders had been arrested.

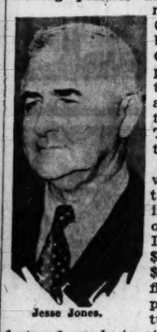
Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—A bill making possible additional government loans of $20,000,000 each to both Finland and China was reported favorably today by the senate foreign relations committee. The vote was 12 to 6.



Jesse Jones.

The measure would increase the revolving credit limit of the Export-Import bank from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 to finance the export of agricultural and manufactured products other than arms, ammunition, and implements of war. Not more than $20,000,000 in loans outstanding for the export of materials to any one country could be made hereafter at any time.

Finland already has obtained credits of $10,000,000 from the Export-Import bank, and China has received a $25,000,000 loan.

Jesse Jones Before Commmittee.

Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, who appeared before the committee for the second time, disclosed that negotiations are in progress for another loan to China, to be repaid with shipments of tin, an essential war material. Thus the administration supported the proposed increase in the lending limit of the Export-Import bank not only for the purpose of doing something for Finland but in the name of defense.

Administration supporters argued that congress last year established a policy of acquiring strategic and critical materials essential to the national defense when it authorized the use of 100 million dollars for that purpose.

Capper Votes No.

The reporting of the foreign loan bill was made possible by the collapse of the Republican opposition in the committee. Administration leaders who previously had expressed doubt as to the prospects of the measure were surprised by the 2 to 1 favorable vote. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas was the only Republican who voted against the bill, while five Democrats voted against it. They were Senators Pat Harrison of Mississippi, Walter F. George of Georgia, Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, and Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina.

Voting for the bill were such neutrality and nonintervention advocates as Senator Hiram W. Johnson [R., Cal.], Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.], and Henrik Shipstead, [F.-L., Minn.].

Pittman for the Bill.

Democrats voting for the bill included Chairman Key Pittman of Nevada, Robert F. Wagner of New York, James E. Murray of Montana, Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington, Claude Pepper of Florida, Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania, and Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island.

The Democrats voting against the bill took the position that it is unneutral for the government or any of its agencies to lend money to Finland, China, or any other country engaged in war.

Senator Vandenberg and other supporters of the bill argued that a loan to Finland establishes no precedent and constitutes no threat of involvement. The neutrality act of 1939, they recalled, has not been invoked with respect to soviet Russia's undeclared war on Finland, but would prevent credits to Great Britain and France.

Finnish Bond Resolution O. K.'d.

The committee approved unanimously a resolution by Senator Harrison expressing the sense of the senate that the Securities and Exchange commission should expedite the registration and sale of Finnish bonds to private investors in this country.

In the house today an organized effort to end diplomatic relations with soviet Russia was repulsed twice. By a margin of three votes, 108 to 105, the chamber defeated a motion by Representative John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], to strike from a pending appropriation bill money for the salary of the ambassador to Russia. Later, by a vote of 95 to 38, the house rejected another McCormack motion, this time to deny funds for maintenance of an embassy in Moscow.

Mexico Refuses Clemency for Nun in Obregon Slaying

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7 (AP).—The interior department announced tonight it had refused clemency to "Madre Conchita," a nun sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment for complicity in the slaying on July 17, 1928, of President Elect Alvaro Obregon. The department said the gravity of the offense of the woman, Concepcion Acededo de Castro Balda, made a pardon inapplicable under the law.

SERBIAN LEADER SLAIN AS CROATS BATTLE FOR VOTE

Guns of Terrorists Roar Anew in Politics.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 7.—Terrorist gunmen have roused a new wave of political violence in Croatia which culminated in the murder of the Serbian leader, Ivan Berkitch. He was shot down on his doorstep in Zagreb last night. The slaying climaxed scores of recent political murders which were blamed on the government's refusal to call Croatian elections following the granting of autonomy to the Croats.

In most cases the terrorists have slain Croats who supported the Serbian aim of a strong central government instead of autonomy for Croatia, which fought with the Slovenes on the Austrian side in the world war while the Serbs were with the allies. Berkitch's party, Young Jugo-Slavia, one of the most conservative in the nation, favors rigid centralization of government which would give power to the Serbs at the expense of the Croats.

Blamed on King's Assassins.

The shooting of Berkitch was blamed on the "Francovchi," a terrorist group accused of assassinating King Alexander at Marseilles five years ago but who were believed to have been forced into inactivity.

From the beginning of the nation's existence as the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes at the end of the world war its politics have been stormy. The Croats claim that instead of looking on the new state as a united nation the Serbs treated the Croats as a conquered people.

Croatia became a hotbed of plots and frequent assassinations. King Alexander changed the country's name to Jugo-Slavia [Country of Southern Slavs] in an effort to foster a spirit of unity, but this failed.

The climax to the postwar disorders came in 1928 when the Croat leader, Stefan Raditch, was fatally shot in the chamber of deputies.

Start of New Disorders.

Jugo-Slavia's present disorders date from the granting of autonomy to the Croats last August by Premier Dragisha Tsvetkovitch under pressure from Regent Prince Paul, after the Croats' demands for home rule had forced Premier Malin Stoyadinovitch to resign.

Failure of the government to hold Croatian elections following the passage in December of a law establishing the secret ballot and other election reforms is believed responsible for the resumption of the terrorism.

The Serbs refuse to allow elections because they are split into several parties while the Croats are well organized.

6 QUIT CHILE'S CABINET IN ROW ON IMMIGRATION

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 7 (AP).—The six Radical members of Chile's popular front cabinet were reported tonight to have precipitated a government crisis over Jewish immigration by presenting their resignations to President Pedro Aguirre Cerda.

The President, who is a member of the Radical party, was said to have accepted the resignations after a disagreement over a presidential committee's report on its investigation of fraud in the entry of Jewish refugees into Chile. A deputies' investigation into use of agricultural export board funds for purchase of shares in a race track also was said to have figured in the disagreement.

SWISS SLEUTH KILLED BY BOMB SENT TO GERMAN

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Feb. 7 (AP).—A Swiss counterespionage agent was killed and another detective and a German were injured today by an explosion of a package which the German brought into the Lausanne police headquarters. Detectives said the German apparently was slated as the victim in an espionage ring's settling of accounts.

The German, identified as Leon Zuschnig, a tailor, dashed into the police station with the package and said it had been delivered at his hotel by a messenger. He said: "I think it is a bomb."

Inspector Arnold Jacoud took the package for delivery to a chemist, but it exploded while the German was speaking. Jacoud was killed.

STATE STREET ECHOES

By CALEB

BOND STREET, Rue de la Paix, Unter den Linden—as well as the fashionable main arteries of Vienna, Rome, Madrid, Leningrad—were already ancient and impressive thoroughfares when our own State Street was but a muddy road—rutted by moccasins and heavy boots, and sometimes called the "State Road," or "The road to Widow Brown's." That was only 108 years ago; yet today the same sixteen Loop blocks of State Street stand unrivaled by any other street as a center of retail trade.

Reasons-why are many. The phenomenon of Chicago expansion is one. Another, the geographic centricity of State Street with relation to the country at large—a natural national cross-roads. Third reason lies in the youth, vigor and vision of the merchant pioneers who gravitated there to realize their future careers.

And what a unique group of merchandising men these were! Potter Palmer, Quaker lad from New York; Leon Mandel and his brothers, from the far Palatinate; C. D. Peacock, born here when Chicago was a year-old town; E. J. Lehman, starting out as a bell-boy; Charles Netcher, $1.50-a-week bundle boy; Marshall Field, farmer's son from Massachusetts—along with Levi Leiter, Charles A. Stevens, Andrew MacLeish, H. N. Higinbotham, Henry G. Lytton, John G. Shedd, Abram Rothschild, and others of similar stature. Keen in civic acumen, pertinacity, competition and industry—how could men with such qualities produce less than the world's wonder-street of retailing?

Just what a wonder-street this is, however, the average Chicagoan perhaps fails to appreciate. Statistics have never been compiled, totaling all the factors of annual customer-traffic, the combined dollars and tons of merchandise, that tell the full story of this area's concentration of shopping activity. Somewhere around 100,000 employes, serving the public in nearly 1,000 acres of display-space, where the lines of 100,000 manufacturers are purchased in a volume approximating a half-billion dollars yearly . . . are figures the mind cannot measure. Yet such are some of the facts regarding State Street that are available. As to what they will be by another decade's close, one can only conjecture.

With its ten great department stores—its scores of specialty shops—its colorful and continuous window-parade unrivaled for artistry, lighting and beauty—windows holding products on daily display from every corner of civilization—State Street invites a whole world to satisfy here its personal, home, family and institutional needs. Chicagoans can indeed be proud of the marvelous transformation that destined a miry Illinois roadway to become the foremost shopping center of modern times!

JAPAN PREPARES FOR 'DIFFICULTY' IN U. S. RELATIONS

Considers Abrogating Nine Power Pact.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 8, Thursday.—American-Japanese problems were discussed in the diet [parliament] yesterday in debates on the United States' abrogation of its trade treaty with Japan, negoiations for a new pact, and Japan's policy in China.

The government informed parliament that it is preparing for "anticipated difficulties" in its trade relations with the United States, and added that abrogation of the nine power treaty of 1922 is being considered. This is the pact that guaranteed the open door to trade in China.

Reflecting the atmosphere of the lower house, members of the two leading parties attacked the government's American policy and expressed dissatisfaction with the present situation.

Premier Warns America.

Asked what Japan would do should the United States adopt a stand considered still more unfriendly, Premier Mitsumasa Yonai replied that the government does not desire to read malicious intent into American actions. Rather, he said, it considers the United States is "interfering" with Japan because it does not fully understand this country's true intentions.

"But should the United States bring still greater pressure on Japan, we are fully prepared to meet such a situation," the premier added.

Yoshimichi Kuboi of the Seiyukai party asked what measures the government would take should the United States embargo important commodities. Kakichi Takeuchi, president of the cabinet planning board, replied that preparations were being made to meet the anticipated difficulties thru increasing production, in Japan as well as in other countries from which Japan obtains goods, and by establishing a Japan-Manchukuo-China economic bloc.

Treaty's End "an Insult."

Kuboi called the abrogation of the 1911 American-Japanese trade treaty by the United States an insult to Japan, and asked Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita whether he considers that there is any hope for a new pact. Arita replied that the American action was legal, altho its suddenness was regretted by the Japanese. The government desires to conclude a new pact as soon as possible, but does not think it will be easy, he said.

Tadao Matsumoto of the Minseito, Japan's second major party, drew from Arita a statement that the United States requests the security of the lives and property of Americans in China.

"Has the government any intention to advise the American government to withdraw its nationals from China?" Matsumoto asked.

"It is a grave question," Arita replied, "and I am not prepared to answer here."

BRITAIN ASSURES RAILWAYS OF BIG EARNINGS IN WAR

Pledges Yearly Profit of $160,000,000.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—A huge increase in profits during wartime will be allowed Britain's railway companies, Capt. Euan Wallace, minister of transport, announced today. Wallace made the disclosure while explaining the government's financial agreement with the railways to the house of commons.

A minimum profit of $160,000,000 a year for the four main line companies and the London Passenger Transport board will be guaranteed by the government. This is more than $24,000,000 above the actual profit earned during the last prewar year.

Government's Share.

Any further profit—up to $174,000,000—which the companies may earn is to accrue entirely to them. Of any increase above that level—up to $274,000,000—half will go to the companies and half to the government. All profits above $274,000,000 will be taken by the government.

The companies will be paid by the government for traffic carried. It is from the carriage of special war traffic that vast extra profits are expected to be earned. The extra profits will come largely out of public funds—which the public helps provide.

Stocks Jump in Value.

Already the companies are believed to be earning at least the guaranteed minimum of $160,000,000. The settlement is even more favorable to railway stockholders than financial experts expected.

A further gamble in rail stocks and more speculative profits are likely. In the last three weeks alone rail stocks have jumped in value by about $400,000,000.

OLIVET COLLEGE BUYS ST. VIATOR ESTABLISHMENT

Kankakee, Ill., Feb. 7 [Special].—Announcement was made here today that St. Viator college of Bourbonnais has been purchased by the board of trustees of Olivet college, Danville, and that the Danville institution will be moved to Bourbonnais. St. Viator college, a Catholic institution for 30 years, was closed last June.

Olivet college is owned and operated by the Church of the Nazarene, which has 744 churches in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Ohio. The purchase of the St. Viator property, however, must be approved by the Nazarene board of bishops. Dr. Edwin Burke, 1201 East 63d street, Chicago, is president of the board.

CANADIAN PREMIER OPENS WAR ELECTION DRIVE; URGES UNITY

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7 [Canadian Press].—Defining national unity and the government's war policy as the real issues in the Canadian general election March 26, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King in a broadcast keynote speech tonight said all Canada wants "a united war effort."

Mackenzie King called the election after the Ontario legislature, spurred by Provincial Premier Mitchell Hepburn, had assailed the dominion government for its alleged lack of war effort. The federal government's conservative opposition joined in the attack.

"It is not your representatives in parliament who are now being asked to decide on the present and future of this country at a time of war," the dominion premier told his audience.

"It is you, yourselves, who are not only the masters of parliament, but, as never before, masters of your own fate.

"On that decision will depend not only our contribution to the war but the maintenance of our own integrity and unity as a nation in a shattered world to which a united Canada may well bring a new hope to mankind."

REPORT BRITISH ORDER $25,000,000 CANADIAN PLANES

OTTAWA, Ontario, Feb. 7 (AP).—Canadian airplane factories stepped up plans for increased production tonight with new orders from the British air ministry reported at between 25 million dollars and 40 millions. Official information on the size of contracts received or under consideration from the United Kingdom was not available. One reliable authority reported the award of a large contract for Hampden bombers had been given the Canadian Associated Aircraft Ltd., a six-company organization.

Japanese Official Confirms Fear of Chinese Air Raids

HEIRESS INJURED; BOOTH TRIANGLE TRIAL DELAYED

Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill Booth, 32 years old, will be unable to appear today before Justice of the Peace Michael J. Haney in Waukegan to answer charges of disorderly conduct preferred against her and her former husband, William C. Booth, a riding master, by his present wife, Helen E. Booth.

Her ankle was fractured Sunday night when her car skidded on ice as she was turning into Route 176 from Bradley road, 2½ miles east of Libertyville in Lake county. Her foot became jammed in the pedals. With her was Booth, whom she was taking from her home on Bradley road to a hotel in Libertyville, where he lives.

Booth and his first wife were arrested Jan. 11 in Booth's riding academy. The present Mrs. Booth charged that her husband had denied her admission to her home when she returned there and found him with his former wife, the daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Gay of Glencoe, heiress to a large fortune. Booth's second wife is suing him for a divorce.

Your hosiery comes to you factory fresh with all its original strength and beauty.
4. Volume buying means low prices. Our box-method of selling enables us to buy in tremendous quantities at the lowest possible prices.
5. We buy direct from the mill. Thus we are able to carefully control quality and keep our buying costs at an absolute minimum,

HORNER NAMES SCHWARTZ HEAD OF TAX BOARD

Close Political Aid Fills Leland Vacancy.

Gov. Henry Horner yesterday appointed Charles K. Schwartz, one of his closest political advisers, as chairman of the Illinois tax commission. Schwartz succeeds Prof. Simeon E. Leland, who resigned to become acting chairman of the department of economics at the University of Chicago.

The new chairman nas been a member of the commission for four years. During most of this time he has shared with Senator James M. Slattery and Martin J. O'Brien, public administrator, the leadership of the Horner Democratic forces in Chicago. To Schwartz has fallen much of the responsibility for spreading Horner patronage thru Cook county.

Fills Schwartz Vacancy.

In addition to accepting Leland's resignation and naming Schwartz to succeed him, the governor also selected George Mitchell, research expert for the commission since 1934, to fill the Schwartz vacancy as a member of the commission. The third member is C. W. Terry of Edwardsville.

Altho Schwartz was one of the Horner managers in his 1936 and 1938 primary fights with the Chicago Democratic organizations, he is also close to Mayor Kelly. He is credited with sponsoring the present city clerk, Ludwig G. Schreiber, who was the mayor's running mate in the 1939 mayoralty primary, defeating Horace G. Lindheimer.

Declined Commerce Post.

When Senator Slattery was named to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, many observers thought Schwartz would succeed him as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission—a post still unfilled.

Schwartz, it has been understood, could have had the post had he wanted it, but declined in order to continue his law practice.

SUBPENA SLUSH FUND COLLECTOR FOR JURY PROBE

Will County Prosecutor Opens Inquiry.

Harold A. Stone, collector of the 2 per cent levy the Horner administration is making upon the salaries of state employés, was subpenaed yesterday for the Will county grand jury investigation of the pay roll levy.

Harold A. Stone.

James E. Burke, Will county state's attorney, said he hoped Stone would be found in time to be questioned by the grand jury at Joliet today.

The 2 per cent levy is being made in the name of the Illinoisans. The take, estimated at $500,000 a year, is used for the Horner administration's campaign expenses.

Civil Service Law Defied.

Burke launched the grand jury investigation yesterday after a preliminary inquiry had shown that the collections are being made from civil service workers in defiance of the civil service law.

Stone was given a leave from his job with the state division of old age assistance some time ago to collect the money from the state employés. He made his Joliet headquarters at the Joliet and Stateville prisons until the collection system was exposed.

Then he transferred his office to the Louis Joliet hotel, where the prison guards and other state employés of the Joliet vicinity were required to bring him their money. Former employés have accused Stone of summoning them to Warden Joseph E. Ragen's office at the Joliet prison and telling them in Ragen's presence they must pay.

Employés Make Complaints.

The extent of the activities of the Illinoisans was disclosed last October after many employés had grumbled over the payments. Nelson Berve, 128 Clinton street, Joliet, made formal complaint to the civil service commission that he had been fired from his civil service job of prison guard after he had refused to make the payments.

Other guards and former guards then came forward with stories of collections within the walls.

Burke called the grand jury investigation after John E. Cassidy, attorney general of Illinois, had refused to act on evidence given him by the Union League club of Chicago.

Six former guards were called before the grand jury yesterday at the opening of its inquiry. They are Berve, Henderson Gibson, Charles Hill, John Miner, John Harrington, and Arthur Nelson.

It was indicated that the grand jury would look into the leadership of the Illinoisans. F. Lynden Smith, director of the state department of public works, is president.

ORDER VAN METER TO POST BOND IN G. F. HARDING SUIT

Acting Probate Judge Harry W. McEwen ordered yesterday that Gregory T. Van Meter, who has placed a claim for $236,000 against the estate of George F. Harding, furnish a bond of $50,000 to protect assets of the estate. This was done at the request of Mrs. Mary Harding Thompson, daughter of Harding and heiress to a large part of the estate.

Van Meter, who was long an associate of Harding, a Republican leader for many years, previously had obtained an injunction prohibiting Mrs. Thompson and three banks from disposing of $1,076,000 of securities. He contended that shortly before his death Harding admitted the obligations and offered to repay, but failed to do so.

Mrs. Thompson's attorney, Julius Silverstein, argued yesterday that the Probate court was without jurisdiction to issue the restraining order against her, but this was overruled by Judge McEwen.

DIVORCES MATE, SAYS HE SLEEPS IN HIS OVERCOAT

Mrs. Loretta C. Ruehl, 26 years old, testified yesterday that her husband, Alphonse, insisted on sleeping in his street clothes and shoes, and in the wintertime added an overcoat and muffler. When Mrs. Ruehl complained of this practice, they had a spat. Judge Oscar F. Nelson granted Mrs. Ruehl a divorce on the ground of cruelty. Her attorney, Harry X. Cole, said she would be willing to accept a reduction from $10 to $5 a week in Ruehl's payments for support of their daughter, Arlene, because Ruehl recently lost his job as a baker and was on WPA. Mrs. Ruehl lives at 2709 Magnolia avenue and Ruehl at 4319 North St. Louis avenue.

CHECK DEAL TOLD BY STAR WITNESS AT BERWYN TRIAL

$100 Paid to Woman for Her Aid, She Says.

Mrs. Rosalyn Nye Hitzeman, star witness for the state in the trial of Ernest W. Mau, treasurer of Berwyn, and Matthew Berg, former treasurer, charged with embezzlement, testified yesterday before a jury how she cashed a special assessment bond check for $3,726 and was paid $50 by each of the defendants for the accommodation.

Dark-haired Mrs. Hitzeman, wearing a wine colored ensemble, was called in Judge William J. Lindsay's Criminal court. She said that on Jan. 23, 1937, she received a telephone call from her husband, got in a taxi, and went to the Continental Illinois National bank, where Berg and Mau joined her.

Offer to Identify Her.

Mau, who had formerly employed her as his secretary, showed her the check, she testified. It was made out to Rosalyn Nye.

"He asked me, 'Will you cash this as it is made out?'" Mrs. Hitzeman continued. "Then he said to me, 'You are from Blue Island.'" [Mrs. Hitzeman resides at 6030 North Oakley avenue.]

"Mr. Mau and Mr. Berg accompanied me to the cashier's window," Mrs. Hitzeman related, "and Mr. Mau said to the cashier, 'This is Mrs. Nye. We can identify her.' The check was cashed and I put the money in my purse.

Gives Money to Berg.

"We all went downstairs to the vaults and entered a small room. I took the money from my purse and handed it to Mr. Mau, who said, 'Give it to Mr. Berg.' I did. Then Mr. Berg asked, 'What will we give the young lady?' Mr. Mau said, 'Give her $50 each.' I was given the bills and put them in my purse."

"So you walked out of there with $100?" inquired Assistant State's Attorney Vernon Thompson.

"I did," Mrs. Hitzeman replied.

Previously Mayor Anton Janura of Berwyn had faced a series of demands on cross-examination as to whether he personally pocketed any part of the $513,498 shortage charged against the fund by defense counsel.

The Mystery Increases.

To all demands Janura entered a denial, but at the end of the day the mystery regarding what happened to the fund had increased rather than diminished.

After the total shortage had been disclosed Tuesday Assistant State's Attorney Vernon Thompson said that all items except that involving Mau and Berg were barred from prosecution by the statute of limitations. But the cross-examination of Mayor Janura revealed that a matter of $900 in interest fell within the three year time limit. Thompson was asked whether the state's attorney's office contemplated any action based upon that item.

"After this trial is over," he replied, "there may be a lot of things done about a lot of matters in Berwyn."

Mayor Janura admitted under questioning by Attorney Joseph T. Harrington, representing Berg, and Attorney James M. Burke, representing Mau, that he signed a check for $4,179 made payable to Attorney H. H. Hitzeman, husband of Mrs. Hitzeman. Hitzeman previously had testified that he cashed the check as an accommodation to Mau and later gave $1,600 to Berg at Mau's request.

Admits Signing $939 Check.

The mayor also admitted signing a check for $939 payable to John Graeger, who has never been traced. He was unable to recall why he signed either check without question. Harrington demanded:

"Did you ever pay any of the $939 back?"

"Why should I?" Janura replied. "I never received any of it."

GLASSER BLAMES YELLOWLEY FEUD FOR FIX CHARGES

Says Alcohol Tax Head Vowed to 'Get Him.'

An old feud between independent federal agencies in Chicago was dug up yesterday during the trial of two former assistant government prosecutors and three others on charges of operating a case fixing racket in the District court here.

Daniel D. Glasser.

Attorney William Scott Stewart of defense counsel asserted in his opening arguments that the case is a sequel to the old quarrel. The trial is before a jury and Federal Judge Patrick Stone.

Stewart represents Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, both former assistant United States attorneys. The other defendants are Attorney Alfred Roth, Anthony Horton, colored, a professional bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, under indictment for bootlegging.

Clash Over Bootleg Prosecution.

The dispute to which the defense statement referred involved E. C. Yellowley, veteran head of the alcohol tax unit here, and the office of the United States district attorney. In March, 1937, Yellowley and the district attorney's staff clashed openly over the manner of handling bootlegging cases which Glasser and Kretske were assigned to prosecute.

"Glasser found he was being asked to go after the little fellows cooking alcohol over a kitchen stove," Stewart declared. "The inference was that some one in the alcohol tax unit was protecting the leaders in the racket. It became a scandal.

"Glasser reported that Yellowley had conferred in secret with the foreman of a federal grand jury which was investigating the alcohol unit. Yellowley said he would 'get' Glasser and this is the result."

Charges Bribe Trap Plot.

Stewart also charged that during the government's inquiry into the alleged case fixing conspiracy, attempts were made to trap Glasser into accepting bribes.

In the opening argument for the government, Prosecutor Martin Ward told a bizarre story of the so-called inside workings of the bootleg and the case fixing rackets. He told of numerous alleged bribe payments; of one bootlegger shadowing another; of alleged secret meetings of the accused conspirators in loop buildings. And he described how, in one instance, a federal agent hid in a closet to listen to Glasser and other agents questioning a suspected bootlegger.

One of the cases cited by the prosecutor was that of Victor Raubunas, formerly a tavernkeeper, now a convicted bootlegger who is serving a federal prison sentence. He was induced to use the proceeds from the sale of his tavern to become a bootlegger, Ward declared, and gave the defendant Kaplan approximately $2,600 to pay for protection and to finance the operation of two stills.

On several occasions, Ward charged, Raubunas followed Kaplan after giving him money and watched unobserved as the latter allegedly met Kretske and Glasser on a street corner.

YELLOW KID CAN DRESS UP IF HE HAS PLACE TO GO

It appeared yesterday that Joseph [The Yellow Kid] Weil, dean of the confidence men, may get back the sporty raiment he left behind when he departed for New York recently in the custody of government agents on a swindle charge. Mrs. Josephine Bauer, his daughter, was awarded his wardrobe, which had been held since his arrest in lieu of a $500 rent bill.

Judge Francis Borrelli, in Wabash avenue court, ruled that an innkeeper may keep a guest's clothes but that a landlord has no such right. Harold McLaughlin, owner of a building at 6229 Ellis avenue, told the court that Weil and his daughter lived there two years but never paid any rent.

JEWELS STOLEN BY BOY BURGLARS THROWN AWAY

Four schoolboy burglars who police said have confessed taking loot of $10,000 in a series of burglaries since last October, told detectives yesterday that unset jewels representing the major part of the amount lay scattered under the snow on the northwest side where they had thrown them away.

The burglars, Harold Fransen, 17 years old, former Roosevelt High school pupil; Earl Ehler, 15, also a pupil at that school; Alex Port, 17, a sophomore at Von Steuben High school, and Robert Jandt, 17, who attends Washburne Continuation school have been named so far in 16 complaints.

Seize Burglar in Store; Find Loot in Stolen Car

Suspicious because an automobile was parked in front with the motor running, two South Chicago policemen late last night walked into a cigar store at 8411 Stony Island avenue. The door was open. Under a counter they found Arthur Potocki, 25 years old, 837 East 63d place, with a pile of loot beside him. In the car were a cash register and a telephone he admitted stealing from a fruit store. And the automobile, records showed, had been stolen.

FALL KILLS WINDOW WASHER.

Thomas Kovall, 55 years old, 1426 Congress street, was killed yesterday when he fell from a fourth floor window of the Grennan bakeries at 118 South Oakley avenue. He was washing the window when the accident occurred.

REQUIRE PRISON GUARDS TO PROVE GOOD CHARACTER

Order Follows Exposure of 'Insane' Policeman.

Every employé of the four Illinois prisons has been ordered to present proof that his past is untainted by crime, it was learned yesterday. The order was issued by Joseph E. Ragen, superintendent of prisons, after the discovery that State Policeman John Howe had a record of indictments for robbery and of a court finding of insanity.

"Every employé of the prisons is finger printed before he goes to work," Supt. Ragen said. "The prints are sent to the federal bureau of investigation in Washington, D. C., and checked.

Also Requires a Certificate.

"Any one with a criminal past should be caught thru the fingerprint check. But in order to take no chances I now require a certificate of good character from the chief of police, state's attorney, sheriff and county judge of each employé's home town and county.

A dozen or more prison guards were making the rounds of officials' offices yesterday in Joliet. Police Chief Nicholas Fornango and State's Attorney James E. Burke were looking up the records and writing the required certificates. Then they sent the guards on to the sheriff and county judge. Reports of similar occurrences came from other downstate cities.

Arguments on the case of State Policeman Howe were heard yesterday by Judge John F. Bolton in the Criminal court. Howe's attorney, Cameron Latter, asked the court to restrain the state from prosecuting the policeman on four robbery indictments returned in 1930. The charges were stricken off the docket when Howe was found insane in the same year, but they were reinstated recently when a jury found him sane.

Permitted to Leave Asylum.

"Howe was permitted to leave the Kankakee asylum on Nov. 24, 1931, with the tacit consent of officials," Attorney Latter told Judge Bolton. "After his release he came back to Chicago and resumed normal life with the knowledge of the then state's attorney and subsequent prosecuting officials."

Assistant State's Attorney Richard B. Austin argued that this was untrue, and asked the court order Howe to trial. The case was continued to Feb. 15 so Attorney Latter may call witnesses.

Howe was put on the state police force in 1936 on the recommendation of F. Lynden Smith, campaign manager for Gov. Horner. The policeman's criminal record came to light during State's Attorney Courtney's investigation of jury bribery in a vote fraud trial.

FLORIDA WIDENS ITS DRIVE AGAINST GAMBLING SPOTS

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP).—Aided by the federal bureau of investigation, the state attorney general's office today broadened the antigambling drive in the south Florida resort area.

Ten establishments between Miami and Fort Lauderdale were served with padlock proceedings notifying them to appear in Circuit court Saturday morning. Seven of the injunction suits—including one against the swank Club Boheme between Miami and Hollywood Beach—were filed late today. Three were served yesterday.

IDENTIFY SLAIN BANDIT AS INSANE ASYLUM FUGITIVE

Joseph Rynkowski, who was shot to death early yesterday in a battle with policemen after a robbery on the near north side, was identified last night as an escaped inmate of an insane asylum in St. Louis, Mo. Rynkowski, who was 31 years old, was tried there in 1938 on a charge of robbery, but was found not guilty on an insanity plea. Previously he had served 10 years in Michigan prisons as a robber.

Rynkowski went into the Royal café at 701 North Clark street a little before dawn, carrying a pistol. Among those he terrorized were Ethel Nelson, a "26" girl, and Judith Rayburne of 6015 Normal boulevard, a patron. Miss Rayburne was struck in the face when she pleaded with the bandit to leave. He took $50 from the cash register and fled.

A police squad took up the chase soon after he boarded a southbound Clark street car, and caught up with him at Grand avenue, where he boarded an eastbound trolley. The fugitive fired thru the car windows at his pursuers, then leaped off and fled into an alley. Policemen William Lundy and Thomas Shivenane followed and shot him down. Lundy was wounded in the right arm.

Ohio Farmer Killed After 6 Hour Machine Gun Siege

Lebanon, O., Feb. 7 (AP).—Lloyd Gentry, 44 years old, a farmer, was shot and killed today after a six hour siege in which he wounded two deputy sheriffs and became the target for hand grenades, tear gas bombs and machine gun fire. Sheriff William Hufford and two deputies went to the Gentry home in answer to complaints of Mrs. Gentry that her husband was threatening her.

NAVAL OFFICER KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF IN WAIKIKI APARTMENT

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 7 (AP).—Lieut. George F. Stanish, 29 years old, and his beautiful young wife, the former Constance Muriel Bell of Tacoma, Wash., today were found shot to death in their Waikiki apartment.

Detective Captain Benjamin Van Keuren said three notes indicated that the naval officer shot his 23 year old wife while she slept, then killed himself. A service pistol was clenched in Stanish's hand.

One note asked that the couple's personal effects be sent to relatives in Black Eagle. It was believed this referred to Black Eagle, Mont., the home of Stanish's parents. Stanish came to Hawaii last October. He was graduated from the Naval academy in 1934.

Capt. Van Keuren said Mrs. Stanish had been shot in the head three times, and that Stanish had been shot once, thru the mouth.

NAB ST. CHARLES INMATE ESCAPING IN JUROR'S AUTO

Joseph Ross, 18 years old, colored, escaped from the St. Charles School for Boys early yesterday by crawling thru an engine room window. He trudged across a corn field into St. Charles and stole an automobile belonging to Miss G. F. Spith of that town. A short while later River Forest police arrested Ross on suspicion. Last night he was turned over to the Kane county sheriff. Miss Spith is a member of the Kane county grand jury which will consider an automobile larceny charge against Ross.

SUBWAY NICKEL THIEF GIVEN 2½ YEAR SENTENCE

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Edward J. Rigney, former maintenance man of the independent subway system, convicted of grand larceny in connection with the theft of $25,000 from the subway's turnstiles, was sentenced today to two and a half to five years in prison.

Rigney, 57 years old, was the first person to be sentenced in connection with the thefts. Twenty-eight former employés who pleaded guilty are awaiting sentence. The state charged during Rigney's trial that $100,000 was stolen between January, 1933, and July, 1937.

The thefts were accomplished by turning back the meters on the turnstiles which record the number of dropped nickels.

Admits Hammer Slaying of Employer's Husband

Bellefontaine, O., Feb. 7 (AP).—Donald Slater, employed by a woman restaurant keeper, today confessed the hammer slaying of the woman's husband. Prosecutor J. Ewing Smith said Slater, who is 18 years old, admitted he killed sleeping Fred Jenkins, 56, with a hammer blow Thursday, and that he took the body to a gully 60 miles away, where it was found Saturday. The prosecutor ordered questioning of Mrs. Jenkins and her two children, who are 18 and 14 years old.

2 TAKE JOBLESS PAY THO HOLDING JOBS; FINED $25

Two men, charged with accepting unemployment pay from the state while they had income from work performed, were found guilty yesterday before Judge Joseph E. Fleming, sitting in the County court. Each was fined $25.

The defendants were John M. Hagan, 345 Olmstead road, Riverside, and Erich F. Krueger of Thornton. Testimony showed that Hagan worked as a gardener and was paid $44 in a period when he got $10 from the state fund. Krueger, an electric welder, collected $16 from the state altho he earned $29.75 in two weeks. Both asserted they did not know they were violating the law.

The statute provides a fine of $100 to $500 on conviction, but Judge Fleming asserted this was too severe and fixed the $25 figure.

"We're sitting on top of the World"

—the Theodore Chases, Schenectady, N.Y., bride and groom, share the joys of a brand-new household with Ladies' Home Journal readers in Part II of "HOW AMERICA LIVES"

"HOW DO YOU MAKE A MEAL COME OUT ON TIME?" ★ "WILL THERE STILL BE RED BRICK HOUSES WHEN WE'RE READY TO BUILD?"

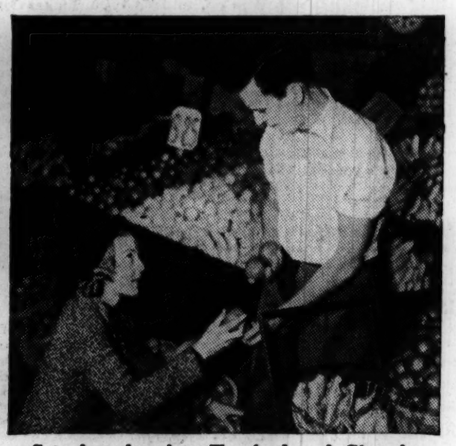
June wedding in orchid. (The groom's choice.) Guests, 300. Financial assets, $500. Would they do it again? YES!

Tennis balls—the Chase family luxury. They save up for them—play on his company's free country club courts.

Specialty, angel cake for two. And she's perfecting her apple pie technique! When she's stuck, she stops to think it over.

They pay $37 a month for this furnished apartment—look ahead to the dream house they'll be ready to build in 10 years.

Close quarters for K. P. Kitchen originally held 3 saucepans, one spoon—now they list needs and buy something every week.



Saturday shopping. The food and Ginger's finger-waves come out of the same weekly $10. They live on $25—save rest of Ted's salary.

A flat in Schenectady—a dream house in the clouds. And the intervening years filled with "getting down to serious business" now the honeymoon is over. Days and weeks filled with fun, adjustments, PROBLEMS. The kind shared by thousands of young households in America . . . ranging all the way from how to cook for two to what to buy now for that future house. From gayly balancing a budget that would make their elders gasp to welcoming Theodore Chase III, who is expected in May.

This month, in the daily life of this young out-of-college couple, the Journal supplies LIVING ANSWERS to such happy, universal problems of their young marriage. For in "How America Lives," the Journal is undertaking an important editorial advance—editing departments of this great magazine each month from INSIDE a representative American home, helping to solve America's questions of living where they occur, meeting all the practical restrictions of every-day life.

Each month a different kind of family will be visited. (A rich man's household. A fruit rancher's family. A mill-worker and his wife and two children.) In the interests of friendship and better understanding among all 30,000,000 American neighbors, each will share its experiences, problems and solutions with the great Journal audience. Together their stories will form the Continued Story of America.

Begin it today. "Meet Mr. and Mrs. Chase," the young people chosen to represent 5,000,000 other couples who will marry within the next 5 years. (Younger, more idealistic and realistic marriages, say the statisticians.) This is how families happen in America . . . how new recruits are enrolled in democracy. The Chases' story, Part II of "How America Lives," is now on the stands—in the March issue of the Ladies' Home Journal.

"TED LIKES APPLE PIE" ★ "MY HAIR DRIVES ME CRAZY" ★ "A HUSBAND SHOULD HAVE HIS OWN CHAIR FIRST THING!"

ALSO IN THE GREAT MARCH JOURNAL, 40 STORIES, ARTICLES, FEATURES

"HOME FOR LUNCH"—a complete novel in this issue by Hilda Mauck. "Oh, Stevie," said Jinny from a peak of disdain, "you can't take those crazy rabbits to Chicago . . ."

Joe pulled Stevie onto his lap. "Look, son," he said. "If you should have to leave them behind, maybe daddy will make enough money so you can have a pony."

"But I've already got Popeye and Olive," protested Stevie forlornly.

"See?" Bud said triumphantly. "Just what I told you—money isn't everything."

But Nell, mother of this brood, wondered. Big town—or little town? Success—or home? It's a problem that faces many American families on the way up. See how the Harding family solves it.

"WOMEN IN WHITE"—by Franken Meloney. A strong and unusual love story. This new serial goes deeply—and frankly—into the fitness of women to be doctors. Dr. Ferris could prescribe for her patients, perform brilliant operations—but she didn't know how to treat her own heart.

"THE ART OF LOVE"—by André Maurois. "It's easier to die for a woman one loves than to live with her," said Byron. Making love last is an art—and a problem for both the man and woman. A noted writer reveals some of its secrets, to be applied for happiness in every-day lives.

"ARE DUMMIES BORN OR MADE?"—by Albert Edward Wiggam. The amazing story that threatens to push heredity into a back seat. A group of noted psychologists claim that a child's I.Q. is as flexible as a rubber band. Here are the findings—that seem to indicate that intelligence in children is largely a matter of environment and conditioning.

"YOU—AND LILLY DACHÉ"—The last page of Lilly Daché hats the Journal presented drew over 69,000 paid requests for patterns for the hats. Here is another—full of new spring hats that are easy to make, fun—and oh so swank!—to wear.

BECAUSE IT IS EDITED in the interests of today's intelligent women and of nobody else, the Journal has become the magazine such women believe in. A belief great enough to make the Journal a great social force—to bring it the largest paid magazine circulation in the world.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

THE MEN WHO WENT TO DINNER.

Another Washington dinner party has come to light in the disclosures revealing the conspiracy to discredit and defame Congressman Dies, chairman of the Dies investigating committee. The intent was to stop the exposure of the New Deal revolutionary activities and communist connections by killing the committee. The host at this party was Gardner Jackson, lobbyist for Labor's Non-Partisan league, the political agency of John Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations.

One of the guests was Harold Weisberg, former employé of the La Follette committee which was appointed to smear the industrialists with whom the C. I. O. was at war. According to testimony previously given to the Dies committee, Mr. Jackson had a plate at another dinner, four years ago, at the Cosmos club in Washington. He seems to have been at the head of the table. That dinner was attended by Mr. Lewis, Senator La Follette, and a dozen other left wingers, who there planned the La Follette committee to turn the industrial flank while Lewis and his strikers moved in on the front.

At Mr. Jackson's dinner of last month another guest was the associate editor of a left wing magazine who was prepared to go to press. There were also six congressmen, including Frank E. Hook, Democrat of Michigan, who was to appear later in action on the floor when the house was voting on the question of continuing the Dies committee and making an appropriation for it.

The details of the story have appeared in the newspapers for several days as angry representatives got to the bottom of the conspiracy. Forged letters which had been bought by Mr. Weisberg were shown to the six congressmen, one of whom, Mr. Hook, undertook to present them to the house in a speech accusing Mr. Dies of collusion with Mr. Pelley of the Silver Shirts. Altho other congressmen present thought the letters looked phony, Mr. Hook took the responsibility for them.

The writer of the forgeries, David Mayne, told the house investigators that he had entered the conspiracy merely to expose it and that he had placed the evidence of fraud in the hands of a member of the Dies committee. To the further discomfiture of the conspirators, Mr. Pelley bobs up out of nowhere to say that he had not written the letters and that he had never had any communication whatever with Mr. Dies. Mr. Hook, first defiant in defense of his part in the defamation which had been intended to prove that the committee was a protector of Nazism, finally pleaded that he had been duped and asked that the whole matter be stricken from the Record.

These two dinner parties, the one which started the La Follette flank attack and the one which produced the conspiracy against the Dies committee—undertakings of identical origin and identical purpose—serve as reminders of still another dinner party in April, 1934, when Dr. William Wirt, the nationally known superintendent of the Gary schools, heard the red hots of the New Deal discussing the method and prospects of their revolution. Dr. Wirt was astounded. He didn't intend to alarm the country with the impressions these New Dealers gave him but later the incident came out and there was a great furor in Washington, with a demand that Dr. Wirt be brought before investigators. He appeared for questioning, and the following is an extract from his testimony:

"I was told that they believed that by thwarting our then evident recovery they would be able to prolong the country's destitution until they had demonstrated to the American people that the government must operate industry and commerce.

"I was told that, of course, commercial banks could not make long time capital loans and that they would be able to destroy by propaganda the other institutions that have been making capital loans.

"I was frankly told that I underestimated the power of propaganda; that since the war, propaganda had been developed into a science; that they could make the newspapers beg for mercy by threatening to take away much of their advertising; that they could make the financiers be good by showing up in public investigations the crooks in the game; that the power of public investigation in their hands alone would make the cold chills run up and down the spines of business leaders and politicians—honest men as well as crooks."

Dr. Wirt was smeared by the New Deal. He was pictured as a wild rumor monger—a part that did not fit his known character as an educator. He was said to have been taken in by some Washington jesters—if he heard anything at all. The New Deal washed its face and hands at the expense of an honest man. Dr. Wirt is now dead. If he were alive he would find some compensation for his experiences in the revelations proving that what he saw six years ago was the true purpose of the persons whose conversation he reported.

The men who went to the dinner when he sat at the table have been going to the others. Six years ago Dr. Wirt told the country of the program to keep the depression going, stop private investment, control the newspapers, make cold chills run up and down the spines of business men and prove to the country that the government must take over industry and commerce. The program is still in progress.

CHARLES S. DENEEN.

Charles S. Deneen linked the old with the new in Illinois politics. He chose public life as a career probably with a great deal more deliberation than is usual in the man who finds his way into politics. He made a study of the prospects of a young man from a southern Illinois college who intended to study law and try out what a great city might have in store for him. For himself, he concluded, politics would best suit his temperament and his abilities.

Having made his choice, he made his approach as carefully, industriously, and methodically as if he had been trying to go from the bottom to the top of a great industry. He entered a Republican precinct club, the smallest unit in a political organization, and became the leader first of his ward, and then of his congressional district.

Deneen's early days in politics were those of the political organization which controled thru the nominating convention. Such a convention gave him the office of state's attorney of Cook county. Another such a convention, the famous deadlocked convention of 1904, gave him the office of governor. Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the national house of representatives, and Shelby Cullom, the aging physical reminder of the days of Lincoln, were both active in politics, but reform was active against the old ways and Deneen was influential in that reform.

As governor he gave Illinois its first primary election law, not the direct primary it now has but a delegate law which provided for the orderly composition of a nominating convention to get rid of the intrigues and chicane of the old system. Several attempts failed to provide a law which could get by the Supreme court and then came the direct primary. Deneen was ahead of his times in advocating hard roads. The rural districts were not ready for them.

There was a time when it seemed possible if not probable that the career so carefully chosen and pursued might put another President from Illinois in the White House and it did reach the United States senate. The career was a success in intelligent service and in what it brought to the man who chose it.

THE MONEY ROLLS IN.

The state treasury reports that the sales tax brought in more than $8,800,000 in January, 1940, and that this sum was the largest on record for any month. The best previous month was January a year ago when the yield was $600,000 less.

Reading these facts, an observer who didn't know much about the ways of politics might suppose that the governor and the legislature were already at work on plans for reducing taxation in the state. The revenues are pouring in, and are more than sufficient to cover the appropriations. The chief source of revenue, the sales tax, is levied on necessities and luxuries alike. The money the state takes from the people imposes deprivations on some and withholds a measure of prosperity from all.

Needless to say, however, nothing is being done to relieve the taxpayers, and nothing is likely to be done as long as the present leadership in Springfield remains in power. If the revenues continue to mount, the appropriations will be increased to match them. More pay rollers will be hired to strengthen the political organization at the expense of the people. The ordinary citizen and taxpayer is the forgotten man these days. When government revenues fall below expectations, taxes are raised. When revenues seem to be exceeding expectations, appropriations are raised. And still some people wonder why recovery is so slow in coming and why when business and employment do show signs of improvement the gains are not sustained.

Editorial of the Day

ON AMERICAN SPEECH.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Lately the London Times has been attacking "officialese"—the peculiarly involved English of official government documents. It deplores what it calls "asfromania" ["as from this date," etc.] and "priortophobia" ["prior to that event," etc.]. Letter writers have taken it up and are filling the Times with horrible examples, gleaned from official handouts.

Since the Evening Sun has long been an enemy of ill-behooviorism ["It ill behooves the American people," etc.], we are mildly interested in this latest effort of the English to get to the point without too many as-froms and prior-tos. Worth recording is this suggestion from a Times reader:

> I move the adoption into the king's English of that excellent American use of the word "through" in respect to things temporal. If, say, a film is billed for "Monday to Thursday," I myself would probably not go to see it on the Thursday without phoning to make sure that "to" meant "on" as well. "Our lease goes on till September." What does that mean? Till the end of September, the middle or the beginning?
>
> In America they say the film was on from "Monday through Thursday." The lease is from "January through September" [if it meant the end of September; if Sept. 1 it would be "through August"]. And so on. We could use that "through" in English.

There's a tendency in certain English quarters to deplore the infiltration of debasing Americanisms. It is pleasant, therefore, to observe this unabashed English attempt to achieve clarity by adoption of standard American.

PREPARED.

Jones—Why are you at the station at this unearthly hour? Your train doesn't start for another two hours.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

NOW FOR A STEEPLE CHASE.

The trend toward "tax-payers" causes us to invent a new name for the Loop, to be used ten years hence: "Stumptown."

* * * * *

Since the skyscrapers are shrinking, is it any wonder that we are trying to discover the highest church steeple in Chicago? The old town needs some soaring ideas.

* * * * *

The Chicago Temple [Methodist] is hors concours in this matter because its spire is perched on top of an office building [569 feet]. Returns from all other ecclesiastical edifices will be welcomed. Maybe this will stimulate the study of surveying and trigonometry in young men's Sunday school classes.

* * * * *

We asked our favorite architect to name a few candidates for highest steeple honors the other night and he said: "Unimportant; uninteresting." But the next evening Maitre Rebori came roaring into the club, a changed man.

"I've discovered an amazing one," he announced. "The New First Congregational church, Ashland avenue and Washington boulevard. It may be the tallest steeple in the world for the area of its base, which is small. It shoots up like a needle."

* * * * *

St. Michael's [German], not to be confused with St. Michael's [Polish], or St. Michael Archangel [Italian], or St. Michael Archangel [Slovak], is our favorite because we see it so often from the "El." The location: Cleveland avenue and Eugenie street. It's so tall that it serves as a landmark for lake navigators.

The tower of the University of Chicago chapel? A mere 209 feet.

THE WINDS OF HATE.

Blow, wintry winds, blow through the naked trees
Like years that blow through skeletons of dreams,
Rattling bare limbs too hard and dry to freeze.
Blow on; some life remains where no life seems;
Some seeds are sown that you can never kill;
Some life lies sentient yet and safe and warm
In hidden nooks beyond your bitter will
Waiting to rise and mock your searching storm.

Blow on, O wintry winds of whipped-up hate,
Yet know that not in fifty thousand years
Will Freedom enslaved accept the shameful state;
But struggle on, and strangle in her tears,
And fall, and rise, and break her rusted chain,
And with it beat her way to power again.

Just an Old Chicago Custom.

[Quotation from "The Gambler," a novel by Franc B. Wilkie, published in 1888.]

Reaching the hotel he wrote on the thin book of registry in a bold, handsome script, the name—John La Farge, Chicago.

He did not add "Ill." after the name of the city. No Chicago resident ever does. Chicago stands by itself, and to place the name of the state after it would be to lower the dignity of the city.

Islands with Cock-eyed Names.

The finest example of murdered French in American place names is a dangerous little rock pile in northern Lake Michigan which is rightly Isle aux Galets, but in the vernacular "Skilligalee." . . . And the island named Bois Blanc, near the Straits of Mackinac, is known locally as "Bob Lo."

Portrait of an Ink-stained Wretch.

When "Life with Father" opens at the Blackstone theater next Monday night its stage setting will display a portrait of the grandfather of Clarence Day Jr., upon whose sketches of family life the play is based. The old gentleman was Benjamin Henry Day, founder of the New York Sun, printer of a weekly which was the ancestor of the modern tabloid newspapers, and inventor of the engraver's process called "Benday," which is still in use.

CANDID CAMERA MORAL.

My friend has traveled half this planet o'er
And profitably spent his days and nights;
Has taken charming pictures by the score
Which rouse my envy, who have seen few sights.

"If I could wander over land and sea
And shoot at temples, gondolas, giraffes,
I, too, could find some subjects, fine and free;
I, too, could take some gorgeous photographs."

And then he knocked me nearly off my feet
By capturing the trophy of the year
With just a picture of a dirty street
And three or four sad children playing near.

One must, it seems, do more than point one's box
Due west and shoot, if one would win a prize.
Some mystic key the solid door unlocks.
One has to see the world through artist's eyes.

ANGINA AND A USEFUL LIFE.

PAIN in the chest may come from a multitude of sources. Not infrequently arthritis, neuralgia, or root twinges emanating from the spinal cord may be numbered among the culprits. We must include also trouble with the diaphragm or with some of the abdominal organs—the gall bladder, for example.

Even tho the heart is involved we must determine whether we are dealing with true angina or a coronary disorder. The former comes as a result of effort and the discomfort is experienced across the chest—usually in the region of the breastbone—spreading to one or both arms. Coronary disease means that the heart muscle is deprived of sufficient nourishment. If this is momentary—due to spasm—we call the ache anginal in character. But when one of the conduits that feeds the fibers becomes plugged, the agony persists and we are faced with the fact that the pumping apparatus has been damaged and that complete rest is necessary.

What we term angina, then, is characterized by the sudden onset of severe pangs which may last for but a few seconds—certainly less than 10 minutes. There is, as a rule, an accompanying sense of pressure or choking. An attack is prone to occur after the victim has overtaxed his strength or following a full meal attended by exercise—such as dancing.

One thing may be stated rather definitely—namely, that if the patient will modify his activities so as to escape overloads—the extra amount of "urge" that brings on the paroxysms—life will not be abbreviated by the mere presence of the symptom. However, the changes within the cardiac organ and the blood vessels that are responsible should receive attention. For example, a structure injured by rheumatism may be saved for many years of function with the adoption of proper habits. The pain isn't the thing that takes life. It is the underlying cause.

Fortunately, much can be done—particularly if the victim is keen enough to recognize the occasional stabbing incidents and will visit his physician for the revamping of his program. It is these early signs that point to some overload of the circulatory machinery and it is then that the relief of strain should be arranged for. If the pressure level is high it must be looked upon as significant, as the very fact that the left lower chamber is obliged to work harder means that some assistance should be forthcoming. We may say, on the whole, that the care which the individual gives to his general health will determine rather accurately the efficiency with which he will carry on. Exercise? Yes! But just below the point where the symptom will appear.

The pleasures of the table must be shunned and lighter meals are essential. With physical work curtailed, the body will need less food and it will require will power to reduce a 3,500 calorie daily intake to 2,000 or even less.

Angina is perfectly compatible with many useful years. True enough, recourse to nitroglycerin or some other blood vessel dilating chemical may be called for now and then; but we may look upon this drug as a relatively harmless remedy—one that can be used freely whenever demanded.

Finally, the patient is advised not to think too much about himself—not to race to the doctor's office every few days to have his pressure checked, or to obtain an electrocardiogram. It is a safe assertion that—under modern management—angina is far less grave than it is proverbially supposed to be. While we need not minimize the basic disturbance, there is much sound evidence justifying real optimism.

I have in mind a member of a grain firm who developed definite manifestations six or seven years ago. He accepted a reduced income and shortened his working hours accordingly. With the establishment of stated periods of rest, with a modest diet, with exertion limited to walking leisurely, he is today performing physically as well as ever. Only twice in the last year has he been obliged to use a dose or two of nitroglycerin. He knows that he can't run for a train, a bus, or a street car—and he doesn't. He climbs stairs slowly. His spirits are high and in any group of associates he is buoyant and natural.

NERVOUS CHILLS.

L. R. writes: What causes chills where there is no cold or fever?

REPLY.

Nervousness is the most common cause.

TWO KINDS OF PARALYSIS.

H. E. L. writes: What is the difference between spastic and infantile paralysis?

REPLY.

The chief difference lies in the kind of paralysis. With the infantile type, the affected limb is flaccid, or loose, while stiffness, or rigidity, characterizes the spastic form.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

H. G. writes: What are the symptoms of high blood pressure in a person well over 3 score and 10?

REPLY.

There may be none, altho many complain of headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, flushing of the face, etc. In some, a lack of concentration is noted.

NINE POINT PLATFORM.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Here are nine suggestions for getting us out of the depression:

1. Release the strangle hold on banks so that frozen money may be used in legitimate business and so that these institutions may pay running expenses and dividends without charging for checking accounts, ink, and for the use of spittoons.

2. Repeal the Wagner act and do away with its vicious labor board that has done more to damage industry and harm labor than any other New Deal blunder.

3. Repeal the wage-hour law. We got out of the Wilson depression because men went back to work for anything they could get and hours meant nothing so long as they could eat. That started jobs. Prosperity returned and stayed with us until the fear of another Democratic administration sent business men to cover.

4. Abolish social security. It only means another tax and no security. We took care of our aged before and can do it again.

5. Cut down WPA to those who are actually unable to earn an honest living.

6. Do away with the FHA and let people build their homes as they wish and with private capital, without a swarm of kid inspectors to tell them how high the roof shall be or how large a lot to build on. And let a Republican build a home now and then.

7. Do away with the TVA and a hundred other taxeaters. They are getting us nowhere. Bleeding industry in order to support an army of political stooges may win an election or two but it is death to business and you have to have something more than taxes with which to run a country. You can't run a dairy by feeding cows their own milk.

8. Elect a President this fall with sufficient ability to choose able assistants and run even a little business.

9. When these things are done business will revive and then 350,000 of our young men now in CCC camps, groveling in the dirt for five dollars a month spending money, may return to school or to help their fathers get out of this mess of the last seven years and may hope to marry and take their rightful places in society.

INEXPERIENCED IN TRIAL WORK.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 2.—I wish to correct several statements and implications in an article entitled, "Roosevelt Aid Gets Kin a Job on Labor Board," which appeared in THE TRIBUNE on Jan. 23.

It was stated that Towne Nylander and Ralph Seward, Los Angeles regional director and attorney, respectively, for the board, interviewed Mr. Freund and reported against his appointment because they "found Freund inexperienced, etc." As a matter of fact, Nylander and Seward reported against Mr. Freund's being placed in charge of trial work at that time because of insufficient trial experience, and advised instead that he spend several months in review work with the board in Washington, at the end of which time they expected he would be qualified for trial work.

Mr. Freund was appointed to such a position; and there was no evidence introduced before the hearing, nor any attempt even made to show that his work has ever been anything but highly satisfactory.

Mr. Freund's former classmates and professors at the University of Michigan were doubtless amused by your article, because he was regarded by them as the keenest mind in the law school. He maintained an enviable scholastic record without effort, and passed the California bar [regarded as one of the two or three most difficult] with honors.

I have myself known Freund intimately for the last 12 years. I know that he has been scrupulously honest and impartial in all his dealings. If all its employés had been of equal qualification I dare say the labor board would not be in the position it is in today.

I am a steadfast Republican; but I do not believe that the Republican cause, to say nothing of justice, is aided by an attack of misstatements and half-truths.

RUSSIA IN CHINA.

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 5.—Apropos a letter in your column last week from Grand Rapids asking you to publish an editorial showing that Japan is fighting communism in China, why not publish a map in your paper marking the progress of the soviets in that country?

Outer Mongolia, about equal to one-third of the United States, and Sinkiang, about one-sixth of our country, are Russian controled. The British published South China Morning Post of Dec. 13 last says that "Lanchow [capital of Kansu province] has become a veritable advance base of soviet invasion," with "units of the soviet regular air force and antiaircraft troops, in addition to Chinese air units"; also that soviet influences in the northwest are steadily being consolidated. Under date of Dec. 9 the same paper quotes Alexander Kerensky as saying that "M. Stalin's support of the Kuomintang has a parallel with popular front activities elsewhere—merely prolonging the chaos until it is expedient to settle on his own terms." So many critics omit the Russian factor, which since 1858-'60 has been the crux of the whole far eastern situation.

Since Feb. 5 was the Sunday set aside by the Committee for Non-Participation in Japanese Aggression for sermons in the churches favoring an embargo on Japan, one wonders just what the religious leaders think would become of Christianity in a sovietized China.

MRS. FRED HOLMQUIST.

SOCIAL SECURITY, ETC.

Worth, Ill., Feb. 1 [Legal Friend of the People].—I read in your paper a few days ago about the government putting all men over 65 years of age on social security starting January, 1940. I am past 65 and I have a social security card.

I am not working now, but expect to start in again next spring when my job is open again. What I want to know is if the government is going to recall their men from their jobs and put them on a pension or will the men have to apply for such pension? If so, please advise where to apply.

J. B.

Eligibility to the new government insurance, as distinguished from the previous old age assistance, depends not only on one's age but also on what he has paid in under the social security taxes.

The federal social security act, adopted in 1935, offered to match state appropriations for various forms of help to needy persons. Illinois took advantage of the old age assistance, but has not yet acted to take its share of certain other contributions such as those for maternal and child welfare. The act also provided pay roll taxes to pay unemployment compensation, which went into effect in Illinois on July 1, 1939, and to pay old age insurance regardless of "need."

By 1939 amendment, the commencement date for this old age insurance has been advanced to Jan. 1, 1940. After that date each fully insured individual who has reached the age of 65 receives benefits based upon his "average monthly wages." It is hardly practicable for us to give complete instructions for the calculation, but, as examples, if a person has been "covered" by pay roll taxes for three years and makes $100 per month, his benefit, if single, will be $25.75, and if married, $38.63. If covered five years, the figures will be $26.25 and $39.38.

A 65 year old wife gets supplementary benefits, sufficient to bring her primary benefits, if any, up to one-half of her husband's. Dependent children under 18 are similarly eligible to supplementary benefits.

Under the 1939 amendments, benefits to widows over 65, widows with dependent children, etc., supersede the original provisions for lump sum repayment to the estates of deceased employés.

A 130 page pamphlet entitled "Social Security Act as Amended, 1939, with Explanation and Charts of New Provisions" has been published, at $1, by Commerce Clearing House, and is available at book stores, but the principal source of information will be the Social Security board, whose offices are listed at page 1331 of the September telephone directory.

How Our States Got Their Names

28. NEW JERSEY.

New Jersey, then a province, was so named in the charter granted in 1664 to Lord Berkeley and Sir George Carteret. George E. Shankle, in his book on state names, says the name was after the Isle of Jersey, which Carteret had defended against the Long Parliament. New Jersey was one of the original states.

New Jersey state seal. Three plows on escutcheon supported by Liberty [left] and Ceres. Shield is surmounted by a helmet and a horse's head. Below is scroll inscribed with a state motto and date [1776] of Declaration of Independence.

The New Jersey motto is "Liberty and Prosperity." The state song is "Jersey Land, My Jersey Land," the state flower the violet and the bird the eastern goldfinch.

Nicknames given New Jersey include the Clam, Foreigner, Garden, Mosquito, Jersey Blue, Camden and Amboy state, New Spain, and, like New Hampshire, the Switzerland of America. The reference to Spain and the "foreigner" appellation refer to the fact that Joseph Bonaparte fled there from Spain in 1812. New Jersey's soldiers wore blue uniforms in the revolutionary war. The Camden and Amboy railroad was once very influential in New Jersey. The other nicknames explain themselves.

47 consecutive monthly gains!

Last month total daily net paid Tribune circulation was over 1,000,000—a gain of 118,000 over January, 1939 and 200,000 over January, 1937

CLIMBING to well over 1,000,000, Tribune total net paid daily circulation in January set a new all-time high for the month. It was the 47th consecutive month in which Tribune total daily circulation showed a gain over the same month in the preceding year.

During the past three years the gain in total daily net paid was more than 200,000. In itself, this increase is greater than the total circulation of any daily newspaper in all but 13 of America's largest cities. It is a gain over three times larger than the combined gains of all other Chicago daily newspapers.

In a period of growing demand for the newspaper's service, this gain records the increasing importance of the Tribune in Chicago's daily life. It illustrates how the greater value which the Tribune delivers to readers steadily increases the value it delivers to advertisers.

Last month Tribune daily circulation right in Chicago and suburbs scored a gain of 102,000 over January, 1939. This was on top of a gain of 35,000 in January, 1939, plus a gain of 25,000 in January, 1938.

Every day of the week, the Tribune now has more than *800,000 circulation right in metropolitan Chicago. This is from 335,000 to 500,000 more copies than are sold in Chicago and suburbs by other Chicago newspapers.

When you advertise in the Tribune, you reach Chicago's largest constant audience. You make the most effective use of your advertising appropriation today...and you buy in a medium whose vigorous, healthy growth steadily widens the market for your product.

Ask a Tribune representative to give you the facts which show why the Tribune is your basic buy for any selling job in this market.

REFUGEE BARES UNIONS' FATE IN HITLER REGIME

Tells Story of Destruction to A. F. of L. Council.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7.—A German refugee today told the executive council of the American Federation of Labor how free unionism has been destroyed by the Hitler régime. The council expressed sympathy with the plight of German workers and announced that A. F. of L. unions will be asked to contribute funds to an anti-Nazi group in Paris which is trying to present to the world a true picture of conditions in Germany to the end that Hitler ultimately may be overthrown.

The refugee who appeared before the council is Frederick Stampfer, now living in New York. He was a member of the reichstag [the German parliament] and editor of a Berlin newspaper until the Nazis came into power. Then he fled to Paris, where he associated himself with German unionists who also had escaped.

Fight Nazi Propaganda.

He is visiting this country as their representative. The funds he collects will be used for preparation and dissemination of propaganda to counteract Nazi literature in which, Stampfer said, a false picture of well being of German workers is given.

"Before Hitler took control," Stampfer said, "we had a thriving trade union federation in Germany with more than 3,000,000 members. It was the backbone of republican Germany. The A. F. of L. was in part patterned after our organization.

"The first thing that Hitler did, to grind Germany under his heel, was to attack our federation. He confiscated the property of all our unions. He put his Black Shirts in charge. He sent the union leaders to concentration camps.

Work for Pittance.

"One of the federation leaders was executed. Some managed to escape. Free unionism is completely throttled now. The German laborer works for a pittance and all the independence and benefits and congenial employer relations he had achieved are gone."

It was recalled that the A. F. of L. council, during its meeting, has several times warned against government control of unions in this country.

In a report Monday, condemning the anti-trust prosecutions instituted by the department of justice against A. F. of L. unions, the council said: "Once the independence of our trade unions is invaded, once they are subject to rigid government control and domination, the democracy of our country is threatened and government dictatorship will become a reality. We have seen what happened in Russia, Germany, and Italy when those governments took control of the labor movement. We are determined not to let that happen here."

Deny C. I. O. Charges.

William Green, president of the A. F. of L., and Joseph Padway, its general counsel, both denied charges made in Washington today that amendments to the National Labor Relations act, proposed by the federation, were prepared with the aid of three corporation lawyers.

Philip Murray, vice president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, read to the senate labor committee a statement of John L. Lewis, boss of the C. I. O. The statement, similar to one made by Lewis in April, 1939, alleged there had been secret conferences between Padway and the three lawyers, Ernest Ballard of Chicago, and Earl F. Reed and Gilbert H. Montague of New York. The three represented 14 companies in labor board cases. One of Ballard's clients was the Inland Steel company of Chicago.

Irene Rich Ill in Hospital; Boy on Her Program Dies

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 7 (AP).—Actress Irene Rich was taken to a hospital today, seriously ill with influenza, at almost the same hour, a 13 year old boy actor on her radio program died unexpectedly. The boy Ernest Carlson, who played Donnie Bradley in Miss Rich's Sunday radio serial story, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs O. W. Carlson of Pasadena.

   —— His father?
   —— His brother?
3. Several years ago I surveyed a number of college girls, asking, "If you were to select a nurse for your convalescent boy friend, which would you choose, assuming all of the following were equally pretty and efficient?"
   —— An English nurse?
   —— A French nurse?
   —— A German nurse?
   —— An Italian nurse?
   Which one of those nurses do you think the co-eds preferred?
4. Problem No. 3 was really a "jealousy test." The nurse who was most feared would probably not be selected to nurse the boy friend of a co-ed. Which one of those nurses do you think the co-eds avoided most consistently?
5. A few years ago I surveyed 5,268 divorced men and women to learn the types of home in which they grew up. Which of the following proved least likely to have his marriage end in divorce?

In Family Spat

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MISS BEATRICE MOULIK.

The whole family got into the courtroom argument yesterday when Mrs. Bessie Moulik, 47 years old, asked Judge Oscar F. Nelson for an injunction barring her husband, Rudolph, a brewmaster, from their home at 1812 South Grove avenue, Berwyn.

Mrs. Moulik has pending a divorce suit in which she charges Moulik with drunkenness. Moulik's attorney, Anton Zeman, told the court his client occasionally sampled beer, but offered as proof of sobriety that Moulik had been employed steadily for 20 years.

Miss Beatrice Moulik, 22, spoke up. "I should also like to be permitted to live at home," she said. "Mother keeps me out because of what happened during the 1939 auto show. I was Miss Czecho-Slovakia and she said I got too many phone calls from strangers."

Rudolph Moulik Jr., 16, defending his mother, said his father raised a rumpus because he practiced on his trombone at home.

"I don't blame him," said Judge Nelson. He denied the injunction pending an attempt at reconciliation.

President's Mother Loses Heirloom Diamond Ring

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, mother of the President, lost an heirloom diamond ring the night she attended one of the President's birthday balls here to raise funds to fight infantile paralysis, it became known today. The ring had two stones, set diagonally in yellow gold. She prized it because it was made from two diamond earrings left to her by Miss Sara Delano, the aunt for whom she was named.

BIG SNOW CRUISER ALL TUNED UP FOR ANTARCTIC SPIN

The Armour Institute Research Foundation was informed yesterday that its huge antarctic snow cruiser was being put into condition to start its first trip into the antarctic wastes within a few days. The message was radioed by short wave from the cruiser to interior department officials in Washington, D. C. They sent the message here.

Dr. F. A. Wade, who will head the United States antarctic service scientific expedition into Antarctica, stated that the tail tire compartment cut from the cruiser in Boston so it would fit aboard Admiral Richard Byrd's ship, North Star, was being welded on again. The work will be completed by the end of this week, and the cruiser will be ready to start.

Spares Used for Dual Wheels.

Dr. Wade said the two spare tires had been mounted beside the front tires for a dual wheel arrangement, giving better traction. The initial run of the cruiser will be in a southeasterly direction.

The cruiser is now camped on the Ross ice barrier a quarter of a mile from West base, near Little America. It is expected that the five passenger Beechcraft airplane carried on the top deck of the cruiser will be used within the next day or two to survey the initial stages of the route the cruiser is to take.

Dr. Wade reported that one hop already had been made to obtain an aerial photographic survey of the Bay of Whales area, and another flight had been made into the upper atmosphere to measure cosmic rays.

Poulter Approves Plans.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter of Armour institute, who piloted the cruiser from Chicago to Boston and was at the controls on its short run to the present antarctic base, is satisfied that it is prepared fo. its land cruise. He is aboard the North Star, headed back toward Valparaiso, Chile, and will return to Chicago by plane from that city. Dr. Wade and the government service explorers are alone with the cruiser now.

Admiral Byrd is also returning on the North Star, but it is still unknown whether he will come back to the United States or will accompany the ship on its return to Antarctica to establish a base on the southeast side of the icy continent.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, Feb. 7 (AP).—An earthquake shook San Salvador this morning but no damage was reported. The quake followed earth shocks in northern Salvador yesterday.

Shocks Recorded in America.

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 7 (AP).—The seismological laboratory of the California Institute of Technology recorded two earth shocks. The quake, at a distance estimated at 3,500 miles in an undetermined direction, would have been strong enough to have caused damage in a thickly populated area the laboratory said.

FAMOUS DIRECTIONS TO RELIEVE PAINFUL SYMPTOMS OF COLDS FAST

Note Easy Steps in Pictures ...Be Sure to get quick-acting BAYER Aspirin

1. To relieve headache, body discomfort and aches, take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. For sore throat from cold, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in ⅓ glass of water and gargle. Pain, rawness are eased in a short time.

3. Check temperature. If you have a fever and temperature does not go down—if throat pain is not quickly relieved, call your doctor.

Sore throat from colds also eased in a hurry! No strong medicines to upset system.

Don't wait if you even suspect you are catching a cold. At the first sign, faithfully follow the directions in the pictures above—the simplest and among the most effective methods known to modern science.

See Your Doctor. Even though he may wholeheartedly approve using Bayer Aspirin to relieve painful symptoms, you should not fail to see your family physician, because many colds may lead to serious consequences. Largely with medical approval, this simple scientific method of relief has taken the place of old-fashioned "shot-gun" medicine for colds, which may upset the system, or have little or no effect. Literally millions have adopted it.

Try this way. You will say it is unequalled, we are sure. When you buy, however, be sure you are not given a substitute for the fast-acting Bayer product you want. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by the full name, not for just "aspirin". And see that you get it.

Front Views and Profiles

Tale from a Book Peddler's Pack.

Nathaniel Cowen is a Chicago bookseller who once was on La Salle street. In 1929, just before the big bust, he sold out and took a trip around the world. When he returned he hit La Salle street again, made some money, and again crossed the ocean. This time he established a café on the Riviera, specializing in hamburgers, hot dogs, bacon and eggs, and similar American dishes. It was fun for a time, but he grew tired of it and returned to America and Chicago with the idea of going into the book business.

* * *

The book business isn't learned in a day, bookmen will tell you. One day the agent of a busy lawyer, whose hobby and relaxation is semantics, dropped in to buy a book. The busy lawyer, Willard King, partner of Bibliophile Lessing Rosenwald, read a paper last year on semantics before the Chicago Literary club. His next paper—perhaps he already had given it—was to be on "meiosis." So when his agent dropped in to ask Mr. Cowen if he had any books on meiosis he started to look in the medical section.

It's a favorite story of Chicago bookmen.

Child's Natural Interests Find Many Outlets

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I have been advising you to watch your child and discover what holds his attention most; to see what his interests are and supply the materials he needs for giving expression to those interests. Here are two children whose mothers did that very thing.

One child was a boy who was enthralled by trains. For years play, art, craft, and reading were built about this interest in locomotives. Blocks became cars, engines, and stations. Books were read about them, at first simple, gradually becoming quite technical. Observation of new detail in pistons, driving rods, and types of locomotives were registered in drawing and painting. With playmates [and in school, sometimes] a group carried out a railroad play project which became quite developed and elaborate.

The other was a girl who from early childhood loved every living thing.

Her drawing recorded the creatures she saw and watched—the markings and structure of green and bull and pickerel frogs, the brilliant color and valiant poses of the kingfisher, and the ugly head of the snapping turtle.

This naturalist of zoölogical interest found other outlets, so that scarcely ever did an hour hang heavy on this child's hands. Clay turned into a whale or the model of a snake's mouth. Books collected thick and fast as sources of information. Magazines were combed for articles, and newspapers were found to yield up items of interest. Catalogs were searched for supplies. Geography came alive as atlases were used for locating the distribution of various animals.

Coatlike Dress for Spring

WOMAN'S AND MISS' COAT.

Do you want a coat dress ensemble for spring? With this pattern you can have what "looks" like one. This frock gives the illusion of consisting of an underdress with contrasting coat, but it really is a one-piece dress with inserts at bodice and skirt. The sketches illustrate how attractive this costume is, especially for the woman with figure problems. All the lines are long and slenderizing, in spite of shirring, softness, and feminine detail. This is a dress which you will enjoy wearing, and it should be made of sheer woolen with crêpe contrasting, or in schemes of plain and printed crêpe.

Style No. 3190 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material; 1 yard of 39 inch contrasting for version with long, fitted sleeves.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Cites Coronary Ills as Destroyer of Our Leaders

Organized medicine has come to realize the increasing importance of coronary disease because statistics reveal that this form of heart disease usually attacks the executive and professional type of man, thereby depriving the community of its most valued leaders.

This description of the problem of coronary disease—the stoppage by a blood clot of the two arteries supplying the heart—was given last night by Dr. John Herr Musser of Tulane university. He spoke at the annual meeting of the Chicago Heart association in the Chicago Woman's club.

The Chicago Medical society for the first time also took part with the Heart association in a joint meeting. Dr. N. S. Davis III., president of the society, presided.

Dr. Musser paid honor to Dr. James B. Herrick, honorary president of the association, as the first American physician to recognize the importance of coronary occlusion [stoppage of the coronary arteries]. Dr. Herrick published a paper on this subject in 1912.

"There is almost no evidence to show that manual labor causes coronary disease," Dr. Musser said. "It often follows diabetes, and may be caused by overeating, emotional strain, or blood pressure changes. High blood pressure may be caused by mental strain. There is very little evidence that alcohol, tea, or coffee is a cause, but some to show the excessive use of tobacco may be.

"In a study of 145 cases of coronary disease deaths we found 111 cases were men, mostly of the professional and executive type. Life insurance figures place the ratio at 16 men to 3 women. But in England doctors say 95 per cent of the cases are men.

"The average age at which it strikes is 57.8 years. There is only one record of a man of 20, and only 3 of men under 40. In addition to causing many deaths it also cripples a large number."

Dr. Musser said the medical profession was taking a greater interest in the problem now after realizing that mental strain is one of the principal causes of the disease. Heart diseases of all kinds, he said, is one of the greatest causes of death. In Chicago alone it accounts for one-third of all deaths.

The Housewife

A popular help to the woman who likes to see her handsome pieces of silver gleaming like new is a product that protects them from quick tarnishing. It is a liquid which you apply to silver coffee sets, tea sets, etc., after they have been cleaned and polished. It is harmless and will keep the silver looking bright until the next washing. The coating dissolves when the pieces are immersed in hot water. EDITH WEIGLE.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is an important tenet of every good bidding system that no trump bids should be avoided when one partner has a singleton in the other's suit. Like all other principles, however, there is such a thing as overdoing the observance. Sometimes a no trump response with a singleton of partner's suit will be found to be the lesser of two evils, and in such cases it is best not to be too orthodox.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

This remarkable series of bids was nothing more than a frantic effort to avoid bidding no trump with a singleton of partner's bid. The practical result of this foolishness was to place the final three no trump contract in the wrong hand and, at the same time, to dissuade West from making a lead that would have been really advantageous to declarer, namely, a heart.

With a heart bid on his right and a raise on his left, West decided to lead thru the other unsupported major suit, and opened the four of spades. Dummy's jack was played, covered by East's queen, and won by declarer's ace.

With only one entry, the heart king, left in his hand, declarer never could hope to establish the diamond suit, and, therefore, tried to make the best of a bad bargain by going after dummy's clubs. By finessing the king he managed to establish three club tricks which, with three hearts, one spade, and one diamond, held the contract to a one trick penalty.

Declarer could have made things very difficult for the defense by allowing the queen of spades to hold the first trick, had he known that the king also was in the East hand. Only a club switch by East, away from the jack, could have defeated the contract with this plan of play, since on any other defense the diamond suit could have been established for four tricks.

Had the bidding gone properly, however, with North bidding one no trump as the lesser evil over South's one diamond bid, and had North become the final declarer at three no trump, there would have been very little trouble in making the contract. East would be sure to open a spade and there would be no difficulty in establishing the diamond suit by proper play.

It must be noted in this connection that "proper play" would involve the lead of the diamond queen to be overtaken by dummy's king, unless the ace went up second hand. Only in this way could dummy's entries be preserved.

New 3 Piece Outfits Win Style Acclaim

BY REA SEEGER.

Promoted somewhat contradictorily as a duet, one of the best town outfits of the early season really is a three piece assortment, triplets in color and material. Slim and distinctive, these are the outfits you crave as a between season pickup for dark winter wardrobes. One outfit has a flared short skirt in men's wear flannel. A tailored popcorn white pique blouse has silver metal flat buttons. A tailored long sleeved jacket is worn over the blouse. For additional color there is a white dotted scarlet wraparound hat, a matching cummerbund belt, and a tiny hanky in the chest pocket. All this for a sum around $25, and you may choose from either banker's gray or dark navy blue. It's the snappiest ensemble yet unpacked and it will revive your winter clothes.

The other triplet costs a little less money but offers a wider assortment of colors, luscious new shades and some very unusual possibilities for contrast. The material is a soft thin wool with a very fine basket weave texture. There's the inevitable four gored flared skirt and an alternate flat pleated-all-the-way round model. The tops are modified cardigans with a new length for the sleeve [ending considerably below the elbow] and with two pinch tucks for smooth fitting. Under the cardigan top [it fits in at the waistline] is a peasant type button down the back underblouse with short sleeves. The neckline is simply gathered into a high round band. Or you can buy a white coin dotted jacket with a background color to match the skirt. . . . this jacket with long sleeves.

The colors are good. . . . a warm dove gray with raspberry, two lovely shades of almond green and citron. The cardigan tops have a band of contrasting colored wool around the edge to match the skirt, and the underblouses also come in the same color range ready for mixing or matching.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Eye shadow serves two purposes. It gives the lids an infinitesmal coating of oil, which the skin there needs, and its effect in flattering the eyes cannot be overestimated. Choose the shade with care, apply the paste sparingly, and you'll soon use it routinely when you make up.

Where eye shadow is concerned women seem to be divided into two classes—those who use it unskillfully and those who are scared to death to try it at all.

Both groups are missing an awfully good bet. Eye shadow, deftly applied and in a well chosen shade, can do wonders for the feminine face. It softens the eyes, intensifies or dramatizes their color, and ties in subtly with the color of the costume.

A bit of sheen on the eyelids is all to the good. And when this sheen has delicate shading of a color flattering to the eye the effect can be remarkably beautiful. Properly applied, shadow can give the illusion of better size to the eyes, too.

The average woman's first question about eye shadow is "What color should I wear?" It's like asking what size shoe a woman should wear. The answer, of course, is what best suits her. There used to be hard and fast rules about eye makeup. Brown eyes were dressed up with brown shadow, blue with aqua, and cat's eyes with a green. Now all those rules have been tossed into fashion's wastebasket. Your own clothing PLUS your costume color gives you the key to shade selection.

Experiment with the stuff. Choose a shadow of creamy texture that doesn't pull when it is applied to the lid. Good shadows don't break down into little blobs in the eye creases. If you've never used shadow before and have blue eyes start your experiments with a neutral blue. You may find it perfect; you may find that a certain peacock green is much better.

Delicate purple shadow is almost universally becoming, and the brown eyed might profitably experiment first with that. Lavender blue shadows are natural to most eyes, so that shade is a good starting point.

The thing is to try it—and to use it sparingly. Once you get used to its flattery you'll never go without it—even during the day.

Junior League Plans Contest in Tiny Rooms

BY JUDITH CASS.

A COMPETITION of miniature rooms will be included for a second time in the Chicago Junior league's annual arts and crafts exhibit to be held on May 7 at the Arts club. The competition, new last year, was such a success that members asked to take part in another.

It may be that Mrs. George Silverthorne Jr.'s prize winning miniature room of last spring has inspired the great enthusiasm for room making among the league members. This room has been on view in the clubrooms, where members have admired Mrs. Silverthorne's ingenuity in concocting furnishings out of oddments.

A stunning pair of lamps in her "Country Living Room" are made of inverted sample perfume bottles topped by shades. A standing lamp came from Mrs. Silverthorne's own doll's house of many years ago.

Mrs. William D. Cox, Mrs. Silverthorne, Mrs. Henry L. McIntyre, Mrs. Burke Williamson, Mrs. Stanley Johnson, Mrs. James A. Drain Jr., Miss Marjorie Kimball, and Mrs. Gordon Loud already have requested standard size three-sided boxes in which to build their rooms. The boxes are being made by boys who meet for manual training classes at St. Chrysostom's church.

Mrs. McIntyre is taking a box to Florida with her when she and her mother, Mrs. Robert E. Wheeler, leave for Palm Beach to visit Mrs. Wheeler's sister, Mrs. William Waller, so the room may be Palm Beach in decoration.

Mrs. Johnson will leave on Feb. 20 for a holiday in Havana and may bring back a few ideas for an Havana room.

Glass Exhibit Will Benefit Children's Aid.

The Illinois Children's Home and Aid society will have an interesting and unusual benefit late in April when the Steuben Glass exhibition, designed by 27 well known modern artists, is brought to Chicago. "Twenty-seven Artists in Crystal" is the name of the exhibit, which contains urns, vases, bowls and plates. It will be shown at 900 North Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Robert S. Pirie, president of the woman's board of the society, is to be in charge of the exhibition. Among the artists who designed a piece for the collection are Thomas Benton, John Steuart Curry, Salvador Dali, Raoul Dufy, André Derain, Marie Laurencin, Grant Wood, Henri Matisse, Pavel Tchelitchew and Georgia O'Keeffe.

Gay Evening at Sea Island.

Chicagoans who are enjoying a holiday at Sea Island will have a gay evening tonight. Many dinner and theater parties have been planned for a performance of "Gone With the Wind." Following the movie there will be a housewarming in three new clubrooms that are being opened in The Cloister.

Seldon F. White of Barrington, who goes to Sea Island every winter, is among those entertaining at dinner and theater parties.

Mrs. Chester D. Tripp is leaving for Sea Island right after Feb. 20, the day that she opens her Evanston home for a meeting of the Evanston board of Northwestern University settlement. The board is giving its annual card party and fashion show on April 8 at the Country Club of Evanston. The party usually is given on Easter Monday, but the date was changed because of the early Easter, March 24.

On her way south Mrs. Tripp will stop at Charlottesville, Va., to visit

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

The Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 7.—At the Basil Rathbone party Charlie Chaplin tells Leopold Stokowski the scene in which Hitler is sitting on top of the world. . . . Chaplin plays the part of the dictator and it is a comedy sequence. . . . Behind or over the scene Chaplin wants to use Lohengrin's "Wedding March" for comedy contrast and he asks Stokowski if he will make the arrangement.

Charlie Chaplin.

Stokowski suggests that the music should be arranged for comedy effects. . . . Chaplin does not think so, on the grounds that comedy scenes should be played to straight music.

I remember 'way back when Chaplin would have settled for a whistle he swallowed at a lawn party.

"Green Hell," a flicker which is getting panned by critics all over the country, is the picture that won Harry Edington the presidency of RKO.

At the Rathbone party your correspondent was seated between Norma Shearer and Olivia de Havilland, and next to Olivia was David Selznick. . . . "You ought to thank Ed very deeply, Dave," said Norma. "He was the one who persuaded me not to play Scarlett O'Hara." . . . Said Selznick: "I believe you would have been wonderful, Norma, in the sweeter parts of the story; not fickle enough or mean enough in the other part." . . . I suggested to Selznick, in all deference to Vivien Leigh's grand performance, that, judged by her work in "Jezebel," the ideal Scarlett would have been Bette Davis. . . . He disagreed, but agreed with this column's contention that Olivia de Havilland's Melanie was the key to the entire picture.

Errol Flynn's one horse stable, a 3 year old filly tagged Play Talk, is about ready to hit the winner's circle. . . . Paulette Goddard posing with I. J. Fox's $11,000 platina fox for the camera men. . . . Jack Sarnoff in the background, as supervisor. . . . At the Troc every dancer leaves the floor to watch Mae Murray and her partner do "The Merry Widow Waltz." . . . Girls in the room exclaiming at the shapely feet and legs of Mae.

Vaudeville houses offering $3,500 a week for Cesar Romero, who is notter than a pistol. . . . Theater managers explain it on the grounds that he is not married, never has been in a scandal, and yet escorts all of the glamor girls.

Tommy Manville explains, in his Liberty article, that it was because I called him "The No. 1 Screwball of the Country" that he penned his memoirs. . . . If there were any doubt about the justice of my rating, his memoirs should settle it.

Newsreel commentators' flippancies about girls in bathing beauty sequences have reached that point where they are offensive. . . . The newsreel bosses should crack down on their hired hands, or else they'll develop their own censorship problem. . . . Jack [21] Kriendler making the Hollywood rounds with Francis T. Hunter and Eddie Moran. . . . Hunter's daughter is pretty enough to get screen jobs. . . . None of the younger players more attractive than June Lang. . . . Helen Wood and Harry Crocker engaged in a sweeping Viennese waltz at Ciro's.

Max Steuer with the Ralph Blums at the Guy Lombardo opening at Cocoanut Grove. . . . Bands come and go but the Lombardo band continues to rank high. . . . I liked Ouida Rathbone's clever decorations in honor of Arthur Rubenstein and Stokowski. . . . For Rubenstein, Polish artist, the walls were covered with cellophane, inscribed with the notes of the polonaise which the Warsaw radio station continued to play at intervals during the siege of the doomed city. . . . Miniature glass pianos served as flower vases on the tables.

The young lady returned from school yesterday with a joke. . . . "Do you know the story of the two strawberries?" she asked. . . . We told her no. . . . "Their father got in a jam."

"Pinocchio," "Young Tom Edison," "My Little Chickadee," "Northwest Passage" and "Vigil in the Night" all previewed this week out here.

Director Norman Taurog, who turned out "Boys' Town," also clicks with "Broadway Melody" and "Young Tom Edison." . . . Taurog, genial dumpling of a man, started in show business playing the part of the office boy in "Potash and Perlmutter" on the Broadway stage.

Joan Blondell was laid up for four days because of crystals shot into her eyes to produce flicker tears.

Are You Tall and 'Rangy'? Heed Posture

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Large women so often are heard bemoaning the fact that they are not like the miniature presentations of the sex; anyway, not over 5 feet 5 and lightboned and sinewy. We often hear them at it.

Bemoaning the idiosyncrasies of the human frame is the idlest of occupations. You can't shrink big girls nor can you elongate the tiny ones who, too, are heard to criticize their size. Wishful thinking isn't an intelligent part of today's program. You "takes what you got" and you do things with what you have. The large woman can always think of herself as Junoesque and then go ahead and strive to be it in all its graces.

The large woman has to think longer and more carefully of the lines of her dress, the materials used, avoiding large patterned prints and wide running stripes and big polka dots. Softness of material is her best bet with little or no pattern in the goods at all. Her shoulders and hips often may be slenderized with the disposal of shoulder padding and straight lines of simplest effect applied to the hipline.

The real quality of the large woman, however, is determined not only by her superb posture but by her melodious vocal chords. A loud, booming voice in a large woman somehow takes on greater magnitude. It can be a deep contralto tone and often is, but a controled one, especially rich in texture and softness.

Tone Colorings Mark Concert by Mitropoulos

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Dimitri Mitropoulos, the much publicized Greek conductor, brought his Minneapolis Symphony orchestra into Orchestra hall last night for a benefit concert sponsored by Chicago's Greek-Americans. The program offered two seldom heard works—the Rachmaninoff third symphony and Dukas' "La Péri"—as well as such standard music as the second "Leonore" overture of Beethoven and excerpts from the third act of Wagner's "Die Meistersinger."

The performance as a whole was arresting by reason of the vividness of the orchestra's tone colorings, the striking contours of its phrases, and the restless arm and hand gestures and body motions of its conductor.

These tone colorings were of a splendor calculated to dazzle the most experienced listener. Good examples were the searching quality which the strings achieved in those big rueful themes of the Rachmaninoff, and the confidence and mobility which the brasses brought to the chorale melody in the Wagner. Phrases were crisp, urgent and provocative.

Mr. Mitropoulos' style seemed less extreme than last year, and there is no doubt but that he allows the music to take a smoother course. Perhaps the gestures are natural, and it might wrench the Mitropoulos psyche as much to be compelled to conduct like Frederick Stock as it would to wrench the Stock psyche to be asked to adopt the Mitropoulos style.

No people were more completely lost than were Christ's disciples after his crucifixion. Then they found their way so completely that they were called 'the men of the way,' the first name ever given to Christians. Their victorious lives began when they chose Christ's way and followed it." From Bishop Henry Wise Hobson's Ash Wednesday sermon yesterday at the Harris theater.

SIDNEY MILLER RECITAL

A sizable audience gathered in Kimball hall last night to hear a violin recital by Sidney Miller. Two major works, the Vitali Chaconne and Saint-Saëns' concerto in B minor, and two groups of short pieces comprised the program. Jacob Hanneman supplied sympathetic accompaniments.

Mr. Miller acquitted himself well on the whole, combining an ample tone with a generally proficient technique. All the fast portions of the music came off excellently due to the vigor of his attacks and phrasing and to neat accentuation. The slower pieces, notably the Chaconne, were rhythmically resless and hurried. Thruout the program one wished for a single phrase delivered with serene precision. R. E.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

On the eve of her marriage, Cynthia is wrongly sentenced to prison, the scapegoat of Rory Clarke. At Honebyker, Cynthia's childhood playmate, Bessie Stockley, is a prison wardress. The two girls change places and identities—and in two weeks' of freedom, Cynthia marries Michael Alloway without telling him of her disgrace. After the honeymoon, Cynthia persuades Michael to go back to his job in Malta without her and she returns to prison. There she discovers she is going to have a baby. Cynthia breaks prison. Explaining her disappearance as a lapse of memory, Cynthia goes to stay with Michael's mother and sister Marion at Cloutleigh. Rory Clarke trails her there and blackmails her. Scotland Yard connects Cynthia with Rory Clarke. Detective Stevens seeks to interview Cynthia and arouses Marion's suspicions. Cynthia attempts to fly to Malta to join Michael, but is arrested at the airport. Her marriage on a date when she was supposed to be in prison clears her. She goes to Malta. While Bessie is applying for a job from Marion, Detective Stevens calls. He makes a date with Bessie. Realizing Stevens is close to the truth, Bessie sends a telegram of warning to Cynthia. Marion forces Bessie to confess the truth about Cynthia.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

CHECKING UP.

"There is a passenger," Cynthia announced. A couple of minutes later a car could be seen coming out of the aerodrome onto the main road for Valetta.

Then unexpectedly it turned by the side road that led to the bungalow.

The car stopped a dozen feet from where they were sitting. Cynthia thought that the outline of the passenger was familiar even before he stepped out. Then she recognized him as Detective-Inspector Rason.

Her mouth went dry and she gripped the sides of her chair. The next instant she had commanded herself again, but Michael, sensitively awake to her every change of mood, was leaning anxiously toward her.

"What is it, darling? Cold? Should we go in?"

"I'm almost certain that man coming here—yes, he is coming here—is the detective who made all that ridiculous bother when I was leaving England."

"Is he, by Jove!" Michael stood up, looking very large and capable. "Well, he won't bother you here, I assure you. I'll——"

"Wait, Michael! He was personally courteous enough. Let's hear what he wants with me."

They watched the detective approach. If Rason felt it an ordeal he did not show it.

"Mr. Alloway, I think?" he said. "And Mrs. Alloway."

"How do you do! I remember you quite well," said Cynthia. "Michael, this is Detective-Inspector Rason. I told you about him—he was in charge of all those proceedings at Scotland Yard."

"O, was he!" returned Michael, none too pleasantly. "I understood the certificate you were given covered any further—er—misunderstanding."

"And so it does," agreed Rason, so amiably that Michael unbent in spite of himself and offered his guest a drink. Rason accepted it and talked easily of his trip. Only gradually did he come to his point.

"As a matter of fact, Mrs. Alloway, I've come about a matter which has arisen—indirectly, of course—out of the unfortunate mistake we made in regard to yourself. It sounds absurd, but there's a chance in a million that you can help us to put our finger on the real criminal."

Michael Alloway looked politely interested. Cynthia laughed nervously. "I don't think I've ever seen a real criminal."

"Not knowingly, perhaps." Rason smiled just as disarmingly while he produced a pocket case from which he took a photograph. "I've flown all the way from London, Mrs. Alloway," he said impressively, "to ask you whether you recognize that man." The photograph was of Rory Clarke as Stainham.

Michael, looking over his wife's shoulder, exclaimed:

"That face is familiar to me, anyhow. Now where——?"

Mechanically Rason put a second photo on top of the first.

"Rory Clarke!" said Michael promptly. "Of course! I was at school with him—and he hasn't changed much either. He was captain of cricket."

"You've not seen him since?"

"No. Read about him, tho. He recently got into some sort of mess, didn't he?"

Rason had got back into his stride.

"A considerable mess. He and a girl called Clara Brown."

"She's the escaped convict I was mistaken for," explained Cynthia, as Michael looked blank.

"Really! I didn't understand that. You didn't tell me you were supposed to be a confederate of Rory Clarke's, Cynthia!" Michael sounded quite reproachful.

"How could I guess you knew him, dear?"

And then she remembered. But the slip had been made.

"O, but we were talking about him at our wedding breakfast. Surely you remember about Clara Brown, too. Wasn't it Marion who said——?"

"I was far too busy realizing I was married to listen to what anybody said," cut in Cynthia with desperate gaiety. "Anyway, I agree that some very curious coincidences attend the paths of Rory Clarke and Clara Brown."

"Very curious indeed!" agreed Rason. She glanced at him, but he was putting away the photos and taking out a notebook. When he looked up at her his expression was merely friendly. He turned to Michael.

"You've helped me so considerably, sir," he said, "that I feel I'm trespassing on your kindness if I ask permission to check up, with Mrs. Alloway's help, on just one more small matter."

"I'm perfectly willing to help you in any way I can, Mr. Rason," said Cynthia.

"That's very generous. Well, now, we never altogether drop a case, you know, however great fools we make of ourselves over it to start with. Our present job is to examine every feature of Clara Brown's escape. You may have read that she left Honebyker prison quite openly, disguised as a wardress. So we're checking up very carefully on the records of the wardresses at Honebyker at the time of the escape."

A pulse began to beat in Cynthia's throat.

"We've found nothing to help us so far," went on Rason with a great show of frankness. But, nothing daunted, we're now following up our inquiries about wardresses transferred from Honebyker before the escape. Amongst these—and here's yet another coincidence, Mr. Alloway—is Bessie Stockley, daughter of the one time head gardener to Sir John Brentiford, Mrs. Alloway's father."

"Well, I'm blessed!"—and Michael burst into joyous uncontroled laughter.

Cynthia allowed herself to contribute a smile.

"It is odd, isn't it? Or, at least, it all seems odd now. Dear Bessie! She and I had tea together after you let me leave that horrible office of yours the other day. She told me she'd had to resign from the service. The work didn't suit her."

"That is so," agreed Rason, consulting a notebook. Almost absently he added: "That was the last time you saw her, you say. And before that you had not seen her for nearly a year, I believe?"

But Cynthia was triumphantly ready for him.

"O, indeed I had! She was at our wedding in August. August the twenty-third."

Michael sobered and looked surprised.

"At our wedding?" he repeated. "I don't remember any one of that name."

"O, she didn't come to the breakfast! But she was in the church, right at the back."

"But you're sure she was there, Mrs. Alloway?"

"Quite," drawled Cynthia.

They exchanged a level look. And Cynthia suddenly understood that this man did not believe her; never had believed a word she said. But so long as he could not prove that she had lied he was powerless, and he knew it.

Rason put away his notebook and stood up. From his courteous leave-taking even Cynthia could not guess that he had just suffered one of the keenest disappointments of his career.

Michael saw him down to his car.

Good Morning!

"The Mad Empress" is an anemic copy of "Juarez."

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Here's an argument for raw spinach as a salad vegetable: It contains as much vitamin C as does orange juice, weight for weight.

Cook spinach and it loses a little of its vitamin value but, provided you don't overcook it, this fact matters little, for one eats enough more of cooked spinach to make up a healthful amount of vitamin C.

Spinach should be cooked in only the water which clings to the leaves, and for as short a time as possible. It is almost the only green vegetable which may be cooked by steaming, without appreciable loss of food value, flavor, or appearance.

Fresh cooked spinach needs only butter, salt, and pepper to make it palatable. Bacon drippings and a little vinegar or lemon juice sometimes are used for seasoning.

The canned vegetable is necessarily limp in texture and not as attractive as the fresh-cooked spinach, but it is just as nutritious, and in a form more convenient to use for many spinach dishes. Spinach ring may be made either from fresh-cooked or canned spinach. The other recipes in today's column were developed for canned spinach.

Spinach Ring.

[Serves Six.]

2 cups chopped cooked or canned spinach
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups thick white sauce
½ cup soft bread crumbs
2 eggs, separated
Salt, pepper

Cook the onion in the butter for several minutes. Add spinach, sauce, crumbs, and egg yolks, which have been slightly beaten. Mix well and add salt and pepper as necessary. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into the spinach mixture. Turn into a greased ring mold, place the mold in a pan of hot water, and bake at 375 degrees for half an hour, or until the ring is firm. Turn out and fill center with whipped potatoes, creamed potatoes, creamed meat or fish [shrimps, especially].

[Thick white sauce, in case you've forgotten, calls for 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter, and ¼ teaspoon salt to the cup of milk.]

Spinach with Sautéed Crusts.

[Serves Five.]

1 No. 2 can spinach
2 tablespoons butter
¾ teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
Salt, pepper
5 slices bread, cubed and browned in butter or bacon drippings

Heat spinach. Drain, saving liquid for soup or sauce at a later meal. Add butter, mustard, lemon juice, and salt and pepper to taste. Place in greased baking dish. Top with cubed and sautéed bread. Place in a 375 degree oven until hot and serve at once.

Egg and Spinach Casserole.

[Serves Six.]

2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 No. 2½ can spinach
3 bouillon cubes
2 hard cooked eggs
Cracker crumbs and grated cheese

Melt butter and brown the onion in it. Add flour and blend. Drain spinach. Heat juice to boiling and dissolve bouillon cubes in it. Add the hot liquid gradually to flour and butter. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Add chopped spinach. Place layer of spinach in greased casserole and top with sliced egg. Add a second layer of spinach. Top with fine buttered crumbs and grated cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

Crocheted Hug-Me-Tight

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

The unusual, crocheted hug-me-tight is made in one triangular piece and joined. That is all there is to creating one of these warm and comfortable jackets. A few balls of Shetland floss, the easy double crochet stitch, and shell trimming are the requirements for completing the hug-me-tight. The instructions include directions for crocheting medium and large sizes.

For crocheting instructions for the hug-me-tight, No. X-395, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Wooden Horses Await Guests at Annual Plush Horse Ball

The annual plush horse ball of the Town and Country Equestrian association will be held Saturday night in the Grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman. Any one arriving on a horse will have to check his mount at the door, but Herbert J. Lorber, president of the association, promised as substitutes a dozen wooden horses.

These pine knotted steeds will be stationed around the ballroom so that any of the guests seized with a sudden yearning for a canter may hop aboard and rock away. Cries of "Yoicks!" are optional, depending on the condition of the subject, as Mr. Lorber explains.

More than 1,000 members of the association and their friends are expected to attend the ball. A floor show will be provided.

Recreation Conference.

Committees to plan Chicago's sixth annual recreation conference were appointed yesterday by Dr. Philip L. Seman, chairman of the Chicago Recreation commission. The conference will be held next November. Dr. Arthur J. Todd, Northwestern university sociologist, will be the conference chairman.

Unselfishness Overdone May Ruin Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate, Co., Inc.]

A certain woman was heard to say that the ambition of her life was to own one dozen pairs of very fine silk stockings. You know how it is. We all have one pet wish. Yours might be for a dozen pairs of shoes. Another woman's for a drawer full of luscious lingerie. The idea provides conversation. It provided conversation for our woman of the silk stockings dream one day in the presence of her husband.

A little time elapsed. The man saved and scrimped and presently came home one recent Saturday with a dozen pairs of fine silk stockings. What happened? The poor man nearly lost his house and home. The woman went on the warpath. Such extravagance. Such idiocy. He must be covering up something. The very idea. And so forth and so on.

No wonder the poor, befuddled man cried, as his brothers have done before: "Ingratitude, thy name is woman!"

"She said she hated her service weight stockings. Hating having always to wear them. I only wanted once to give her something I thought she'd really love to have."

Psychologists advise that there comes a time in the life of a man when a smart wife will grant him the indulgence of a magnificently generous act, even tho she may think he is showing off a bit. Men understand better than do women how such an act will bolster a possible sagging ego. It gives a sense of big accomplishment, of being that generous provider the average man wants to be but cannot always be under the economical strain.

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR

At present I am doing a great deal of traveling around the country, hardly stopping long enough for my clean shirts to catch up with me. Wherever I go, I dine well and fulsomely. Yet the sight of a home-cooked meal would be as welcome to these eyes as a five-year Hollywood contract to a glamour girl. The mere thought of a home-cooked meal makes me wonder why men ever leave home, but it does tell me why they hurry back again.

George Rector

PRESTO! HAM BUNNIES

There is no trick at all to producing Ham Bunnies out of an apparently empty pantry. They are a combination of simplified Welsh rabbit, Wilson's Tender Made Ham, sliced cold, and a can of green asparagus tips.

Cut the ham in thin, whole slices. Wrap up 3 or 4 stalks of asparagus in each, fastening with a cocktail pick. Broil for a few minutes under the flame. Place on a slice of toast or English muffin and cover with a rich cheese sauce, made with 1 package of Wilson's Certified American Cheese. Sprinkle with paprika.

HAVE A HEART?

A molded, chicken-MOR salad, made in small heart-shaped molds is my suggestion for a simple Valentine's Day luncheon or buffet supper dish.

Chicken-MOR Salad

½ cup MOR, finely diced
3½-oz. Wilson's Certified Boned Chicken, shredded
1 pint jar Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise.
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped pimento
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Salt and paprika to taste
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water

Soak gelatin in water for 5 minutes. Then place over hot water to dissolve. Combine with mayonnaise and add other ingredients. Chill. Unmold on bed of lettuce. Garnish each mold with a heart-shaped piece of pimento. Serves 6.

Prelude the meal with tomato juice, accompany it with a crisp green salad, and have hot baked cinnamon apples as a postlude.

SAUSAGE CASSEROLE TRIO

SOUTH SIDE GOLDEN GLOVE FINALS TONIGHT

MARQUETTE FIVE TRIUMPHS OVER CHICAGO, 41-29

Bobby Deneen Stars with 20 Points.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7 [Special].—A late scoring splurge, sparked by Bobby Deneen, the Harvard, Ill., senior forward, enabled the Marquette university basketball team to defeat the University of Chicago, 41 to 29, tonight. It was Marquette's sixteenth consecutive victory in the home gymnasium over a three year span.

Seven of Deneen's 20 points came in less than a minute midway thru the last half and broke up what had been a tight ball game. Ralph Amsden, Marquette center, was next high for his team with 9 points, while Joe Stampf, Chicago center, led the Maroons with 9.

Maroons Make It a Game.

Fast and close in its early minutes, the game found Marquette taking the lead first on Deneen's long shot and his short try to make it 4 to 0. Two baskets by Stampf keyed a Chicago spurt and the Maroons soon went to the front, 8 to 7.

The lead quickly changed hands twice as Deneen and Lounsbury tallied for their teams, but Staffeld's long arc and a pair of followups by McDonald enabled Marquette to rally and take a 20 to 13 lead at the half.

Chicago cut Marquette's lead to 3 points in the second half before Deneen started the winning assault.

N. U. MEETS BUTLER

Northwestern's basketball team will resume its schedule after a two weeks' layoff by meeting Butler in Indianapolis tonight. The Wildcats will seek to snap a string of three defeats suffered at the hands of Ohio State, Marquette, and Notre Dame. The game will serve as a tuneup for Northwestern's resumption of activity in the Big Ten, the Purple being scheduled to meet Michigan in Patten gym Saturday night.

FRED MARBERRY QUITS BASEBALL FOR GASOLINE

Corsicana, Tex., Feb. 7 (AP).—Fred Marberry, who has been knocking around baseball for years, said today he was retiring from the game. He will enter the gasoline business here. He pitched for Fort Worth and Dallas in recent years and has played with Little Rock, Jackson, Washington, Detroit, the New York Giants, and Toledo.

DON'T COUNT OUT GODOY (EARLY), SAY THE EXPERTS

He May Last 6, Even 15, with Louis Tomorrow.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—His best punch is his "head to the chin," he's rougher than Tony Galento, and he's always crouching low, covering vital spots and pitching a left hook that starts somewhere near Coney Island.

The name is Arturo Godoy, and he's the Chilean who's going to try the South American way against Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden on Friday night.

He's definitely the one type of fighter Louis doesn't fancy facing. A stand-up guy, as the trade puts it, is easy for the heavyweight champion. A fellow who leads to him is a cinch. But when they bob and weave and crouch until they're on top of the Bomber—he doesn't like it so much, and he exercises considerable caution with such fellows.

Godoy Has His Backers.

That's why a lot of the wise lads are figuring Godoy is even money to answer the bell for the sixth round and has a good chance of being erect when the 15 rounds are over.

There's little chance that Arturo will end Louis' all time record of eight successful championship defenses because Joe admittedly has too much class for him. But Godoy may have just the style to make things interesting for more than the usual brief stand against the champion.

Godoy campaigned in this country a couple of years ago with some success, losing two of twelve starts. He whipped Tony Galento twice, but he was beaten by Roscoe Toles and Natie Mann.

Weill Takes Charge.

At that time he fought under the management of Lou Brix. When Brix released the fighter Al Weill, who had been matchmaker for Madison Square Garden on Godoy's previous invasion, signed him up by cable.

The fact that Godoy is a rough, tough citizen inside those ropes and that he twice defeated Galento, who floored Louis in Yankee stadium last summer before being knocked out, has intrigued the fans. After his last count of the box office Promoter Mike Jacobs figured that Louis' record of never having attracted a gate of less than $100,000 for any of his fights in Madison Square Garden was safe.

Godoy wound up eight weeks of training at Summit, N. J., yesterday, while Louis extended his work to four rounds of boxing today. Godoy will weigh about 203 pounds, a pound more than the champion expects to carry.

Paychek Next, Says Jacobs.

Promoter Jacobs said tonight that if Louis defeats Godoy, his next title opponent will be Johnny Paychek of Des Moines. Paychek won the Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight championship in 1933.

The fight probably will be held in Madison Square Garden, and, altho no date has been set, it has tentatively been arranged for April 3.

Jacobs previously had said that if the Louis-Paychek fight is held, the Finnish Relief fund would share in the gate.

DIZ AGAIN—THIS TIME HE 'WOWS' A LEGISLATURE

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 7 (AP).—Jerome Herman [Dizzy] Dean, Chicago Cubs pitcher, made his first visit to a legislative chamber today and was cheered to the echo by Mississippi's state representatives.

"I've been most everywhere," the hurler began haltingly from the speaker's dais, "but I want to say first I've never been in one of these places here."

Encouraged by the cheers that followed this admission, Dean told a joke —"That's all you fellows do anyway, isn't it?"—described Mississippi as the most hospitable state he'd ever visited, and turned the gavel back to Speaker Sam Lumpkin.

Dean was here to confer over opening of a baseball school on Feb. 14. Dean, Bob Feller, and Gabby Street are among those on the faculty.

You Can't Win—or Lose—Them All—Loyola Hopes

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mr. Leonard Sachs, who has turned out basketball teams so good that it took the best in the country to prove to him that you can't win 'em all, tomorrow night is hoping to prove the opposite extreme—that you can't lose 'em all. Tomorrow is the occasion of the fourth annual Catholic Youth organization game in the Chicago Stadium, bringing together Mr. Sachs' Loyola university Ramblers against De Paul university's Blue Demons.

And if it can be shown that you can't lose 'em all, Mr. Sachs can't think of a better game for a demonstration than this big battle with De Paul. After all, it would be nice to break a 12 game losing streak at the expense of your favorite foe.

But the Loyola coach, being a realist who has seen De Paul play a bit of basketball in the joint double-headers with Loyola in the Coliseum, admits that all of this is purely wishful thinking. He has no Wibs Kautz, no Mike Novak, no George Hogan or Bill O'Brien this year. This is the quartet who, with this year's captain, George Wenskus, won 21 straight last season before losing to Long Island university in the final game of the Madison Square Garden tournament.

That team was another typical Sachs' product, harking back to the team led by Charles [Feed] Murphy, the same that won 34 consecutive games in a drive that extended thru three seasons. But Sachs, when he looked over this year's team, realized that a famine can follow a feast. He had no seniors back, for Wenskus, the only survivor of last year's great team, is only a junior. Four of the candidates for the team had been only substitutes as high school players. The tallest regular on a team which had to face a number of towering opponents was Vince Graham, who stands 5 feet 11½ inches.

What they have lacked in physical ability the Ramblers have more than made up in fighting spirit, with the result that while they have not won a game since Dec. 15, they have not been overwhelmed in any of the 12 they lost.

Loyola's principal weakness has been at the free throw line.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The west side Golden Gloves novice tournament ended with a spectacular flurry of punches last night in the Madison Athletic club, while the south siders cleared the way for their concluding session tonight in White City.

Sixteen fighters—two in each weight division—were left standing when the last blow was struck in the west sectional eliminations. These boys are the best of a field of 139 novices who began their campaign Monday evening. Here they are:

112 POUNDS.
Clarence Menke, 327 Burkhardt court, and Daniel Holt, Union Park A. C.

118 POUNDS.
James Thomas, Madison A. C., and George Geron, 3936 Madison street.

126 POUNDS.
Mike Romano, 210 West 26th street, and Roger MacLean, 7719 South Lowe avenue.

135 POUNDS.
Od Thomas, C. Y. O., and Carmen Pinotti, Armour Square Park.

147 POUNDS.
Franklin Shephard, Madison A. C., and Mike Markarian, Crane Tech.

160 POUNDS.
Edward Diano, Madison A. C., and Vincent Calzaretto, 124th Field Artillery.

175 POUNDS.
Blase Zorich, C. Y. O., and Ralph Halbrook, Madison A. C.

HEAVYWEIGHTS.
Henry Leslie, J. P. I., and Joseph Semboss, Madison A. C.

The west side survivors now have completed the first stage of their journey along the steep and lengthy Golden Gloves trail. In three consecutive nights of fighting they demonstrated that they have the rudiments of what it takes to be a successful amateur boxer. Being only novices, they lack the polished skill of first rate contestants, but they have proved that they have the courage and the fighting spirit to give or take a battering and possess championship possibilities.

Some Step Up.

Those qualities will be a necessary part of their makeup if they continue their Golden Gloves campaign. Some have so much confidence that they plan to go ahead at once and enter the Chicago open tournament, which will be held in the Coliseum on Feb. 20, 21, and 22. Among them are Thomas, Romano, Pinotti, Shephard, Daino, Calzaretto, and Leslie. They'll find the going much tougher in that event, because they'll be forced to get in the ring with veteran fighters, some of whom have taken Golden Gloves championships in the past.

One of the most thrilling fights on the west side brought together Mike Romano, 210 West 26th street, and Ruben Schexnyder, C. Y. O. featherweight. Few in the large crowd gave Romano a chance against Schexnyder, who had distinguished himself in earlier bouts on Monday and Friday. After losing the first round Romano walked into a right to the jaw in the second which sent him crashing to the canvas.

Mike Comes Up Swinging.

No one thought Romano would be able to beat Referee Phil Collins' count. Mike not only beat the count,

THREE VETERANS HAVE A BIG NIGHT AT CASTING MEET

Hardy Humes Takes First in Unattached Class.

Hardy Humes, Ted Phee, and Russ Gaede, three fishermen who have enjoyed competing in The Tribune casting tournaments for several years, last night repeated previous victories by placing first, second, and third in the event for unattached casters at the Chicago National Boat and Sports show on Navy pier. Humes, who lives at 2106 Ainslie street, scored 71; Phee, 1447 East 66th street, made a 68, and Gaede, Crystal Lake, 64.

Practice Makes Perfect.

Humes won a trophy in The Tribune tournament two years ago, and Phee and Gaede also have awards to show for past triumphs. Humes is one of 45 casters who practices each week in the Ravenswood Methodist church gymnasium, Sunnyside and Hermitage. Several other members of the church organization competed last night and will cast as a group in the five man team competition Sunday afternoon.

Unattached casters have two more evenings in which to compete in the fishermen's event and qualify for Saturday night's finals. Competition will start at 7:30 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night, and casters may sign up before that hour with W. J. Butler, tournament manager, in The Tribune booth.

Hedge Gives Exhibition.

Another large crowd of outdoor fans watched last night's competition and stayed for the demonstration of bait and fly casting by Marvin Hedge, nationally known casting expert. Exhibitors from various resort areas in Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin report that spectator interest is high and that hundreds of show visitors already are selecting the fishing spot for their 1940 vacation.

Purdue Gives Scholarships to 34 Athletes

State law provides for a large number of scholarships at Purdue university, these consisting mainly in a reduction of fees on the basis of prescribed scholastic achievement, the Western conference yesterday revealed in the eighth of a series giving facts on student aid in the Big Ten.

Of the 5,369 men undergraduates at Purdue 623 hold such scholarships, which are administered by the registrar, R. B. Stone. Purdue lists 466 athletes, of whom 34 held scholarship benefits amounting to $2,200.

A university loan committee is maintained, with Dean E. L. Fisher as chairman, for the assistance of any needy student qualifying. Eleven Purdue athletes received loans from funds administered by the committee last year amounting to $1,805.

A widespread program of campus employment has developed at Purdue, with an employment bureau conducted by the office of the dean of men and the athletic department coöperating in the employment of undergraduates for such jobs as ushering, game policing, and field maintenance. A total of 215 athletes held campus jobs last year and earned in aggregate $9,441. This included 54 boys with NYA assignments, who earned $3,707, and 44 program salesmen.

WOMEN ADVANCE TO SEMI-FINALS AT PALM BEACH

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP).—Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., playing the sort of golf with which she won the 1939 national championship, defeated Mrs. R. B. Jarrett of Philadelphia, 6 and 5, today to reach the semi-finals of the Palm Beach women's golf tournament.

Her victory placed her in a match with Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., who eliminated Mrs. Briggs S. Cunningham of Green Farms, Conn., 5 and 3.

Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., had trouble winning from Neoma Copic of Toledo, O., 1 up. Miss Bauer, defending champion in the tournament, had a lead of two holes at the turn, then dropped four in a row, halved another. She recovered to win the final three holes.

Thus she saved a place in the semi-finals tomorrow against Grace Amory of Palm Beach, who scored a 1 up victory over Mrs. William Hockenjos Jr. of Lake Hopatcong, N. J.

FIRESTONE FIVE TRIUMPHS OVER BRUINS, 39 TO 33

Chicago Unable to Hold Early Lead.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Any ideas the Chicago Bruins had about moving into first place in the western division of the National Basketball league last night were dissipated by the 39 to 33 licking the speedy Akron Firestones handed them in the 132d Armory.

The Bruins, however, still retain second place and can move back into first by beating the Sheboygan Redskins in Sheboygan tonight. It is suspected that they will sorely miss, as they did last night, the valuable talents of Eddie Oram, who is still in the Garfield Park hospital recovering from an injury suffered last Saturday night against the Firestones in Akron.

Bruins Take 5 to 0 Lead.

The Bruins last night sailed into a 5 to 0 lead in the opening minutes on baskets by Wibs Kautz and Stan Zadel and a free throw by Elmer Johnson. Thereafter, they led only once, for a few seconds, in the third quarter when Mike Novak tipped in Harold Dembo's missed free throw to make it 22 to 21 for the Bruins.

The Firestones wasted no time in cutting down the Chicagoans' early lead, emerging from the first quarter with a 12 to 6 advantage.

In the second period Novak got going and his 10 points in that session enabled the Bruins to come within a point at the intermission, which ended with the Ohioans leading, 21 to 20.

After Novak sent the Bruins ahead with his early third quarter shot, Paul Nowak, late of Notre Dame, scored on a push shot, but Johnson tied it at 23 to 23 with a free throw. Nowak then delivered on a sleeper toss and Akron was never caught thereafter, taking a 31 to 25 lead going into the final period.

Novak Scores 15 Points.

The Bruins got four points, a basket by Zadel and free throws by Novak and Kautz, but that was as close as they came, Johnny Moir and Jack Ozburn running the count to 39 to 29 before Johnson and Dembo hit.

In the preliminary game Armour Tech won its first victory of the season by defeating George Williams, 34 to 33. Lineups:

CALUMET SENIORS AND ROOSEVELT FIVES TRIUMPH

The Roosevelt juniors and Calumet seniors remained in the running for sectional titles in the Chicago Public High School Basketball league by winning yesterday.

Roosevelt beat Sullivan, 48 to 37, at Sullivan for its sixth victory in seven games in the north section race.

The Calumet seniors rallied in the final quarter to nose out Fenger, 21 to 20, in a south section encounter. Calumet scored eight points in the final period while holding the home club to three to win. It was Calumet's fifth triumph in six games.

Jack Needham continued to set a hot scoring pace by leading the Roosevelt seniors to a 55 to 34 triumph over Sullivan. He tallied 11 baskets and two free throws for 24 points.

The Senn-Amundsen game scheduled for yesterday was postponed to tomorrow afternoon.

Mark Singer Runs the Scale as a Busy Basketball Coach

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

A search for one of the busiest basketball coaches in the Chicago district eventually will lead to Wells High school, where Mark Singer sits at his desk studying game records, schedules, and diagrams. Singer, former college and professional player, coaches Wells' senior and junior quintets, members of the Public School league. In his spare moments he finds time to guide the Spencer Coals girls' team, former National A. A. U. champions.

Singer's three squads are enjoying another successful season. The Wells seniors, champions of the league in 1937, are tied for first place in the west division with five victories and one defeat. The Wells juniors also have triumphed in five out of six contests and share second place with Crane Tech and Tuley. Another slip of paper on Singer's desk reveals the Spencer Coals have scored eighteen consecutive victories.

Even Score with Austin.

Wells' supporters have had designs on the Public School league championship since the team reached the final round of the University of Chicago's annual Christmas week tournament. Wells lost the championship game to Austin, 30 to 27, but the Wells seniors avenged the defeat a few weeks later in a regularly scheduled west section game, 32 to 27. This afternoon Wells' junior and senior teams will meet McKinley's quintets on the latter's court and attempt to continue their marches toward sectional championships.

It was five years ago when Wells opened its doors and appointed Singer as basketball coach. A graduate of Chicago Teachers' college, Singer has played on several Chicago professional quintets. Within two years Singer produced a senior championship team. Wells' supporters still remember three of Singer's brightest pupils, Henry Sachs, now at the University of Illinois, and Bruno Jezerski and Edward Bogdanski, now members of the De Paul university freshman squad.

Lose Trio by Graduation.

Wells suffered its only defeat in league senior competition last week against Crane Tech, 37 to 25. It had entered the game without three star regulars, Cas Killian, forward; George Ruch, center, and Henry Samiec, guard, who were lost by graduation. Despite the loss of the three players Coach Singer and the team are confident they will be in the title playoffs come next month.

The regular senior lineup now is composed of Jim Hoffman and Earl Abraham, forwards; Sol Romanelli and Leonard Chicko, guards, and Erwin Ziesemer, center. Chicko, rated by Singer as one of the league's leading guards, also is captain. Hoffman, who last year played on the junior team, scored eighteen points in his first senior contest against Marshall this season.

Three Big Games Remain.

The junior team, which last year represented the west section with Crane Tech and reached the semi-finals, includes Joe Mroz and Henry Majnowski, forwards; Cas Giesel and Capt. Dick Rempala, guards, and Bill Wieczorek, center.

After the McKinley contests this afternoon, Wells' team will face two more obstacles—meeting Tuley on Feb. 15 and Washburne on Feb. 20. However, Coach Singer has arranged for three other opponents, New Trier on Feb. 16; Fenwick on Feb. 23, and Trinity on Feb. 27.

OPEN NATIONAL CATHOLIC BASKET MEET MARCH 27

The annual National Catholic prep basketball tournament will be held in Loyola university gymnasium March 27 to 31.

The announcement was made yesterday by the Rev. Edward F. Maher, S. J., newly elected director of the meet. Thirty-two of the nation's outstanding quintets will compete for the championship, which last year was won by Central Catholic of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Two Chicago Fives in Tourney.

Father Maher, who succeeds the Rev. John I. Grace, S. J., said only two Chicago teams, winners of the sectional titles in the Catholic league race, will be invited to the tournament this season. Previously, four or more quintets represented Chicago. Runners-up at the end of the league campaign frequently found themselves in the championship bracket as substitutes for out of town teams that had withdrawn from the meet at the last moment.

Applications and invitations will be handled by William J. Schmidt, Loyola academy athletic director and president of the National Catholic High school association, which will convene during the tournament. Father Maher said the first invitation will be extended to Fort Wayne, the defending champions.

Here Are the Affiliates.

Affiliated organizations, the champions of whose tournaments automatically receive invitations include the California Catholic High School league; Association of Oklahoma Catholic leagues; Catholic league of Western New York; Illinois State Catholic tournament; Minnesota State Catholic conference; Iowa Catholic tournament at Davenport; Maryland State tournament; New England Catholic tournament at Lowell, Mass.; New Jersey Parochial State tournament; Pennsylvania tournament at Williamsport; South Dakota tournament at Salem, and the West Virginia Interscholastic Athletic league.

The remaining participants are selected either on their seasonal record or by virtue of having won championships in city, county or sectional races.

Eddie Shore Will Face Hawks Tonight, but in a New Uniform

Edward William Shore, a gent whose name has been synonymous with the Boston Bruins and the National Hockey league for more than 13 seasons, comes to our town again tonight, but not with the Bruins. He will skate onto the Chicago Stadium ice as a member of the New York Americans, the Chicago Blackhawks' foes of the evening. Shore became a member of the ancient Americans' crew on Jan. 25, when he was traded to the New Yorkers in a deal climaxing a long squabble between him and the Boston management.

In the history of the league no other individual has exercised the hold that Shore has on the hockey public. Thruout the league his advent always has been heralded by "The Bruins are coming with Shore," or "Shore and the Bruins are next." The 37 year old defense star's effect on a team is such that since he joined the Americans they have won two, and it was his goal against Detroit Tuesday night which kept the New Yorkers from a shutout.

1,149 Minutes in Penalty Box.

It is fitting that Shore should play his first road game with the Americans in Chicago. Local fans always have given Eddie his share of boos. One night, in the old Coliseum days, he was escorted from the building under police protection. But on an evening in 1934 Chicago fans went into reverse. The game marked Eddie's return after the 16 game suspension meted out to him for his part in the Ace Bailey accident. The Hawk clients rose as one and, on his first entrance, cheered him for five minutes.

Now in his 14th season in the big time, Shore has scored 110 goals and 189 assists for a total of 299 points. He has served a total of 1,149 minutes in the penalty box, the equivalent of more than 19 full games.

The Hawks are more than eager to meet Shore, particularly as an American, for it was he who led the New Yorkers to a 5 to 2 victory over the Chicagoans in Madison Square Garden last Thursday. The Hawks could use a triumph right handily tonight, for tomorrow they must go to Detroit to meet the Wings, who haven't been beaten in their last seven games and who trail the fourth place Hawks by only one game in the league standings.

Two Regulars Ailing.

Following tomorrow's game in Detroit the Hawks will return to meet the New York Rangers, pacemakers of the league this season, on the Stadium ice Sunday night.

The Hawks are in none too handsome shape for the threesome of games facing them in the next four days. Their leading scorer, Cully Dahlstrom, will be lost for all three because of a blood clot in a vein in his right foot, and Doug Bentley still is sufferipg from torn ligaments in his right shoulder, sustained in Toronto last Saturday. To make up for their absence, Ab de Marco has been recalled from the Providence Reds for use as a utility forward.

Reports yesterday that the Hawks will be party to a trade with the Americans, involving Jack Portland, who came to Chicago from Boston, proved interesting, if mysterious, to Owner Frederic McLaughlin, President Bill Tobin, and Manager Paul Thompson. They said that they had had no communication of any kind with Manager Red Dutton of the Americans except that he will have his old boys on the ice at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

DEATH RECALLS ASTOR-GILLESPIE FIGHT OVER RING

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Lawrence Lewis Gillespie, 63 years old, father of Eileen Gillespie, who once was engaged to John Jacob Astor, died at his home today while police were en route there with oxygen tanks in an effort to save his life.

He had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in December, 1938, and was stricken again a few days ago. He was given a blood transfusion yesterday. A native of Chicago, Gillespie was graduated from Harvard in 1898. Besides Eileen, his widow and another daughter, Mrs. Alan T. Schumacher, survive. Funeral services will be held here, with burial in Newport, R. I.

Miss Gillespie's engagement to young Astor was announced in December, 1933. A month later the Junior leaguer's parents announced the engagement had been canceled and Astor subsequently declared the engagement ring, an heirloom he valued at between $100,000 and $250,000, had not been returned to him and he wanted it back. Later Eileen's parents stated the ring was returned after Astor had made a "written apology for his language to their daughter and a retraction of his threats concerning her and her family." The furor continued when Astor denied he had written "threats and insulting language" to the Gillespies, but died down after Astor married Ellen Tuck French.

467 More Get Summonses in City Auto Sticker Drive

City and park police issued summonses yesterday to 467 motorists whose cars lacked 1940 city vehicle tax stickers. The delinquents must appear in the cafeteria branch of the Traffic court or stand trial. Chief Justice John J. Sontesby of the Municipal court reported that 514 motorists paid fines of $2 each on Tuesday for having no new state or city licenses or no safety lane inspection stickers.

Council Notes

The city council yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution urging the United States senate to approve the antilynching bill. The bill has passed the house in Washington. The resolution was introduced by Ald. Earl Dickerson [2d], colored, who called lynching "a great blot upon American democracy."

Ald J. M. Arvey [24th] protested the resolution, declaring: "I approve of the antilynching bill, but I don't think it is the duty of this body to tell Washington what to do on national questions. Friends of mine in congress tell me they laugh when they receive these memorializing resolutions from the Chicago council." Arvey voted with the council for the resolution, however.

The council granted a year's extension to the Illinois Central and Michigan Central railroads on the provision of the 1919 lake front ordinance, which specifies that the lines shall be completely electrified within the city by Feb. 20, 1940. The action was taken on a statement from the railroads that they have electrified suburban trains and freight operations with Diesel electric engines and asking additional time to study the use of such equipment for hauling trains into the city.

The 1940 tax levy ordinance, calling upon the county clerk to spread levies totaling $73,913,778, was passed. The tax levies for the various city funds are: Corporate, $37,000,000; judgments, $1,250,000; bond and interest, $15,420,663; relief, $6,000,000; library, $2,000,000; library building, $194,800; municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, $3,000,000; police pensions, $3,252,000; fire department pensions, $2,950,000; municipal employés pensions, $2,126,711; municipal court pensions, $225,181; laborers' pensions, $456,275, and election commission pension fund, $37,530.

Ald. Arvey, finance committee chairman, said the total 1940 tax levy is $956,099 higher than last year's. The increase is caused by a $500,000 jump in the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium pegged levy passed by the state legislature and an increase in the bond redemption fund.

Approval was given Subway Commissioner Philip Harrington on a $624,466 contract with Paschen Brothers Construction company for subway stations at Grand and Chicago avenues on State street.

On the request of several north side aldermen the schools committee was directed to hold public hearings on the advisability of urging the board of education to erect a municipal college on the north side.

ENDS LIFE AFTER LONG ESTRANGED HUSBAND DIES

Mrs. Ella Hirschman, 50 years old, plunged to her death yesterday from a window of her eighth floor apartment in the Admiral hotel, 909 Foster avenue, two days after the death of her estranged husband. She left a note to her daughter, son, and son-in-law. It read:

"Dear Ella, Seymour, and Al: I'm sorry to have caused you so much worry. Be happy and forget me. I'm not blaming any one."

Mrs. Hirschman had been ill. Her husband, Samuel, was a wholesale liquor dealer and later an apron manufacturer. They had been separated a number of years. Mr. Hirschman lived at 5423 Hyde Park boulevard. He died Monday.

W. H. FAWCETT, PUBLISHER, DIES ON TRIP TO WEST

Known as Hunter and Trapshooter.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 7 [Special].—Wilfred Hamilton Fawcett, wealthy publisher of Capt. Billy's Whiz Bang and numerous other magazines, died in a hospital here today of a heart attack. He was 55 years old.

Wilfred H. Fawcett.

Fawcett, whose home was in Minneapolis, contracted a cold while on the way here from New York three weeks ago. He was ordered hospitalized by his physician, Dr. Alvin Kistler of Minneapolis, who came here to attend him.

Burial in Minneapolis.

Surviving him are his widow, Frances; a daughter, Marian, and four sons, W. H. Jr., Roscoe, Roger, and Gordon. The body will be taken to Minneapolis tomorrow for burial.

In addition to his prominence as a publisher Fawcett was widely known as a big game hunter, trapshooter, golfer, and amateur pilot. In 1924 he captained and managed the United States trap shooting team at the Olympic games in Paris.

His life was as robust as the humor of his magazines. As a youth he ran away from home to enter the Spanish-American war and serve three years in the Philippines. He returned to the army during the world war and emerged as a captain.

Once Operated Tavern.

He opened a tavern in Minneapolis following the world war, but soon abandoned that in favor of launching Whiz Bang, the comic booklet on which he founded his fortune.

Whiz Bang, published at Robbinsdale, a suburb of Minneapolis, was an almost instant success. It was followed by a growing list of periodicals that included movie, detective, love story, and technical publications. Five years ago he moved his publishing firm's headquarters to Greenwich, Conn.

He married three times. His divorce from his second wife, Mrs. Antoinette Fischer Fawcett, cost him a $60,000 settlement. The following year he married Mrs. Frances Robinson.

The Post began publication last Sept. 5. William Goldstein, attorney for William R. Skidmore, was one of the incorporators. William J. Campbell, United States attorney, recently announced he was investigating the paper despite Goldstein's denials that the Skidmore gambling interests were financial backers.

CHINESE OF CITY BEGIN JOYOUS NEW YEAR FETE

The traditional fireworks and parades were missing in Chicago's Chinatown last night as the city's Chinese celebrated their New Year's eve. Neither business nor civic associations arranged an organized celebration.

But mothers and fathers and uncles and aunts are not denying the children their customary New Year's day feasting and privileges today. Violet, Rose, and Ruby Chan, Mary Wong, Florence Chow and others of Mrs. Robert Goo's Girl Scout troop are to dine in their own or relative's homes on bird nest soup, lichi nuts and almond paste. They will receive gifts of money in red paper packets from their parents, for to be parsimonious on this holiday invites ill luck. The small boys and girls may be as naughty as they choose without fear of a spanking; no good will come of striking a child on New Year's day.

The Chinese troop of 44 Boy Scouts will parade this afternoon in Wentworth avenue behind Drum Major Ralph Chan and Majorette Lorraine Moy.

ASK NEW RADIO RELAY SYSTEM IN POLICE WORK

Members of the Association of Police Communications in the Chicago Area went on record last night as favoring two radio phone relays in police work instead of one relay as now permitted by the federal communications commission.

A two phone relay, it was explained, would improve the service of crime broadcasts. It would, for example, enable Waukegan to report a robbery by radio to Lake Forest for relay to Evanston instead of being confined to one radio relay to Lake Forest.

The plan of linking communities within a 150 mile radius of Chicago into a police radio network is now 50 per cent complete, according to Verne Watson, Oak Park radio engineer, new chairman. Watson was elected to succeed Fred H. Schnell of the Chicago police department.

The association, which includes Cook, Du Page, Kane, Lake, Will, and Kankakee counties and East Chicago, Ind., met in the park district administration building.

[ADVERTISMENT]

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR C. S. DENEEN; COURTS TO CLOSE

The Circuit and Superior courts will be closed this afternoon so that the judges may attend in a body the funeral of Charles S. Deneen, former governor of Illinois and former United States senator. Services will be held at 3 p. m. in the Englewood Methodist church, Stewart avenue and 64th street.

Tappan Gregory, president of the Chicago Bar association, appointed a delegation of 29 members to attend the funeral. Masonic rites will be conducted in the church and at the graveside in Oak Woods cemetery by Garden City lodge. Members of the lodge will be active pallbearers. Mr. Deneen, who was 76 years old, died Monday of a heart attack.

The city council yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution of sympathy to members of the family of Mr. Deneen. "I feel we have lost a great citizen," commented Mayor Kelly. "While I frequently differed with Mr. Deneen on questions of politics, we never differed on questions of civic betterment."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—A tribute to the memory of former Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, who died Monday, was delivered in the senate today by Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.]. Formally announcing the death of the former governor and senator, Mr. Lucas declared:

"He will best be remembered by the citizens of Illinois because of his high and noble character. Friend and foe respected him. The fact that he has been the real leader of the Republican party in Illinois for a period of 50 years is ample testimony of the strength of that character and the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow man. CHEAP TROPICAL STARCHES PERIL CORN INDUSTRY

Trade Pact Admits Coolie Products.

[This is the second in a series on the effect of the administration's reciprocal trade treaties on industries in the south and the central west.]

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

From the vast grain fields of the central west, long freight trains move corn to the great refining mills that center in and cluster about Illinois.

To these towering structures, covering hundreds of acres, there were sent in 1939 more than 78 million bushels of corn to pass thru elevators, cleaners and blowers, steeping tanks, degerminating and grinding mills, reels, shakers and drying kilns, finally to emerge as corn starch and by-products.

Big Coal Users, Too.

These processing plants of the central west employ more than 7,000 persons, drawing a minimum of 55 a day. These mills burn a pound of coal for every pound of starch they grind out, ready for the market.

But into this market, since negotiation of the Hull reciprocal trade treaty with the Netherlands in 1935, there has been pouring another white flood of starch—one that originates in the primitive plants on the jungle island of Java in the Dutch East Indies.

In 1939, approximately 380 million pounds of it came into this country, free of tariff duty, to compete with the American product and to put the American refinery worker into competition with Javanese coolies who are paid 25 cents a day.

In 1937, two years after the treaty was signed, the inflow reached an all time high of 466 million pounds. This was 40 per cent of the total domestic starch supply.

Loss Is Widespread.

And each 34 pound lot of tropical starch displaced one bushel of American corn, the loss to be borne primarily by the farmer who raises cash grain. But the loss didn't stop with him. According to figures compiled by the Corn Industries Research Foundation, the loss was passed along thru the economic structure until it totaled $12,470,000, or about twice the value of the 380 million pounds of tropical starch that came in duty free.

"To begin with," said John B. Newman, vice president of the foundation, "the corn displaced amounted to 11,200,000 bushels, with a farm value of $5,340,000. This figure is reached by averaging the grades and prices of cash corn for 1939, to obtain a price of 47.7 cents a bushel.

"The railroads are the next big losers. The revenue of which they are deprived can be figured as follows: freight on the corn grain equivalent of the starch imports, $1,120,000; revenue on cornstarch $570,000; freight on corn byproducts, $273,000; on corn oil, $84,000; on coal which would have been used to process the corn grain equivalent of the imported starch, $184,000, and on other fuel, chemicals, containers, and supplies, $1,019,000.

Calls Labor Big Loser.

"Another big loser is labor, but its total loss cannot be estimated accurately. Two large items that can be estimated, however, are $1,430,000 that would have been paid to the workers in the corn processing plants and $204,000 that would have gone to miners who would have dug the 184,000 tons of bituminous coal necessary to process 11,200,000 bushels of corn.

"We cannot say accurately how

Buck 8 Miles of Ice to Open Up Waterway

Shipping began to move again on the Illinois waterway yesterday when a Central Barge company towboat bucked its way thru eight miles of ice 10 inches thick between Ottawa and Marseilles. The boat, bringing a coal barge to the Commonwealth Edison company in Chicago, had been tied up at Ottawa since Jan. 15.

The company has had 45 barges tied up between Chicago and Havana because of the ice. At Havana empty barges have been locked by 15 inch ice for a month, unable to move a short distance downstream to the loading docks.

Blames Cut in Intake.

A. C. Ingersoll Sr., vice president and general manager of the company, blamed the shipping tieup on the lack of current in the river since the intake of water from Lake Michigan was cut from 5,000 to 1,500 cubic feet a second on Jan. 1, 1939.

With a fairly strong current, Ingersoll said, the ice would not form so quickly or so thickly. The reduction in the diversion of water from Lake Michigan was enforced by a United States Supreme court ruling.

Lynn Childs, manager of the company's Joliet branch, confirmed Ingersoll's statement. Childs said that the water forms stagnant pools which freeze quickly above the dams along the waterway.

Between Ottawa and Peoria, Childs said, the waterway is blocked from bank to bank with 15 inch ice for about 66 miles, leaving only a mile or so clear.

30 Days Cut Off, He Says.

When the ice halted shipping last month, Ingersoll stated that the shortage of water could cut as much as 30 days from the operating year of the barge lines. Boats of other lines have been inactive since about the first of the year.

"With stronger current in the waterway, we would probably have been able to operate right thru the winter without stopping," Childs said.

INDUSTRY FIRM AGAINST RULE BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—The membership of the United States Chamber of Commerce has voted, more than 60 to 1, to oppose any proposals for "control of industries by governmental agencies."

The chamber announced today the result of a mail poll in which the member organizations approved recommendations by a special committee on proposals concerning government and business.

The chamber said it had asked the members' views on the proposition affecting industries so that its "position against any more federal legislation uniting in a bureau or commission the functions of prosecutor, jury and judge might be very definitely and sharply in opposition."

FOREIGN MONEY FOR POWDER PLANT RULED LOAN, AND NOT INCOME

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 [Special].—The treasury department announced today that the Atlas Powder company of Wilmington, Del., will not have to pay taxes on a loan made to it by the British purchasing commission to construct plant extensions necessary to produce materials which the commission has ordered.

"The bureau of internal revenue," the department's statement said, "has held that the receipt by Atlas of money advanced to assist it in performing its contract will not constitute taxable income for the reason that such a transaction would be a loan evidenced by a note."

Treasury officials said they had no knowledge which they could reveal on how much money has been lent the powder company, whether interest is to be paid on the loan, or what arrangements, if any, have been made for repaying it.

If the repayment involves higher prices for the product, presumably explosives, than normally would be made, it was added, the company will naturally pay its normal corporation taxes on its profits at the time the profits are reported.

RECESS HEARINGS ON REPLACEMENT OF TAXES BY TVA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—The house military affairs committee today indefinitely recessed hearings on Tennessee Valley authority tax replacement after TVA Director David Lilienthal had indorsed the Norris-Sparkman bill.

Chairman May [D., Ky.] said he would reconvene the hearings to receive testimony from members of congress from TVA states.

The bill would authorize TVA to use a percentage of its power revenues to replace ad valorem taxes formerly collected by states and counties on generating and transmission properties acquired by the authority. Several county officials from Tennessee, testifying ahead of Lilienthal, said their counties had sustained tax losses by virtue of TVA's purchase of Tennessee Electric Power Co. properties.

Chicago Leads Meat Packing Centers by Wide Margin

Chicago continued to lead all other cities as the world's largest meat packing center in 1939, the Chicago Association of Commerce said yesterday. The 8,515,899 head of live stock slaughtered in Chicago last year compared with 8,579,824 in 1938. The total was three times that of St. Louis, the city next in importance in the meat packing industry.

'Reserve City' Designation Taken from Oakland, Cal.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—The federal reserve board announced today that the designation of "Reserve city" had been withdrawn from Oakland, Cal., effective Feb. 1. No reason was given.

GAS RATE PLEA TO BE TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

Rehearing on Boost Denied by State.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company will carry its request for a gas rate increase amounting to $3,000,000 a year to the United States Supreme court. This was announced yesterday by George A. Ranney, chairman, after the Illinois Supreme court had denied the company's petition for a rehearing of the case. It was the third time the state court had ruled against the company.

Ranney said the state Supreme court will be asked to stay its latest mandate until the federal Supreme court makes a decision, and to continue the present gas rates in effect. The money received will be impounded, as has been done the last two years since the increase was first made, Ranney said. If the United States Supreme court rules against the company or refuses to hear the case, more than $6,000,000 will be refunded to Chicago gas users.

Boost Effective in 1938.

The rate increase went into effect on Feb. 4, 1938. It raised the minimum domestic monthly bill from 60 to 90 cents and added 32 cents to all other domestic bills. The average household bill, without the raise, is $2.07 a month. The rate change affected Chicago consumers only.

The refund, if made, would exceed $7.50 for the average householder, depending on when the final decision comes.

The state Supreme court first ruled against the company last February, reversing a decision of the Circuit court. A rehearing was granted, but in December the Supreme court affirmed its previous decision. The court held that under the old rates, before the increase, the company had a net profit in excess of 5 per cent, and that such a return was not confiscatory.

Differ on Accounting.

The company contended that its actual return amounted to about 3.3 per cent and that its rate of return with the increase would be less than 6 per cent. In figuring the return, the company differed with the Supreme court on matters of valuation, depreciation, and operating expenses. Before the case was taken to the courts, the Illinois Commerce commission had ruled against the increase.

William W. Hart, chairman of the commission, and Harry R. Booth, commission counsel, said yesterday they were pleased with the decision of the court.

"In measuring the savings as a result of this litigation to the gas consumers of Chicago, it should be noted that they will have saved substantially more than approximately $6,000,000 now impounded in the banks," Hart said.

NEW YORK PORT ADVANCES DATE OF BIG FINANCING

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—The port of New York authority today stepped ahead a month its proposed offering of $33,000,000 general and refunding 3 per cent bonds, due 1976, and will put them on sale Feb. 15 because of "favorable market conditions."

Offerings of new securities recently have been small, and the authority, observing demand for new public issues is heavy in investment circles, decided to sell the 3s this month instead of on March 15.

Proceeds will be used to refund oustanding New York-New Jersey interstate tunnel bonds, series E, bearing 4¼ per cent interest coupons, thereby lowering interest costs on bonded debt.

Gen. Motors Reports Big Gain in Profit

L. G. Blessing reports second best fiscal year.

General Motors corporation yesterday announced in a preliminary report that its 1939 net profit was much larger than in 1938, and that its net income in the final 1939 quarter was the largest for any December quarter in the company's history.

Last year's profit was placed at $183,300,000, or $4.04 a common share, against $102,190,007, or $2.17 a share, in 1938. The December quarter's earnings amounted to $73,681,000, or $1.66 a share. In the corresponding 1938 quarter the company had a net profit of $63,802,300, or $1.44 a share.

Reports Second Best Year.

L. G. Blessing, president of the Bastian-Blessing company, says in his annual report, which will be mailed to stockholders tomorrow, that the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1939, was the second best in the history of the company. Net profit amounted to $567,466, or $3.07 a common share, against $307,843, or $1.57 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

The report shows that net profit before all taxes in 1929—10 years ago—was $795,462, against $805,585 last year. Taxes in 1929, however, amounted to only $106,137, compared with $238,118 last year, thus causing the company to earn a smaller net profit despite the larger income before taxes. The federal wage and hour law has increased the cost of operations, the report says.

Phone Group Has Gain.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, owning and operating the Bell system lines in nine southern states and serving a population of more than 20,000,000, reported net income for the year ended Dec. 31 was $12,225,953, against $10,180,317 in the preceding year.

George McNeir, chairman of the board of Mohawk Carpet Mills, Inc., reported the company's 1939 net income of $1,798,567 was the largest since 1930. In 1938 the company had a net loss of $1,485,901.

Union Bag & Paper corporation's 1939 net profit was $965,532, equal to 76 cents a share, Alexander Calder, president, announced. In 1938 net profit was $903,892, or 72 cents a

Sen. Capper Opposes Federal Control Over Oil Production

Senator Capper.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 [Special].—Opposition to legislation which would turn over control of oil production to the federal government was expressed in the senate today by Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], who asserted that oil conservation problems should be left to the states.

"There are certain matters which fall into the sphere of federal regulation," the senator said, "but the regulation of a private industry such as the production of petroleum does not, in my judgment, fall into this category."

Charge Invasion of State Rights.

While Capper spoke state officials from Arkansas, Pennsylvania, and Wyoming were opposing before a house subcommittee the Cole oil bill to set up machinery for federal oil production control. The state officials contended that state regulations have resulted in the elimination of avoidable waste, and that the Cole bill would constitute an invasion of state's rights.

Meanwhile, the nation's three largest oil industry groups announced they will fire a battery of 18 witnesses at the subcommittee in an attempt to prove that proper conservation methods are now being employed. A statement by the groups hinted that they consider the bill unconstitutional.

The three groups are the American Petroleum institute, the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and the Mid-Continent Ool and Gas association.

Sees Needless Duplication.

They termed the Cole bill an attempt to impose federal control on the entire industry thru a needless duplication of conservation measures.

Among today's witnesses was Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma, who told the subcommittee that any attempt by the federal government to control oil production would be unwarranted. He was the eighth governor to oppose the bill before the subcommittee.

He asserted it would be dangerous to subject the oil industry to "the arbitrary, dictatorial, political control of a central authority."

Illinois Production Increasing.

Oil men said that the statement of the Oil and Gas Journal in its review covering the week ended Feb. 3 indicated that Illinois has outstripped Louisiana as an oil producer and may be rivaling Oklahoma for third place in a year or more.

The following table compares the leading states' daily average output in the week ended Feb. 3, and their total production during 1939 [in barrels]:

State—	Daily avg. output week ended Feb. 3.	Total 1939 output.
Texas	1,238,487	485,339,998
California	597,250	224,328,365
Oklahoma	418,475	153,413,878
Illinois	373,300	91,797,241
Louisiana	271,622	94,229,472
Kansas	181,600	59,162,680

The trade publication stated that Illinois may now have a potential production of about 400,000 barrels daily. Actual output in the latest week for which figures are available was 370,300 barrels daily, against Oklahoma's 418,475 barrels.

CLOSED PIPE LINE TO BE REOPENED FOR ILLINOIS OIL

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 7 [Special].—Officials of the National Transit company, Oil City, Pa., announced today that they will shortly reopen a trunk pipeline system, closed since the spring of 1939, to carry Illinois crude oil.

The system formerly carried Texas crude oil westward, but ceased operation with the growth of Illinois oil production. It will be placed back in service pumping Illinois oil eastward.

The line will carry Illinois crude for the Sun Oil company, Twin Oaks, Pa., officials said. The oil will cross Ohio in the Buckeye line and be carried by the Northern system to the National Transit line at Colegrove, Pa.

WILLYS AUTO FACTORY SETS UP DEPARTMENTS TO MAKE MUNITIONS

Toledo, O., Feb. 7 (AP)—The framework of a department for manufacture of 75 millimeter shell casings is being set up in the Willys Overland Motors, Inc., plant here.

"We're not going into the munitions business unless we are called upon to do so by the government," President Joseph W. Frazer said today. "We were asked to get into shape for manufacture of casings so we could get into immediate production if the need should arise. We have a lot of automobiles to make, however, and we aim primarily to do a good job in that business."

STREAMLINERS PILE UP PROFITS FOR RAILROADS

Bolster Declining Passenger Business.

Streamlined trains have produced substantial additional revenues for the railroads operating them and have justified claims that they hold the answer to the railroads' problem of meeting the declining passenger business, Coverdale and Colpitts, consulting engineers, said yesterday in a report on streamlined trains.

The report discloses that the Burlington railroad's Denver Zephyrs, built by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, were the greatest money producers among the Diesel-electric powered speedsters in the year ended June 30, 1939—the latest 12 month period for which figures are available.

Twin Cities Run Profitable.

The report dicloses further that among the most profitable runs in the country is that between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis, all streamlined trains in this operation making substantial profits for their operators.

Gross revenues of the Denver Zephyrs for the year ended June 30, 1939, totaled $2,077,444, compared with $2,101,117 in the 12 months ended June 30, 1938. After expenses, including wages, fuel cost, dining car loss, and other items, the trains had a net profit of $1,530,155 for the 1939 period, compared with $1,543,544 for the preceding 12 months.

Earning Are Reported.

Earnings of the various streamliners in the profitable Chicago-Twin Cities service were as follows:

	12 mo. end. Jun.30,'38.	12 mo. end. Jun.30,'39.
Burlington, Twin Zephyrs, gross revenue	$1,211,806	$1,186,871
Net revenue	788,408	777,119
*Milwaukee, Afternoon Hiawathas, gross rev.	1,337,898	1,310,038
Net revenues	1,012,524	983,889
North Western "400" gross revenues	667,474	715,058
Net revenues	316,957	337,711

*Milwaukee began operation of Morning Hiawatha Jan. 21, 1939, which in 8 months 11 days to June 30, 1939, had gross revenues of $404,823 and net revenue of $259,470.

The report said that the record of the Santa Fe's El Capitans is indicative of the growth in popularity of the streamliners. The El Capitans are fast Chicago-Los Angeles sleeper-

BUY THIS LOW-PRICED STOCK

Our staff has just uncovered a low-priced equity whose chart pattern pictured here is one of the most favorable we have seen in a very long time. The chart covers the period from January, 1937, to January, 1940, inclusive. Observe the long down trend of this stock which occurred in 1937, the strong base and "cradle" which has been forming for about 2 years, and most important of all, the "catapult" emergence through a heretofore strong upside resistance shelf. We believe that this cradle base represented powerful and persistent accumulation and that the catapult indicates completion of it with a strong rise now in prospect. Perhaps profits even greater than those enjoyed by our clients in Loft, Canada Dry and Brunswick-Balke, recommended last Fall, will come from this uniquely situated, low-priced stock.

Chicago-Made Farm Implements Encircle Globe

EVERY agricultural nation on earth, from Siberia to the Argentine uses Chicago-made farm implements. Japan, China, Australia, South Africa, the Fiji Islands—wherever you find farms, you will find Chicago tractors, harvesters, plows or threshing machines at work. In the concentrated manufacture of agricultural implements and farm operating equipment, Chicago leads the world. The total value of farm implements made here yearly is well over $100,000,000. This essential industry has done its part to give Chicago its present position in the commercial world.

Chicago, the Wonder City—The commercial progress of Chicago is one of the marvels of the century. In common with other financial institutions, the growth of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank is largely dependent on the growth of Chicago. And the growth of Chicago rests on the faith and vision of its citizens. In a series of advertisements, of which this is the Eighth, we are trying to set forth a few of the achievements of this great city. Chicago will continue to contribute to the benefit of its citizens in proportion to their faith in its future

New York Stocks.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Stocks crept a bit higher today. The small boomlet of yesterday was repeated in miniature in early dealings, but the impetus loaned by overnight buying orders quickly disappeared. In the final minutes, a few buying flurries helped the averages. Only 491,280 shares were transferred.

Leading the list thruout the day were industrials and metals, with rails following sympathetically. One of the features of the session was the fact that every section of the board was represented in the small advance despite the extremely low volume of trading.

Steels advanced fractionally late in the day despite a report by the Iron Age magazine that the present rate of new orders warranted operating steel mills at only about 45 per cent of capacity, some 26 per cent below the present rate. Other sources said, however, that additional orders, based to some extent on the European war, had been sighted by one of the largest steel companies and that an increase in backlogs was to be expected.

One of the exceptional gains was made by Allied Chemical. It rose 3 points to close 175½. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit advanced 1⅛.

Among the larger gainers were Dow Chemical, Eastman, American Smelting, Phelps-Dodge, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Great Northern preferred, Continental Oil, Continental Can, General Motors, Sears-Roebuck, Douglas, Bethlehem, and Sperry.

Higher by as much as 3 points on the curb were Aluminum company, International Petroleum, and American Cyanamid B.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Baltimore and Ohio railroad issues staged a sharp rise in the bond market today as Wall street awaited word on what action the road's directors might take on contingent interest payments on the securities, payable in May.

The refunding 5s, refunding collateral 5s, and 5s of 2000 "D" with gains of 3½, 3 and 3½, respectively, all closed at 29½. The convertibles edged up ⅛ to 15⅞. But when the Baltimore and Ohio directors adjourned after the close of the New York Stock exchange it was announced contingent interest would be omitted on all the road's bonds in May. Directors said no net income was available for the sinking fund.

Corporate loans generally rode an even keel. Puerto Rican American Tobacco 6s moved upward sharply. The stamped bonds closed at 62⅛, up 3⅛, and the unstamped at 62⅝, up 3⅝.

United States government loans moved unevenly with final quotations 6-32ds of a point lower to 4-32ds higher. German 5½s of '65 and 7 of '49 advanced part of a point each to close at 8⅝ and 11⅜, respectively. Norway 6s at 93 and Rome 6½s at 55½ were also higher.

Chicago Stocks.

Seven issues of the 53 which moved higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday reached new 1940 highs, while 19 issues declined and 32 were unchanged. Sales were 26,000 shares.

HIGH COURT GETS PLEA ATTACKING NLRB STEEL RULE

Republic Fights Order to Reinstate Thousands.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—The Republic Steel corporation asked the Supreme court today to review an order by the National Labor Relations board requiring reinstatement of thousands of employés of the company's Ohio plants who walked out during the 1937 "Little Steel" strike.

Appealing from a third Circuit court decision, the company told the high tribunal that the labor board "had made up its mind" on every point of the complaint before the hearing.

Under an order of Oct. 18, 1938, the board required the company to reinstate 5,000 strikers, and held that Republic Steel was responsible for the strike because of "unfair labor practices."

Acts of Violence Cited.

The firm had contended that the strikers disqualified themselves for reinstatement because of acts of violence.

"The strike," the petition said, "was carried on with great violence on the part of the Steel Workers Organizing committee. The court may well take judicial notice of the notorious fact that the C. I. O. and its affiliate, S. W. O. C., initiated a drive to organize the steel industry in 1936 and called a strike against 'Little Steel' in the summer of 1937, because of the refusal of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, Inland Steel company, Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, and the petitioner, to sign written collective bargaining contracts with S. W. O. C."

Charge Order Is Punitive.

The board's order declared that the company must "cease and desist" from dominating or interfering with the formation of any labor organization of its employés at the Ohio plants involved, and from discouraging membership in the steel workers organizing committee and affiliated organizations.

"The inequitable and punitive character of this order," said the company's petition, "is emphasized by the fact that it is made applicable to certain plants which were not in existence at the time the strike occurred."

The effect of the order, the petition said, would be to give the employé, as a striker, "greater rights than he would have had as an employé, thus putting a premium on his participation in strikes."

ADMITS PLOTTING FRAUD TO SEIZE 6 CORPORATIONS

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—Frederick J. McDermott, former special deputy state insurance commissioner of New York, pleaded guilty in federal court today to an indictment charging him and four others with mail fraud and conspiracy.

The government charged them with a fantastic scheme to gain control of six corporations with assets of $60,000,000 thru use of more than $3,000,000 in fake bonds to defraud insurance companies, banks, and investment trusts.

On behalf of the defendant corporation, the Rinder Corporation of Jersey City, the alleged medium thru which the scheme was to work, McDermott pleaded not guilty.

According to the indictment the fake bonds were presented to banks for loans. William Power Maloney, assistant United States attorney, said that in one instance a bank virtually had agreed to advance $900,000 against what he called "the spurious securities which were issued to the value of $3,000,000."

FILE TAX LIENS FOR 2½ MILLION AGAINST HOPSON AND HIS KIN

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Howard Colwell Hopson, a dominant figure in the giant Associated Gas and Electric system, several of his relatives, and a number of his personally controled companies were named today in tax liens for $2,664,954.

Howard C. Hopson.

The liens were filed in federal court by James J. Hoey and Harold Hickey, internal revenue collectors of the 2d district of New York City and the Albany district. The Associated Gas and Electric company, top holding concern of the system, recently filed for bankruptcy.

Hopson himself has been reported seriously ill for the last several years. At the height of his power, Hopson's empire controled properties with assessed valuations of almost a billion dollars. He once testified before a senate committee that he and his family drew profits of $3,187,0000 from Associated Gas between 1929 and 1933.

BUILDING GAIN PROBABLE, SAYS PERCY WILSON

Unless the United States enters the European war or faces unfavorable political developments at home, the private building industry will have a substantial upturn this year, Percy Wilson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., told the Illinois Builders' league and the Illinois Lumber and Material Dealers association yesterday.

Addressing the groups at the Stevens hotel, Wilson predicted that the greatest activity will be in homes for the low income brackets. He said that 1940 construction should break last year's record, despite the fact that more small homes were built in 1939 than in any year since 1928.

Wilson asserted that modern zoning to meet current demand for housing in all American cities would both control and prevent blighted areas.

STOCK EXCHANGE REPORT ON COST STUDY DELAYED

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—The New York Stock exchange special committee seeking to find means of bolstering exchange and member revenue disclosed today that it has been doing an intricate cost-accounting job, and cannot make a report before the middle of March. This spiked persistent rumors of an immediate report.

The cost accounting survey seeks to learn how much it actually costs the average broker to execute the average order. The committee hopes to tie this in with commission scales.

Announce Development of Low Cost Stainless Steel

Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation officials yesterday announced the development of a new method of manufacturing stainless steel which, thru cost reductions, would render the metal available for a number of household articles. The new development is "Pluramelt" steel, made from the intermelting of two or more different metals. Hiland G. Batcheller, president, said the new process not only would permit manufacturers to use stainless steel in such homely articles as ash cans and stove pipes, but that there were excellent opportunities for its use in shear blades, dies, and cutting tools.

CHEAP TROPICAL STARCHES PERIL CORN INDUSTRIES

Trade Pact Lets In Flood of Coolie Products.

much would have gone to farm labor nor how much to extra railroad labor that might have been required to move 11,200,000 bushels of corn and the resultant corn products.

"The last two items on our list are $204,000 for elevator charges and $2,040,000 that would have been spent for chemicals, bags, containers, fuels other than coal, and general supplies."

Calls Nation Dumping Ground.

The United States, Newman said, is the only large nation that has not protected its starch industries by equalizing thru tariff or excise taxes the low cost of tapioca and sago production. This country now is the dumping ground for starches that would be barred or heavily taxed by other nations, he continued.

"To date," said Mr. Newman, "the state department will permit the corn belt to meet this tropical starch competition only on a price basis. But for this to be effective, corn as a raw material would have to decline below the present level of prices, which would be unsatisfactory to maintaining income and standard of living."

As a result of low tapioca and sago prices, a number of industries have begun using them in a larger measure, department of commerce records show. The textile industry, which uses 100 million pounds of starch annually to make kinky threads easier to handle, has increased its value of the tropical product from 16 per cent in 1936 to 27 per cent.

Use Imported Product.

The paper industry, which used 25 per cent tropical starch in 1933, was using 50 per cent in 1937. Manufacturers of dextrines and adhesives were using 39 per cent imported starches in 1933. This figure had risen to 50 per cent in 1937, the last year for which records are available.

Records are being compiled among makers of window shades, batteries, glue, carpet backing, dynamite, and many other articles to determine how great is the swing to cheap, imported starch.

Meanwhile, the foundation after a study of the records disclosed that one reason tapioca and sago starches can be kept on the free list so easily is that they are classified not as starch but as flour. Under the pure food and drugs act, flour is "a finely divided or powdered product containing proteids, fat, fiber, and ash constituents" from the edible portion of potatoes, rice, cassava and other commodities.

Classified as Flour.

Before 1915—during the Wilson administration—no product containing starch alone could be classified as flour. On Aug. 18 of that year, however, the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture issued a regulatory announcement, ruling that the term flour, when applied to tapioca and sago, had the same meaning as when applied to other products. This rule still is in effect.

The corn refining industry, supported by corn belt leaders, made a determined effort in 1938 to have the state department rescind its order. The petition was denied, but imports for that year dropped mysteriously. In 1939 however, they were on their way back up again.

[In tomorrow's issue will appear the first of two articles on the southern sugar industry and how it fares under the trade treaties.]

America Loses in Trade Pact

An illustration of how American agriculture, industry, and railroads have lost markets and revenue thru duty free imports of cheap tropical starches under terms of trade treaty with the Netherlands. It shows how farmers' corn crops were displaced, how railroads lost revenue in the process, the loss to the coal industry, and the extent of loss to the American economic structure.

UTILITY GROUP PLANS SPENDING OF 150 MILLIONS

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—Plans for the expenditure of $150,000,000 during the next ten years by the five principal electric and gas operating subsidiaries of the Niagara Hudson Power systems were disclosed today when these units filed a petition with the Public Service commission asking for permission to consolidate into one concern. The merger is a new step in the proposed simplification of the corporate structure of the system.

Petitioning companies were the Buffalo Niagara Electric corporation, New York Power & Light corporation, Niagara Lockport and Ontario Power company, and Lockport and Newfane Power and Water Supply company, and the Central New York Power coporation. Central New York Power corporation also asked that the new consolidated corporation be given the right to acquire the capital stock of the Niagara Falls Power company.

The petition says it will be "necessary for the operating companies to finance additions, extensions and improvements to the extent of $150,000,000 during the next ten years."

KANSAS CITY RAIL FIGHT FAILS TO GET COURT AID

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7 (AP). — The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed a lower court's ruling that 12 commission firms and the city of Kansas City, Mo., could not maintain a suit to enjoin construction by the Union Pacific railroad of tracks to the new Kansas City, Kas., food terminal.

The commission firms had sought to enjoin the railroad from extending its tracks to the Kansas City, Kas., market until it had obtained a certificate of convenience and necessity from the interstate commerce commission. The city of Kansas City, Mo., intervened in behalf of the plaintiffs.

The Kansas City, Mo., merchants said construction of the tracks to the $4,000,000 Kansas City, Kas., market would adversely affect their business, property, and investments, create "unnecessary and uncalled for rival markets," cause "destructive competition," and divert traffic being handled adequately by other railroads.

BILLION CREDIT MART PROPOSED TO BOOST TRADE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—Creation of a billion dollar international trade and credit market to stimulate trade with Latin America was proposed today by Representative Fish [R., N. Y.]. He said the primary purpose was to take some of the buried gold out of the ground in Kentucky and "put it to work for the American people."

Representative Fish.

His bill would authorize the President to appoint a commission of five members to set up the trade and credit market with a capital of $1,000,000,000, against which gold certificates would be issued for use in trade among member nations. The secretary of the treasury would be empowered to turn over to the market in gold bullion 45 per cent of its initial capital stock.

United States Would Control.

The trade and credit market would be drganized in coöperation with Latin American nations, with all powers for use of the gold bullion, on which the international currency would be issued, remaining solely under the control of the United States. The gold would not be exported.

Meanwhile a committee representing American republics approved a draft of statutes for the proposed $100,000,000 inter-American bank and voted to ask their governments to sign a convention establishing it.

Powers of Bank.

The bank would be empowered to make loans, buy and sell governmental obligations, metals, and currencies, guarantee government loans and issue securities.

Fish said that United States gold holdings exceeded $17,000,000,000, "which is far more than necessary for any conceivable use as national credit," and that "if we continue to monopolize and hoard the gold supply of the world it may cease to have international value."

UNITED AIR LINES ASKS APPROVAL OF CHANGE IN DEPRECIATION RATE

The United Air Lines Transport corporation has asked the Civil Aeronautics authority to approve a revision in depreciation rate on its 21-passenger Douglas DC3 transports and aircraft engines, W. A. Patterson, president, announced yesterday.

Under the plan depreciation on the planes would be extended from a four to a five-year basis and the depreciation period on the engines from 4,000 to 6,000 hours. Patterson estimated that the revision would reduce the charge against 1940 income by approximately $163,736.

Altho the proposed change, which would become effective as of Jan. 1, 1940, would have no bearing on the company's 1939 profit, he said, there would be an upward adjustment of approximately $573,000 in the air line's earned surplus thru transfers from the depreciation reserve.

"Our experience indicates," Patterson said, "that the equipment affected has a longer useful life than was estimated when the depreciation was originally established. The new depreciation rate is in line with that followed by other companies."

Business Bits

F. Patrick O'Toole, formerly with the United Air Lines New York office, has been transferred to the Chicago district office to take charge of the advertising sales department. He succeeds A. C. Fitzpatrick, who has been named manager of the agency department. Fitzpatrick, in turn, succeeds R. E. Peterson, who will head the newly organized department of conventions.

The Chicago Health and Accident association will hold its fifth annual sales meeting at the Morrison hotel, Feb. 13. Raymond K. Lake of W. A. Alexander & Co. and Armand Sommer of the Continental Casualty company are scheduled to speak.

The investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers announced that Ben J. Cahill has joined its Chicago office at 231 South La Salle street. Cahill began his investment career in 1928 as an employé of the Chicago Stock exchange.

Walter I. Bregman of the Price Iron and Steel company, 122 South Michigan avenue, has been appointed a member of the finance committee of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Inc.

B & O CONTINGENT INTEREST TO BE OMITTED MAY 1

Income Goes to Capital and Working Funds.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—The board of directors of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad today decided not to pay contingent interest May 1 on any of the carrier's bonds or obligations on, which all or part of the interest is contingent.

The meeting was the first held since the road's reorganization plan received tacit approval last month by the United States Supreme court, which refused to review the proceedings of a federal statutory court at Baltimore which had approved the plan Nov. 8.

The reorganization plan, brought under the Chandler act, runs for eight years. Under it, security holders agree to annual interest reduction from about 30 million dollars to about 19 millions.

Board Sets Aside Funds.

The directors were required under the plan to determine available net income for 1939, which they found to be $9,751,000 [subject to small adjustments]. The board was given discretion to determine what parts of this money could be applied to reimburse the company for capital investments, not exceeding 2½ per cent of total railway operating revenues, or $4,025,000. Accordingly the board set aside 2 million dollars in a capital fund, which was less, they reported, than capital investment during 1939.

The directors further determined, as they deemed they had the power to under the plan, to transfer as "expedient and in the best interest of the company and its security holders" the remainder of the available net income, or $7,751,000, to increase the company's net working capital.

No Contingent Interest.

Consequently none was diverted to contingent interest or to the sinking fund.

Transfer of that sum to working capital account leaves the company's current assets $6,970,000 in excess of current liabilities.

The transfer, it was implied, would help remedy the situation caused in 1938, when the company failed to earn its full interest by $13,124,000, notwithstanding which the company paid in 1938 approximately 11 million dollars of interest unearned, thus depleting working capital.

ELECTRIC GOODS EXPORTS UP.

After lagging behind 1938 shipments for the first 10 months of the year, United States exports of electrical equipment rose sharply in November and December to total $13,027,726 for the year. This represented a 1.3 per cent increase over the previous year.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—5.

With gross income determined, the first step in preparing your individual income tax return is completed. The return for 1939 must be in the hands of the collector of internal revenue for your district by March 15.

The next operation is to subtract from gross income contributions, interest paid, losses from fire, storm, or theft, bad debts, and other deductions permitted by law. The result of this subtraction from total income is your net income for tax purposes.

Business Expenses.

Before making the deductions, the taxpayer should observe that losses arising from the conduct of his trade, business, or profession for profit should not be listed among deductions, but as a negative item under gross income. [Any profit or loss from such business or profession should be listed under item 9 of the individual tax return.]

Deductions for ordinary and necessary business expenses should be listed on schedule D accompanying the tax return. Double deduction of the same item is not allowed. Thus, if an expense is deducted in schedule D, it must not be subtracted again elsewhere in the return.

Among the expenses of a professional man which may be deducted from his total receipts are the cost of supplies, office rent, light, heat, telephone, assistants, operation and repair of automobile used on calls, membership in professional associations, professional literature, magazines for waiting room, depreciation on equipment, and property insurance.

Business expenses include outlay for maintenance and operation, such as wages, cost of materials, rent, light, heat, power, telephone, property insurance, freight and trucking, repairs, selling cost, and advertising.

Repairs are deductible only if they do not add to the value of the property or prolong its life. If the repairs actually are replacements they become capital expenditures, which cannot be deducted.

Depreciation.

The costs of machinery, equipment, or buildings are not expense items but capital investments. Depreciation of the property thru wear or obsolescence may be subtracted as an expense during the period of its usefulness. The total of depreciation allowances for each year together with the salvage value at the end of the property's life should equal its original cost.

Unusual or nonessential expenses are not allowed. Also, if an enterprise is operated for pleasure or as a hobby [noncommercial] any excess of expenses over receipts is considered personal expenses, which are not deductible.

Gambling losses can be used to offset gambling gains, but if losses exceed gains during the year the net gambling loss cannot be deducted from gross income.

[Next Sunday's article will list some of the items which are deducted from gross income in order to determine net income.]

INSURANCE FIRM REPORTS RECORD ASSETS IN 1939

Northwestern Mutual Life Policies Set Peak.

Total admitted assets of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, reached a new all time high of $1,292,422,815 at the end of 1939, the company reported yesterday. The amount of insurance in force was $3,911,212,531, the largestsince 1932. The number of policies in force, 1,054,638, set a record.

M. J. Cleary.

M. J. Cleary, president of the 82 year old company, reported to policyholders that total income last year was $211,532,161, exceeding total disbursements by $60,904,117. In 1938 total income was $210,786,341, exceeding total disbursements by $60,143,074.

Cleary attributed the rise in general business last year principally to purchasing "to satisfy some of our accumulated needs."

Surplus Is Increased.

The company's surplus at the end of 1939 was $57,186,342, against $53,288,857 at the end of 1938. Cleary said that $32,400,000 has been set aside for dividends to policy holders in 1940, maintaining the 1939 dividend scale.

During the year the company reduced its holdings of United States government bonds by $17,491,594 to $123,813,752. The latter figure represented 9.58 per cent of total assets on Dec. 31, 1939. The total value of the company's bond portfolio was placed at $715,936,384, or 55.39 per cent of total assets.

Investments in mortgage loans comprised 23.48 per cent of total assets, and real estate holdings were 4.19 per cent of total assets.

Payments 108 Millions.

Payments to policy holders and beneficiaries during 1939 aggregated $108,100,078, of which amount $31,848,592 represented dividends.

A noticeable upward trend in the volume of new insurance applied for occurred in September, and continued to the end of the year, Cleary said. New life policies sold during the year totaled $195,179,748, down 16.6 per cent from 1938. Cleary attributed the decline to the record business done in December, 1938, due to changes in policy contracts which took effect Jan. 1, 1939.

Cleary said that the decrease in interest earnings "continues to be the principal cause for the lower dividends paid in recent years [lower than in the late 1920s] and the resulting increase in the net cost of insurance.

The average net rate earned by the company on bonds and mortgage loans in 1939 was 4-100 of 1 per cent lower than in 1938, he said.

The Millers National Insurance company reported a 9.4 per cent gain in premiums paid last year. The total was $3,607,890. Total assets at the end of the year were $7,014,075, up 4.9 per cent from the year before.

Chevrolet,Ford,Oldsmobile Report Gains in Car Sales

January retail sales of new Chevrolets totaled 73,328 units, an increase of 21,326 over January, 1939, the company reported yesterday. Used car sales were 118,272, approximately 3,800 more than those of January, 1939. Oldsmobile reported its January sales of month ago. Sales of Ford cars and trucks and Mercury cars reached 65,435 last month, an increase of 14,580 over the comparable month of 1939, the Ford Motor company reported.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The market supply of hogs showed another big decrease yesterday, but the decline failed to lift prices of either pork or hogs. Little change was recorded in the general level of prices for either. Both the top and average prices remained unchanged, at $5.55 and $5.05, respectively, only slightly above the lowest levels in six years.

Weakness persisted in the cattle trade again. A few steers and yearlings were steady, but the bulk ruled weak to lower. The lamb trade was slow and in line with the preceding day's lowest prices.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]
